New Medical Technologies And Society Reordering Life:

New Medical Technologies and Society Nik Brown, Andrew Webster, 2004-07-23 New medical technologies are increasingly at the centre of novel transformations in the human and social body Whilst reproduction health ageing and dying have long been areas for technical intervention the emergence of molecular biology and information technology raise far reaching political social and subjective questions New Medical Technologies and Society provides a critical introduction to the role and cultural significance of technological innovation in redefining the boundaries of medicine and the body tracing this process through the figure of the lifecourse Drawing on approaches from sociology and Science and Technology Studies the authors explore key issues theories and debates at the junctures of bodies and medicine In a style that is both innovative and challenging Nik Brown and Andrew Webster open up an important examination of new medical technologies not only for those directly engaged but for a wider audience interested in the ways in which contemporary technologies can be interrogated through core sociological inquiry They argue that whilst many technologies emerge from and extend long standing frameworks of medical treatment genuinely novel and radical challenges to our interpretations of embodiment are emerging The book will be essential reading for both students and scholars of the sociology of science and technology medical sociology social theory genetics and informatics

Medical Technologies and the Life World Sonia Olin Lauritzen, Lars-Christer Hyden, 2007-01-24 Although the use of new health technologies in healthcare and medicine is generally seen as beneficial there has been little analysis of the impact of such technologies on people's lives and understandings of health and illness This ground breaking book explores how new technologies not only provide hope for cure and well being but also introduce new ethical dilemmas and raise questions about the natural body Focusing on the ways new health technologies intervene into our lives and affect our ideas about normalcy the body and identity Medical Technologies and the Life World explores how new health technologies are understood by lay people and patients how the outcomes of these technologies are communicated in various clinical settings how these technologies can alter our notions of health and illness and create new illness Written by authors with differing backgrounds in phenomenology social psychology social anthropology communication studies and the nursing sciences this sensational text is essential reading for students and academics of medical sociology health and allied studies and anyone with an interest in new health technologies

Human Genes and Neoliberal Governance Antoinette Rouvroy, 2007-12-13 Original and interdisciplinary this is the first book to explore the relationship between a neoliberal mode of governance and the so called genetic revolution Looking at the knowledge power relations in the post genomic era and addressing the pressing issues of genetic privacy and discrimination in the context of neoliberal governance this book demonstrates and explains the mechanisms of mutual production between biotechnology and cultural political economic and legal frameworks In the first part Antoinette Rouvroy explores the social political and economic conditions and consequences of this new perceptual regime In the second she pursues her analysis through a consideration of the impact of geneticization on political support of the welfare state and on the operation of private health and life insurances Genetics and neoliberalism she argues are complicit in fostering the belief that social and economic patterns have a fixed nature beyond the reach of democratic deliberation whilst the characteristics of individuals are unusually plastic and within the scope of individual choice and responsibility This book will be of interest to all students of law sociology and politics

Discourse in Context: Contemporary Applied Linguistics Volume 3 John Flowerdew, 2014-02-25 Featuring internationally renowned academics this volume provides a snapshot of the field of applied linguistics and illustrates how linguistics is engaging with the idea of context The book treats discourse as language in the contexts of its use in and above the level of the sentence and as systems of knowledge and beliefs In using the term context s the book understands this as different situations in which discourse is produced and on the other how analysts construe context in their work The volume is thus concerned with language in its context of use little d discourse but at the same time more specifically in individual chapters with particular discourses as they are manifested in particular contexts big D discourses Well known discourse analysts contribute chapters focussing on different contexts with which they are familiar viz business education ethnicity and race gender and sexuality history intercultural contexts lingua franca contexts media place politics race and the virtual world It brings together researchers from different approaches but all with a commitment to the study of language in context The contributors themselves represent different approaches to discourse analysis conversation analysis corpus linguistics critical discourse analysis ethnographic discourse analysis mediated discourse analysis multimodal discourse analysis systemic functional linguistics Readers are invited to compare and contrast these different contexts and approaches

Pedagogy, Image Practices, and Contested Corporealities Sarah Brophy, Janice Hladki, 2016-02-05 This volume focuses on popular film television and online representations of contested corporealities and contributes to visual culture studies disability studies critical pedagogy and medical humanities Emphasizing unruly embodiments that transgress and transform the volume conceptualizes visual culture as a space of query and accountability In their introduction the editors underline how spaces of cultural production provide necessary contexts for analyzing the social impact of contested corporealities Contributors in turn offer new perspectives on technologies disability and cultural production Eunjung Kim argues that life size dolls in contemporary art films show how acts of caring for radically passive bodies can emerge as both erotic and beautiful Nicole Markoti critiques the prioritizing of death as the most desirable logical outcome in biopics of disability and Katherine W Sweaney s article on the online anatomization of an amnesiac s brain reminds us of the high stakes for medicine and science in the public display of knowledge making Working at the intersection of fat and critical race studies Scott Stoneman discusses the body politics of the film Precious Katerie Gladdys and Deshae E Lott reflect on their lyrical installation about life with mechanical ventilation and Ann Fudge Schormans and Adrienne Chambon examine how image making by persons with intellectual disabilities can intervene in ableist defined social space With attention to queer theory and transnationalism Michael Gill considers the British web based RTV program The Specials where young men labeled as intellectually disabled fashion their erotic self understandings as they discuss and appreciate an ensemble of Thai kathoey performers Concentrating on the global politics of organ transplantation Donna McCormack critically examines feature films that mediate questions of community ethics and mobility The volume is further enriched by the inclusion of an interview in which Danielle Peers Melisa Brittain and Robert McRuer discuss the significance of crip possibilities in art and academia This book was originally published as a special issue of The Review of Education Pedagogy and Cultural Studies

Bio-Objects Niki Vermeulen, Sakari Tamminen, Andrew Webster, 2016-04-15 Increasing knowledge of the biological is fundamentally transforming what life itself means and where its boundaries lie New developments in the biosciences especially through the molecularisation of life are re shaping healthcare and other aspects of our society This cutting edge volume studies contemporary bio objects or the categories materialities and processes that are central to the configuring of life today as they emerge stabilize and circulate through society Examining a variety of bio objects in contexts beyond the laboratory Bio Objects Life in the 21st Century explores new ways of thinking about how novel bio objects enter contemporary life analysing the manner in which among others the boundaries between human and animal organic and non organic and being alive and the suspension of living are questioned destabilised and in some cases re established Thematically organised around questions of changing boundaries the governance and regulation of bio objects and changing social economic and political relations this book presents rich new case studies from Europe that will be of interest to scholars of science and technology studies social theory sociology and law Immunitary Life Nik Brown, 2018-09-29 This book explores the growing intellectual interest in the politics of immunity It argues that taking an immunitary perspective is necessary if we are to better appreciate the body as a site of politics in the contemporary age It explores the dynamic tensions between community and immunity belonging and fragmentation the social and the individual It creates a dialogue between the social sciences humanities and biopolitical philosophy around immunity Immunitary Life empirically situates immunitary politics in real world debates This includes blood donation and evolving notions of embodied intimacy in the worlds of transplantation It examines changing ideas about infectivity bugs and the emergence of resistance in antibiotics The politics of vaccination offers a classic context for thinking about the ever changing relationships between the communal and the individual Immunitary Life is essential reading for contemporary scholarship in the sociology of the body and the political philosophy of biomedicine Resilient Cyborgs Nelly Oudshoorn, 2020-04-02 This book examines how pacemakers and defibrillators participate in transforming life and death in high tech societies In both popular and medical accounts these internal devices are often portrayed as almost magical technologies Once implanted in bodies they do not require any user agency In this unique and timely book Nelly Oudshoorn argues that any discourse or policy assuming a passive role for people living with these implants silences the fact that keeping cyborg bodies alive involves their active engagement

Pacemakers and defibrillators not only act as potentially life saving technologies but simultaneously transform the fragility of bodies by introducing new vulnerabilities Oudshoorn offers a fascinating examination of what it takes to become a resilient cyborg and in the process develops a valuable new sociology of creating resilient cyborgs

The Sociology of Health and Illness Sarah Nettleton, 2006-07-04 This reader brings together recent writing on health illness and health care in contemporary society It emphasizes the empirical nature of medical sociology and its relationship with the development of sociological theory

The New Sociology of the Health Service Jonathan Gabe, Michael Calnan, 2009-03-09 Health service policy and health policy have changed considerably over the past fifteen years and there is a pressing need for an up to date sociological analysis of health policy Not only have policies themselves changed but new policy themes such as evidence based policy and practice an increasing focus on a primary care led health service a growing recognition of the need to address inequalities through public health policies and a focus on the views and the voice of the user and the public have emerged alongside some of the old Following up the very successful The Sociology of the Health Service this all new volume covers a broad range of key contemporary health services issues It includes chapters on consumerism technology evidence based practice public health managerialism and social care among others and incorporates references to new developments such as regulation and incentivization throughout The New Sociology of the Health Service provides a vital new sociological framework for analyzing health policy and healthcare It is an important read for all students and researchers of medical sociology and health policy

Contested Categories Ayo Wahlberg, 2016-05-13 Drawing on social science perspectives Contested Categories presents a series of empirical studies that engage with the often shifting and day to day realities of life sciences categories In doing so it shows how such categories remain contested and dynamic and that the boundaries they create are subject to negotiation as well as re configuration and re stabilization processes Organized around the themes of biological substances and objects personhood and the genomic body and the creation and dispersion of knowledge each of the volume s chapters reveals the elusive nature of fixity with regard to life science categories With contributions from an international team of scholars this book will be essential reading for anyone interested in the social legal policy and ethical implications of science and technology and the life sciences

Trusting on the Edge Brown, Patrick, Calnan, Michael, 2012-04-18 Trust is fundamental to everyday interactions and the functioning of society How trust develops or fails to develop within contexts of severe mental illness is a pertinent topic for social scientists and healthcare professionals not simply because it is an under researched area but because heightened uncertainty and amplified vulnerability amidst psychosis represent a crucible of the conditions where trust becomes relevant Grounded in research within this crucible this book explores a number of questions which are central to contemporary theoretical debates around the nature of trust The authors link these abstract concerns to empirical analysis involving interviews with service users practitioners and managers This book will appeal to anyone interested in the concept of trust including social science researchers and students as well as practitioners managers and policy makers working with vulnerable people

Interdisciplinary Research on Healthcare and Social Service Sheying Chen, Leidong Wei, 2024-09-24 Research on healthcare and social service including professional social work is inherently an international subject Each nation has a story of coping with the recent pandemic in the context of its political economy and cultural historical settings A study of various especially non Western cases is essential to an adequate understanding of the undertaking China is undoubtedly an important case with one of the largest populations on earth It s unique in view of so called Chinese characteristics style model sometimes fundamentally different from Western societies Any lessons learned from the Chinese experiences would help with a better understanding of healthcare and social welfare provisions on a global scale The book is written by a scholarly team who are experts in healthcare social work and related fields Its primary audiences are scholars and students in Health Mental Health Social Work Welfare Services Public Social Policy Philanthropy and Nonprofit Organizations International Cross Cultural Studies and Chinese China research

Inspiring a Medico-Legal Revolution Pamela R. Ferguson, Graeme T. Laurie, 2016-03-09 This book marks the retirement of Professor Sheila McLean whose contribution to the discipline of medical law has been truly ground breaking As one of the pioneers of the discipline Sheila McLean inspired a revolution in the ways in which lawyers doctors courts and patients perceive the relationship between medicine and the law The first International Bar Association Professor of Law and Ethics in Medicine she has worked tirelessly to champion the importance of law s role in regulating medicine and protecting patients rights The span in content of this book reflects the range of contributions that Professor McLean has herself made Her work gave direction and shape to a new field of study at a time when few questioned the authority of medicine or thought much about the plight of the patient This collection brings together 21 leading scholars in healthcare law and ethics to honour the depth and significance of her contribution Including authors from the US Australia Canada and New Zealand the contributions cover areas as diverse as start and end of life reproductive rights and termination of pregnancy autonomy of patients the protection of vulnerable patient groups and the challenges posed by new technologies

Visceral Prostheses Margrit Shildrick, 2022-03-24 In the postmodern era when the interface of bodies biologies and technologies increasingly challenges the very notion of what counts as human this open access book proposes new understandings of the limits and possible extensions of posthuman embodiment Focusing on prostheses Margrit Shildrick broadens our understanding of both what prostheses are and what they might mean for human embodiment As well as rehabilitation devices used by disabled people to replace or augment impaired parts of the body Shildrick introduces visceral organic prostheses which involve any cellular material that cannot be identified with the self from organ transplantation to the physiological processes of microchimerism and the microbiome Beyond origin narratives that concentrate on host and guest and self and other she examines the transformative possibilities that prostheses offer as they extend the nature of the embodied self beyond genetic singularity Building on cutting edge interdisciplinary research in critical disability studies transplantation studies and bioscience Visceral Prostheses argues that bodies with prostheses in whatever form should no longer be understood as irregular forms of normative embodiment but as limit cases of a common experience In doing so it challenges the western understanding of the singular self and welcomes a new understanding of the human The ebook editions of this book are available open access under a CC BY NC ND 4 0 licence on bloomsburycollections com Understanding baby loss Kate Reed,Julie Ellis,Elspeth Whitby,2023-11-21 This book offers a detailed and sensitive account of how parents experience different forms of baby loss and subsequently make decisions about post mortem examination It also analyses some of the challenges professionals face when working in this highly sensitive field of medicine It draws on data from an ESRC award winning UK based study on the development of minimally invasive post mortem to examine a range of sociologically pertinent issues relating to trauma emotions decisions care technology memory and the role of social and biological relationships By shedding light on this taboo aspect of healthcare the book provides a highly original contribution to sociology offering a comprehensive analysis of some of the most pressing concerns in the field to date

Challenging Medicine David Kelleher,Jonathan Gabe,Gareth Williams,2013-05-13 This highly topical and controversial book presents a lively re appraisal of the current changes to the health service and analyzes their effects on the status and practice of health professionals Modern medicine is a powerful institution With the help of highly developed drugs and surgical techniques it promises to relieve suffering improve the quality of life and extend the life span Conversely it is expensive for the governments insurance companies and individuals who pay for it and sometimes appears to be insensitive to the needs of those for whom it provides And while recent restructuring of healthcare delivery services has provided medical practitioners with new challenges there has been very little consideration of the range of pressures that they now face Edited and written by experienced medical sociologists this book draws together analysis of a number of diverse challenges to medicine and provides original debate on the challenges posed from within medicine from nurses and managers and alternative practitioners and from outside by self help groups the women s movement and the media

Technology and Medical Practice Boel Berner,2016-04-01 The advanced technologies being used in diagnosis and care within modern medicine whilst supporting and making medical practices possible may also conflict with established traditions of medicine and care What happens to the patient in a technologized medical environment How are doctors nurses and medical scientists practices changed when artefacts are involved How is knowledge negotiated or relations of power reconfigured Technology and Medical Practice addresses these developments and dilemmas focusing on various practices with technologies within hospitals and sociotechnical systems of care Combining science and technology studies with medical sociology the history of medicine and feminist approaches to science this book presents analyses of artefacts in use across a variety of settings within the UK USA and Europe and will appeal to sociologists anthropologists and scholars of science and technology alike Nanotechnology, Risk and Communication A. Anderson,A. Petersen,C. Wilkinson,S. Allan,2009-02-17

Drawing together insights from media studies sociology and science and technology studies this book is one of the first major studies of media coverage policy debates and public perceptions of nanotechnologies and makes a fascinating and timely contribution to debates about the public communication of science      The Reform of Health Care H. Dickinson,R. Mannion,2011-12-07 This book examines how healthcare organisations shape adapt and resist developments in healthcare policy and practice This is an international text bringing together contributions from around the globe and covers a wide range of different discussions in relation to the policy practice gap
