Heidegger, Strauss, and the Premises of Philosophy Richard L. Velkley,2024-05-31 In this groundbreaking work Richard L Velkley examines the complex philosophical relationship between Martin Heidegger and Leo Strauss Velkley argues that both thinkers provide searching analyses of the philosophical tradition s origins in radical questioning For Heidegger and Strauss the recovery of the original premises of philosophy cannot be separated from rethinking the very possibility of genuine philosophizing Common views of the influence of Heidegger s thought on Strauss suggest that after being inspired early on by Heidegger s dismantling of the philosophical tradition Strauss took a wholly separate path spurning modernity and pursuing instead a renewal of Socratic political philosophy Velkley rejects this reading and maintains that Strauss's engagement with the challenges posed by Heidegger as well as by modern philosophy in general formed a crucial and enduring framework for his lifelong philosophical project. More than an intellectual biography or a mere charting of influence, Heidegger, Strauss, and the Premises of Philosophy is a profound consideration of these two philosophers' reflections on the roots, meaning, and fate of Western rationalism. Fables and Futures George Estreich, 2025-05-27

How new biomedical technologies from prenatal testing to gene editing techniques require us to imagine who counts as human and what it means to belong. From next generation prenatal tests to virtual children to the genome editing tool CRISPR-Cas9, new biotechnologies grant us unprecedented power to predict and shape future people. That power implies a question about belonging: which people, which variations will we welcome? How will we square new biotech advances with the real but fragile gains for people with disabilities, especially when their voices are all but absent from the conversation? This book explores that conversation, the troubled territory where biotechnology and disability meet. In it, George Estreich, an award-winning poet and memoirist and the father of a young woman with Down syndrome, delves into popular representations of cutting-edge biotech: websites advertising next-generation prenatal tests, feature articles on three-parent IVF, a scientist's memoir of constructing a semisynthetic cell, and more. As Estreich shows, each new application of biotechnology is accompanied by a persuasive story, one that minimizes downsides and promises enormous benefits. In this story, people with disabilities are both invisible and essential: a key promise of new technologies is that disability will be repaired or prevented. In chapters that blend personal narrative and scholarship, Estreich restores disability to our narratives of technology. He also considers broader themes: the place of people with disabilities in a world built for the able, the echoes of eugenic history in the genomic present, and the equation of intellect and human value. Examining the stories we tell ourselves, the fables already creating our futures, Estreich argues that given biotech that can select and shape who we are, we need to imagine as broadly as possible what it means to belong.

Posthumanism in Young Adult Fiction Anita Tarr, Donna R. White, 2018-04-27

Contributions by Torsten Caeners, Phoebe Chen, Mathieu Donner, Shannon Hervey, Angela S. Insenga, Patricia Kennon, Maryna Matlock, Ferne Merrylees, Lars Schmeink, Anita Tarr, Tony M. Vinci, and Donna R. White. For centuries, humanism has provided a paradigm for what it means to be human: a rational, unique, unified, universal, autonomous being. Recently, however, a new philosophical approach, posthumanism, has questioned these assumptions, asserting that being human is not a fixed state but one always dynamic and evolving. Restrictive boundaries are no longer in play, and we do not define who we are by delineating what we are not: animal, machine, monster. There is no one aspect that makes a being human: self-awareness, emotion, artistic expression, or problem-solving, since human characteristics reside in other species along with shared DNA.

Instead posthumanism looks at the ways our bodies intelligence and behavior connect and interact with the environment technology and other species In Posthumanism in Young Adult Fiction Finding Humanity in a Posthuman World editors Anita Tarr and Donna R White collect twelve essays that explore this new discipline s relevance in young adult literature Adolescents often tangle with many issues raised by posthumanist theory such as body issues The in betweenness of adolescence makes stories for young adults ripe for posthumanist study Contributors to the volume explore ideas of posthumanism including democratization of power body enhancements hybridity multiplicity plurality and the environment by analyzing recent works for young adults including award winners like Paolo Bacigalupi s Ship Breaker and Nancy Farmer s The House of the Scorpion as well as the works of Octavia Butler and China Mi ville
