Chinese Drugs of Plant Origin Weici Tang, Gerhard Eisenbrand, 2013-06-29 Traditional Chinese medicine has been used for thousands of years by a large population. It is currently still serving many of the health needs of the Chinese people and still enjoying their confidence. It is practised in China in parallel with modern Western medical treatment. In addition to scientific organisations dedicated to modern Western medicine e.g. the Chinese Academy of Medical Sciences and various medical schools, a series of parallel institutions have been established in China to promote traditional Chinese medicine such as the Academy of Traditional Chinese Medicine and training institutions. Almost all hospitals in China have a department of traditional medicine. Furthermore, a large number of scientific journals are dedicated to traditional Chinese medicine covering both experimental and clinical investigations. Medicinal materials constitute a key topic in the treatment of disease according to traditional Chinese medicine. The Chinese Pharmacopoeia 1985 edition is therefore divided into two separate volumes. Volume I containing traditional Chinese medicinal materials and preparations and Volume II containing pharmaceuticals of Western medicine. The oldest Chinese review of medicinal materials, Shennong Bencao Jing 100-200 A.D. covered 365 herbal drugs. The classic compilation in this field, Bencao Gangmu Compendium of Materia Medica was published in 1578 by Li Shi zhen and recorded as many as 1898 crude drugs of plant, animal and mineral origin. Terrorist Queen Gary

Sutton, 2007-08-21 The Carpetbaggers of Kabul and Other American-Afghan Entanglements Jennifer L. Fluri, Rachel Lehr, 2017 The 2001 invasion of Afghanistan by United States and coalition forces was followed by a flood of aid and development dollars and experts representing well over two thousand organizations each with separate policy initiatives, geopolitical agendas and socioeconomic interests. This book examines the everyday actions of people associated with this international effort with a special emphasis on small players, individuals and groups who charted alternative paths outside the existing networks of aid and development. This focus highlights the complexities, complications and contradictions at the intersection of the everyday and the geopolitical, showing how dominant geopolitical narratives influence daily life in places like Afghanistan and what happens when the goals of aid workers or the needs of aid recipients do not fit the narrative. Specifically, this book examines the use of gender, need and grief as drivers for both common and exceptional responses to geopolitical interventions. Throughout this work, Jennifer L. Fluri and Rachel Lehr describe intimate encounters at a microscale to complicate and dispute the ways in which Afghans and their country have been imagined, described, fetishized, politicized, vilified and rescued. The authors identify the ways in which Afghan men and women have been narrowly categorized as perpetrators and victims respectively. They discuss several projects to show how gender and grief became forms of currency that were exchanged for different social, economic and political opportunities. Such entanglements suggest the power and influence of the United States while illustrating the ways in which individuals and groups have attempted to chart alternative avenues of interaction, intervention and interpretation. Handbook of 200 Medicinal Plants Shahid
