From New Public Management to New Political Governance Herman Bakvis, Mark D. Jarvis, 2012-06-26 With the direct participation of partisan political staff in governance the onset of permanent election campaigns heavily dependent on negative advertising and the expectation that the public service will not only merely implement but enthusiastically support the agenda of the elected government we are experiencing a new form of political governance The late Peter Aucoin 1943 2011 has argued that traditional norms of impartial loyalty have been displaced by partisanship on the part of civil servants and that the political executive is keen on directly controlling all aspects of communication and interaction between government and citizens The arrival of New Political Governance has a direct bearing on the long standing tension between the need of ensuring democratic control over bureaucracy while also allowing the public service sufficient flexibility to exercise discretion judgment and professional expertise when implementing and managing programs Through a series of essays using Aucoin's New Political Governance framework leading scholars in the field address the manner in which this tension and its conflicts have played out over the past decade in different domains Contributors examine themes including accountability democracy public management and reform the paradoxes of electoral democracy and the dilemmas of democratic governance Contributors include Mark Jarvis University of Victoria Herman Bakvis University of Victoria B Guy Peters University of Pittsburgh Donald Savoie Universit de Moncton Allan Tupper University of British Columbia Lori Turnbull Dalhousie David E Smith University of Saskatchewan C E S Franks Queen's R Kenneth Carty University of British Columbia Lisa Young University of Calgary Jennifer Smith Dalhousie Gerald Baier University of British Columbia Fred Fletcher York University Andr Blais Universit de Montr al Evert Lindquist University of Victoria Ken Rasmussen University of Regina Jonathan Boston Victoria University John Halligan University of Canberra Grace Skogstad University of Toronto Jenn Wallner University of
