Modernization and the Crisis of Development in Africa Jeremiah I. Dibia, 2017-11-28 In this book Jeremiah I Dibia challenges prevailing notions of Africa s development crisis by drawing attention to the role of modernization as a way of understanding the nature and dynamics of the crisis and how to overcome the problem of underdevelopment He specifically focuses on Nigeria and its development trajectory since it exemplifies the crisis of underdevelopment in the continent He explores various theoretical and empirical issues involved in understanding the crisis including state class gender and culture often neglected in analysis from an interdisciplinary radical political economy perspective This is the first book to adopt such an approach and to develop a new framework for analyzing Nigeria s and Africa s development crisis It will influence the debate on the development dilemma of African and Third World societies and will be of interest to scholars and students of race and ethnicity modern African history class analysis gender studies and development studies Agricultural Transformation in a Global History Perspective Ellen Hillbom, Patrick Svensson, 2013-03-05 History teaches us that agricultural growth and development is necessary for achieving overall better living conditions in all societies Although this process may seem homogenous when looked at from the outside it is full of diversity within This book captures this diversity by presenting eleven independent case studies ranging over time and space By comparing outcomes attempts are made to draw general conclusion and lessons about the agricultural transformation process Critical Perspectives on Agrarian Transition B. B. Mohanty, 2016-01-29 This book evaluates the relevance of classical debates on agrarian transition and extends the horizon of contemporary debates in the Indian context linking national trends with regional experiences It identifies new dynamics in agrarian political economy and presents a comprehensive account of diverse aspects of capitalist transition both at theoretical and empirical levels The essays discuss several neglected domains in agricultural economics such as discursive dimensions of agrarian relations and limitations of stereotypical binaries between capital and non capital rural and urban sectors agriculture and industry and accumulation and subsistence With contributions from major scholars in the field this volume will be useful to scholars and researchers of agriculture economics political economy sociology rural development and development studies Agrarian Change and Urbanization in Southern India Seema Purushothaman, Sheetal Patil, 2019-08-28 This book takes readers on a journey through the evolution of agricultural communities in southern India from their historical roots to the recent global neo liberal era It offers insights into a unique combination of themes with a particular focus on agrarian change and urbanisation specifically in the state of Karnataka where both aspects are significant and co exist Based on case studies from Karnataka in South India the book presents a regional yet integrated multi disciplinary framework for analysing the persistence resilience and future of small farmer units In doing so it charts possible futures for small farm holdings and identifies means of integrating their progress and sustainability alongside that of the rest of the economy Further it provides arguments for the relevance of small holdings in connection with sustainable livelihoods and welfare at the grass roots while also catering to the welfare needs of society at the macro level The book makes a valuable contribution to the scholarship of agrarian as well as peri urban transdisciplinary literature For agrarian academics students and the teaching community the book s broad and topical coverage make it a valuable resource For development practitioners and for those working on issues related to urbanisation urban peripheries and the rural urban interface this book offers a new perspective that considers the primary sector on par with the secondary and tertiary It also offers an insightful guide for policymakers and non government organisations working in this area The Rice Economy of Asia Randolph Barker, Robert W. Herdt, Beth Rose, 1985 The purpose of this book is to present a comprehensive picture of the role of rice in the food and agricultural sectors of Asian nations Soziale Ästhetik, Atmosphäre, Medialität Philipp Zehmisch, Ursula Münster, Jens Zickgraf, Claudia Lang, 2018 Regions, Institutions, and

Agrarian Change in European History Rosemary Lynn Hopcroft, 1999 An institutional approach to agricultural development in Europe leading to the Rise of the West

The Changing American Countryside Emery N. Castle, 1995 The literature on rural America to the extent that it exists has largely been written by urban based scholars perpetuating out of date notions and stereotypes or by those who see little difference between rural and agricultural concerns As a result the real rural America remains much misunderstood neglected or ignored by scholars and policymakers alike In response Emery Castle offers The Changing American Countryside a volume that will forever change how we look at this important subject Castle brings together the writings of eminent scholars from several disciplines and varying backgrounds to take a fresh and comprehensive look at the forgotten hinterlands These authors examine the role of non metropolitan people and places in the economic life of our nation and cover such diverse issues as poverty industry the environment education family social problems ethnicity race religion gender government public policy and regional diversity The authors are especially effective in demonstrating why rural America is so much more than just agriculture It is in fact highly diverse complex and interdependent with urban America and the international market place Most major rural problems they contend simply cannot be effectively addressed in isolation from their urban and international connections To do so is misguided and even hazardous when one fourth of our population and ninety seven per cent of our land area is rural Together these writings not only provide a new and more realistic view of rural life and public policy but also suggest how the field of rural studies can greatly enrich our understanding of national life

The Food Question Henry Bernstein, Maureen Mackintosh, Charlotte Martin, 2014-04-08 Wasteful over consumption by some in the developed countries and the continuing in some cases worsening hunger of millions in the Third World is a dramatic indication that food problems are urgent Anger is not enough and this book which comes from the research group on Development Policy and Practice in the Open University DPP aims to provide some of the analytical tools needed for serious action Case studies to show ways in which food aid has been used by donor countries for political ends descriptions of the relationships between markets and human needs articles on the problems associated with the feminization of poverty pieces on patterns and trends of food production analysis of land reform an evaluation of the effects of biotechnology are all part of this rich and lively collection of articles written specially for this book

An Economic Assessment of Banana Genetic Improvement and Innovation in the Lake Victoria Region of Uganda and Tanzania Melinda Smale, W. Tushemereirwe, 2007 This report assesses the impact on smallholder farmers of technology options developed by Uganda's National Agricultural Research Organization NARO to improve the productivity of the East African highland banana a major crop in Uganda and Tanzania The contributors survey an array of options either currently practiced or under development including improved soil fertility management practices conventional banana improvement and transgenic banana cultivars Their survey produces a number of findings with important implications for banana production a recently developed banana hybrid adopted in Tanzania reduced the vulnerability of Tanzanian households to yield losses from pests and disease a strong network of social ties among farmers facilitates the spread of best soil fertility management practices through farmer to farmer exchange and transgenic bananas currently being developed could have poor impact Drawing on simulations of the economic benefits of these and other technology options the contributors conclude that the current strategy endorsed by NARO of combining conventional and transgenic approaches to mitigate the biotic pressures that cause major economic losses is essential for sustaining banana production systems The report serves as a valuable baseline for researchers and others interested in measuring the effectiveness of crop improvement programs

Sociology and Social Anthropology in India Yogesh Atal,2009 The Indian Council of Social Science Research the premier organization for social science research in India conducts periodic surveys in the major disciplines of the social sciences to assess disciplinary developments as well as to identify gaps in research in these disciplines

Agricultural Development and Rural Labour Harbans Singh Sidhu,1991 Agrarian Change and Crisis in Europe, 1200-1500 Harilaos Kitsikopoulos,2012-03-15 Agrarian Change and Crisis in Europe 1200 1500 addresses one of the classic subjects on economic history the process of aggregate economic growth and the crisis that engulfed the European continent during the late Middle Ages This was not an ordinary crisis During the period 1200 1500 Europe witnessed endemic episodes of famine and a wave of plague epidemics that amounted to one of its worst health crises rivaled only by the Justinian plague in the sixth century These challenges called into question the production of goods and services and the distribution of wealth opening the possibility of fundamental systemic change This book offers an empirical synthesis on a host of economic demographic and technological developments which characterized the period 1200 1500 It covers virtually the entire continent and places equal emphasis both on providing a solid factual framework and comparing and contrasting various theoretical interpretations The broad geographical and conceptual scope of the book renders it indispensable not only for undergraduate students who take courses relating to the economic and social life of the Middle Ages but also to more advanced scholars who often specialize in only one country or region

The Dynamics of Agricultural Change David Grigg,2019-08-06 First published in 1982 Until the nineteenth century the history of agriculture was the history of mankind but it has not perhaps received the wide attention that this importance justifies In this study the author reviews for the student of agricultural history successive attempts to describe and explain agricultural changes that are not specific to a limited area or a particular time In a sense The Dynamics of Agricultural Change is a systematic historical geography of agriculture Some of the models the author explores have been developed within agricultural history some drawn from other disciplines can be applied fruitfully to it What is the relationship between population growth and agricultural development Between environmental changes and those in agriculture What was the effect of the industrial revolution And has there been an agricultural revolution This book suggests to university students of economic history historical geography and agriculture a number of stimulating ways of interpreting and reinterpreting agricultural history
