

"I have shown I ~~can describe how my work contributes to~~consider organisational objectives when making performing work and making decisions while I was employed at ABC Corporation as a customer service manager. I showed this when I was responsible for developing a new customer service unit to manage online shopping customers. ABC Corporation had invested heavily in its online presence, but it was new to the business; they're brand and mission of "Customers first, every day, every time, any way" however was well established. When I commenced my work developing the new team I ensured ~~this~~the organisational objectives, particularly it's mission, was consistent across recruitment, training material, project plans and it was communicated to staff every opportunity so it was deeply embedded in the culture"
