Sam Taylor-Wood Sam Taylor-Johnson, 2006 Sam Taylor-Wood Sam Taylor-Wood, Sam Taylor-Wood: Jesus is coming Sam Taylor-Johnson, Baltic Centre for Contemporary Art, 2006 Sam Taylor-Wood Sam Taylor-Wood, Sam Taylor-Johnson, Baltic Centre for Contemporary Art, 2006 One of the leading artists of her generation Sam Taylor Johnson is acclaimed for her compelling psychological portraits in photography film and video Her work is distinguished by an ironic and subversive use of these media to create enigmatic situations replete with latent but explosive energy Compulsively examining and dissecting the contemporary psyche and the place of the individual within the social group she displays the vulnerability and fragility of the human body and self This publication has been conceived as two books to combine both the traditional elements of a museum catalogue and the vibrant possibilities of an artist's book Many of the now familiar images of the artist's most iconic works are reproduced alongside previously unpublished images from her own archives including personal reportage and documentary images The artist has asked musicians and writers who have inspired her work to contribute text to accompany images of works from the last ten years Sam Taylor-Wood.. Sam Taylor-Wood, Kim Sweet, Showroom (Gallery), 1994 Sam Taylor-Wood Sam Taylor-Wood, Rachel Kent, 2006 Slow Art Arden Reed, 2017-06-27 Introduction marking time What is slow art when images swell into events and events condense into images Living pictures Before slow art Slow art emerges in modernity I secularization from Diderot to Wilde Slow art emerges in modernity II the great age of speed Slow fiction film video performance 1960 to 2010 Slow photography painting installation art sculpture 1960 to 2010 Angel and devil of slow art Women Artists at the Millennium Carol Armstrong, Catherine De Zegher, 2011-02-25 Artists art historians and critics look at the legacies of feminism and critical theory in the work of women artists more than thirty years after the beginning of the modern women's movement and Linda Nochlin's landmark essay Why Have There Been No Great Women Artists More than thirty years after the birth of the modern women's movement and the beginnings of feminist art making and art history the time is ripe to examine the legacies of those revolutions In Women Artists at the Millennium artists art historians and critics examine the differences that feminist art practice and critical theory have made in late twentieth century art and the discourses surrounding it In 1971 when Linda Nochlin published her essay Why Have There Been No Great Women Artists in a special issue of Art News there were no women's studies no feminist theory no such thing as feminist art criticism there was instead a focus on the mythic figure of the great male artist through history Since then the woman artist has not simply been assimilated into the canon of greatness but has expanded art making into a multiplicity of practices with new parameters and perspectives In Women Artists at the Millennium artists including Martha Rosler and Yvonne Rainer reflect upon their own varied practices and art historians discuss the innovative work of such figures as Louise Bourgeois Lygia Clark Mona Hatoum and Carrie Mae Weems And Linda Nochlin considers changes since her landmark essay and looks to the future writing We will need all our wit and courage to make sure that

The Art of Strip Photography Maarten Vanvolsem,2011 Maarten Vanvolsem explains how the strip technique can tell a different story of time and space in photographic images a story that leads to new expressions and experiences of time and movement Portrayal and the Search for Identity Marcia Pointon,2013-02-15 We are surrounded with portraits from the cipher like portrait of a president on a bank note to security pass photos from images of politicians in the media to Facebook from galleries exhibiting Titian or Leonardo to contemporary art deploying the self image as with Jeff Koons or Cindy Sherman In antiquity portraiture was of major importance in the exercise of power Today it remains not only a part of everyday life but also a crucial way for artists to define themselves in relation to their environment and their contemporaries In Portrayal and the Search for Identity Marcia Pointon investigates how we view and understand portraiture as a genre and how portraits function as artworks within social and political networks Likeness is never a straightforward matter as we rarely have the subject of a portrait as a point of comparison Featuring familiar canonical works and little known portraits Portrayal seeks to unsettle notions of portraiture as an art of convention a reassuring reflection of social realities Pointon invites readers to consider how identity is produced pictorially and where likeness is registered apart from in a face In exploring these issues she addresses wide ranging problems such as the construction of masculinity in dress representations of slaves and self portraiture in relation to mortality Rewind, Play, Fast Forward Henry Keazor, Thorsten Wübbena, 2015-07-15 Due to shifts in the contexts of the production and presentation of the music video more and more people start to talk about a possible end of this genre At the same time disciplines such as visual film and media studies art and music history begin to realize that despite the fact that the music video obviously has come of age they still lack a well defined and matching methodical approach for analyzing and discussing videoclips For the first time this volume brings together different disciplines as well as journalists museum curators and gallery owners in order to take a discussion of the past and present of the music video as an opportunity to reflect upon suited methodological approaches to this genre and to allow a glimpse into its future Art, Money, Parties Jonathan Harris, 2004-01-01 From the phenomenally successful new Tate Modern to the Dia Beacon and Liverpool Biennial contemporary visual art seems more than ever enmeshed in prominent public institutions and new forms of patronage whether public commissions or corporate sponsorships In Art Money Parties renowned figures from the art world including artists dealers and gallery owners join scholars to consider these new institutional faces of contemporary art their influence on art and artists and how they affect the future of art The essays in this collection which originated at a conference organized by Tate Liverpool and the University of Liverpool offer frequently contentious positions on the role of new institutions and patronage in the world of contemporary art For example while Liverpool Biennial director Lewis Biggs delivers a fairly optimistic assessment of the state of contemporary art scholar Paul Usherwood unleashes a scathing critique of recent public art commissions From opposing perspectives gallery owner Sadie Coles reviews the history of her own involvement in the art world during the 1990s and artist Stewart Home offers a sharply contrasting view of the value of the art produced in that decade Rather than an attempt to craft a consensus though Art Money Parties is instead an effort to map out the position of and possibilities for contemporary art in a period of growing public sponsorship and attention The vibrant growing interest in contemporary art evidenced by the success of the institutions under consideration makes Art Money Parties a timely and indispensable contribution to any debate on the present and future of art History Painting Reassessed David Green, Peter Seddon, 2000 Seeing Out Loud Jerry Saltz, 2003 Literary Nonfiction Art In SEEING OUT LOUD Saltz critically engages with notable works of art by over 100 notable artists ranging from Picasso Matisse and Warhol to Matthew Barney Gerhard Richter and Chris Ofili These reviews appeared in the Village Voice between November 1998 and winter 2003 Jerry Saltz is the best informed and hair trigger liveliest of contemporary art critics tracking pleasure and jump starting intelligence on the fly Jerry s fast takes usually stand up better in retrospect than other people s long views Peter Schjedahl Jerry Saltz looks at art from the perspective of the viewer the ignorant the lover and the enemy His writing is overwhelmingly passionate yet without sentimentality His words pierce the content and beauty of each work of art to test its endurance in time and memory Francesco Bonami Curator 2003 Venice
