With fantastic opportunities arising for business and economics, this book provides a comprehensive overview of the space sector, exploring recent initiatives and the most important areas of investment in the industry, including emerging fields of activities such as asteroid mining and space tourism. It also addresses traditional and non-traditional security issues in the sector, together with discussing their legal implications. The New Space Christopher Long, 2016-11-22 Scholars have long stressed the problem of ornament and expression when considering Viennese modernism. By the first decade of the 20th century, however, the avant-garde had shifted its focus from the surface to the interior. Adolf Loos (1870-1933), together with Josef Frank (1885-1967) and Oskar Strnad (1879-1935), led this generation of architects to interpret modernism through culture and lifestyle. They were interested in the experience of architectural space, how it could be navigated, inhabited, and designed to reflect the modern way of life, while also offering respite from it. The New Space traces the theoretical conversation about space carried out in the writings and built works of Loos, Frank, and Strnad over four decades. The three ultimately explored what Le Corbusier would later independently term the architectural promenade. Lavishly illustrated with new photography and architectural plans, this important book enhances our understanding of the development of modernism and of architectural theory and practice.

Space Law Marietta Benkö, Kai-Uwe Schögl, Denise Digrell, Esther Jolley, 2005. The contributions in this book reflect on the growing diversification of space law and is divided in two parts. The first part provides a look at the current developments in international space law and regulation, and the second part investigates future perspectives of this process. It is only recently that international space law entered its third phase of development. While the first phase, between the 1960s and 1970s, was characterized by the elaboration of international conventions in the framework of the United Nations, the second phase saw the adoption of special legal regimes in the form of UN General Assembly Resolutions which were dealing with issues like direct broadcasting by satellites, DBS, remote sensing, RS, and the use of nuclear power sources, NPS, in outer space. The third and current phase received its impetus from the growing commercialization of space activities and their emerging privatization. Therefore, the main characteristics of this period relate to the efforts of adapting international space law to these recent changes and of finding ways and means to reconcile State interests with commercial perspectives. This book forms a welcome addition to any collection in the field of space law and is a refreshing contribution to the discussion in the field.

This Palgrave Pivot investigates the efforts of five aerospace companies: SpaceX, Blue Origin, Virgin Galactic, Orbital Sciences, and the Boeing Company, to launch their entry into the field of commercial space transportation. commercial jetliner teach us about the prospects of commercial space flight As Howard E McCurdy shows commercializing space is a great experiment the outcome of which will depend on whether new space entrepreneurs can attract support from a variety of traditional and nontraditional sources A Research Agenda for Space Policy Schrogl, Kai-Uwe, Giannopapa, Christina, Antoni, Ntorina, 2021-12-02 Space policy is now a top priority in international relations This timely Research Agenda takes the definition of space policy itself as an object of analysis rather than as an unquestioned premise It presents the multi faceted spectrum of elements combined within space policy which are crucially relevant to security welfare and modern society Expert international contributors set out a forward looking research agenda for the 2020s identifying key problems and conflicts related to the topic and exploring policy regulatory approaches and diplomatic mechanisms to reach possible solutions Architecture, Space and Memory of Resurrection in Northern Ireland Mohamed Gamal Abdelmonem, Gehan Selim, 2019-04-25 Northern Ireland has a complex urbanism with multilayered socio spatial politics In this environment issues of communication self representation and expression of identity are central to the experience of urban space and architecture where the dichotomy of division and shared living are spatially exercised in everyday life Unlike other studies in the area this book focuses on the everyday experiences of local communities in both public and private spheres issues of shareness challenging conventional approaches to divided cities The book aims to layer its narratives of architectural and social developments as an urban experience in post conflict settings over the past two decades
