Pamela S. Hammons,2016-12-05 An important contribution to recent critical discussions about gender sexuality and material culture in Renaissance England this study analyzes female and male authored lyrics to illuminate how gender and sexuality inflected sixteenth and seventeenth century poets conceptualization of relations among people and things human and non human subjects and objects Pamela S Hammons examines lyrics from both manuscript and print collections including the verse of authors ranging from Robert Herrick John Donne and Ben Jonson to Margaret Cavendish Lucy Hutchinson and Aemilia Lanyer and situates them in relation to legal theories autobiographies biographies plays and epics Her approach fills a crucial gap in the conversation which has focused upon drama and male authored works by foregrounding the significance of the lyric and women s writing Hammons exposes the poetic strategies sixteenth and seventeenth century English women used to assert themselves as subjects of property and economic agents in relation to material items ranging from personal property to real estate despite the dominant patriarchal ideology insisting they were ideally temporary passive vehicles for men s wealth The study details how women imagined their multiple complex interactions with the material world the author shows that how a woman poet represents herself in relation to material objects is a flexible fiction she can mobilize for diverse purposes Because this book analyzes men s and women s poems together it isolates important gendered differences in how the poets envision human subjects use control possession and ownership of things and the influences effects and power of things over humans It also adds to the increasing evidence for the pervasiveness of patriarchal anxieties associated with female economic agency in a culture in which women were often treated as objects The Catholic Christian
