McKenzie, 1968 The Anchor Bible Commentary is the collaborative effort of Protestant Catholic and Jewish scholars from around the world      Fair Spoken and Persuading Richard J. Clifford, 1984 Within the last two hundred years critical scholarship has come to recognize that Chapters 40-55 of the Book of Isaiah are the work not of the eighth century Isaiah of Jerusalem but of an anonymous sixth century disciple standing in the Isaiah tradition This Second Isaiah spoke to a community who had once lived in Judah and Jerusalem but now a half century later were settled in Babylon Critical scholarship discovered Second Isaiah through its scientific methods The successive fads and fashions of that scholarship source criticism then form criticism have onesidedly determined interpretation Fair Spoken and Persuading criticizes previous approaches that took the book to be a series of fragments outbursts of a great lyrical poet It argues instead that Isaiah 40-55 is a collection of substantial speeches that reinterpret national traditions to answer a sixth century question how could the exiles be Israel outside of the sacred land The prophet's answer by making a fresh Exodus and Conquest The Judahites would become Israel through their brave and trustful journeying to Zion Second Isaiah's name for Jerusalem Second Isaiah is therefore not just a poet but an orator His program of action one becomes Israel through action is still relevant today for both Jews and Christians who seek authenticity through their actions Richard J Clifford is Professor of Old Testament at Weston Jesuit School of Theology where he also previously served as the school's Dean He holds degrees from Boston College Weston College and Harvard University     The Dictionary Of The Bible John L. North, 1964     Women's Bible Commentary Carol Ann Newsom, Sharon H. Ringe, 1998-01-01 In the critically acclaimed best seller Women's Bible Commentary an outstanding group of women scholars introduced and summarized each book of the Bible and commented on those sections of each book that have particular relevance to women focusing on female characters symbols life situations such as marriage and family the legal status of women and religious principles that affect relationships of women and men Now this expanded edition provides similar insights on the Apocrypha presenting a significant view of the lives and religious experiences of women as well as attitudes toward women in the Second Temple period This expanded edition sets a new standard for women's and biblical studies     The Second Isaiah Christopher R. North, 1972     Conversations with Scripture Stephen L. Cook, 2008-09 The God of Second Isaiah the Holy One of Israel is increasingly     Isaiah 40-66 Shalom M. Paul, 2012-05 This volume presents Shalom Paul's comprehensive study of the oracles of the anonymous prophet known as Second Isaiah In his commentary Paul offers thorough exegesis of the historical linguistic literary and theological aspects of Isaiah 40-66     The Book of the Prophet Isaiah, Chapters 40-66 A. S. Herbert, 1975-10-16 Chapters 40-66 of the Book of the Prophet Isaiah addressed to the Jews in exile in Babylon belong to a period from about 547 BC when Babylonian power was weakening before the might of King Cyrus of Persia Isaiah not only saw this as the will of God but asserted that God was directing events in order that Yahweh's people might be released from exile The lyrical exhortatory quality of the earlier chapters in particular resulted from his conviction that it was his task to prepare the exiles for their new role and to restore their faith and confidence The first volume of Professor Herbert's commentary on Isaiah dealing with chapters 1-39 was published in 1973 In this second volume Professor Herbert again introduces the text with a discussion of its nature form and composition and historical setting The N E B translation of the text then follows alternating with sections of commentary in the style now established for this series      Isaiah 40-55 Joseph Blenkinsopp,2002-04 Scholars have traditionally isolated three distinct sections of what is known as the Book of Isaiah and in Isaiah 40 55 distinguished biblical scholar Joseph Blenkinsopp provides a new translation and critical commentary on the section usually referred to as Second or Deutero Isaiah The second volume in a three volume commentary it easily maintains the high standards of academic excellence established by Isaiah1 39 Second Isaiah was written in the sixth century b c e in the years just before the fall of the mighty Babylonian Empire by an anonymous prophet whom history has erroneously identified with the real Isaiah born ca 765 b c e Scholars know Second Isaiah was written by someone other than Isaiah because the contexts of these prophecies are so very different When Second Isaiah was written the prophet believed that Israel s time of suffering was drawing to a close There was he insisted a new age upon them a time of hope peace and renewed national prosperity The main thrust of the prophet s argument was intended to rally the spirits of a people devastated by war and conquest One of the most famous examples of this optimistic tone is the well known and beloved Song of the Suffering Servant which is found in Chapters 52 53 and about which Blenkinsopp has some challenging new ideas The final chapters of Second Isaiah however are in an entirely different key as it becomes clear that the new world the prophet foresaw earlier was not going to come to pass This despair finds its most poignant expression in the final section of the Book of Isaiah which Blenkinsopp will address in his forthcoming third volume      Studies on the Second Part of the Book of Isaiah Harry Meyer Orlinsky,1977
