This book identifies water as a crucial new topic of literary and cultural analysis at a critical moment for the world's water resources focusing on the urgent context of Israel Palestine It argues for the necessity of recognising water's vital importance in understanding contemporary Israeli and Palestinian literature showing that water is as culturally significant as that much more obvious object of nationalist attention the land In doing so it offers new insights into Israeli and Palestinian literature and politics and into the role of culture in an age of environmental crisis Hydrofictions shows that how we imagine water is inseparable from how we manage it This book is urgent and necessary reading for students and scholars in Middle East Studies postcolonial ecocriticism the environmental humanities and anyone invested in the future of the world's water An Earth-colored Sea Miguel Vale de Almeida, 2004-03-01 Although the post colonial situation has attracted considerable interest over recent years one important colonial power Portugal has not been given any attention This book is the first to explore notions of ethnicity race culture and nation in the context of the debate on colonialism and postcolonialism. The structure of the book reflects a trajectory of research starting with a case study in Trinidad followed by another one in Brazil and ending with yet another one in Portugal The three case studies written in the ethnographic genre are intertwined with essays of a more theoretical nature. The nonmonographic composite or hybrid nature of this work may be in itself an indication of the need for transnational and historically grounded research when dealing with issues of representations of identity that were constructed during colonial times and that are today reconfigured in the ideological struggles over cultural meanings Special Publications ,1951
