New Stories From The South The Years Best 199:

Conversations with Ellen Douglas Panthea Reid, 2000 So when I went down to ask my aunts if it would be all right to publish A Family's Affairs they said it was okay so long as they didn't have to read it and if I would use a pen name This collection of interviews from three decades features one of the South's most prominent contemporary writers one of America's most dazzling practitioners of postmodern fiction From the early sixties when she published the award winning A Family's Affairs to the late nineties and the publication of Truth Four Stories I Am Finally Old Enough to Tell Ellen Douglas has written novels short stories essays and a book of fairy tales These conversations with Douglas reveal her earthy frankness and her disdain for portentous declaration In them just as in her fiction she expresses her love of people language and stories her constant moral values her inclusive compassion her deeply felt obligations to others and her keen sense of humor She explains that comedy is as serious as tragedy it's just funnier Because she is an excellent candid conversationalist her light touch with portentous matters makes these interviews both dead serious and very funny The first is with Hodding Carter III who in 1971 was a young journalist and family friend from Greenville Mississippi the town where Douglas was living and rearing three sons Carter is among her early interviewers who explore the mystique of the southern writer and the southern climate for literature Douglas's string of new novels took her work forward into civil rights women's roles and questions about the institutions of family and marriage The conversations illuminate this shift from southern tradition to concern over contemporary issues Arranged chronologically the interviews testify to the growth of Douglas's narrative sensibility and to the profound use of allusions in her work As she discusses A Family's Affairs Black Cloud White Cloud Where the Dreams Cross Apostles of Light The Rock Cried Out A Lifetime Burning The Magic Carpet and Other Tales Can't Quit You Baby and Truth her remarks exhibit a consistent concern with technique and craftsmanship for which she is much admired Of these sixteen interviews ten originally appeared in print between 1971 and 1999 Six have never before been published Resurrecting lost material and exploring new insights this collection offers the only comprehensive introduction to Douglas's lasting body of powerful work It also provides the tools for the in-depth studies of her art which are sure to follow So when I went down to ask my aunts if it would be all right to publish A Family's Affairs they said it was okay so long as they didn't have to read it and if I would use a pen name This collection of interviews from three decades features one of the South's most prominent contemporary writers one of America's most dazzling practitioners of postmodern fiction From the early sixties when she published the award winning A Family's Affairs to the late nineties and the publication of Truth Four Stories I Am Finally Old Enough to Tell Ellen Douglas has written novels short stories essays and a book of fairy tales These conversations with Douglas reveal her earthy frankness and her disdain for portentous declaration In them just as in her fiction she expresses her love of people language and stories her constant moral values her inclusive compassion her deeply felt obligations to others and her keen sense of humor She explains that comedy is as serious as tragedy it's just funnier

Because she is an excellent candid conversationalist her light touch with portentous matters makes these interviews both dead serious and very funny The first is with Hodding Carter III who in 1971 was a young journalist and family friend from Greenville Mississippi the town where Douglas was living and rearing three sons Carter is among her early interviewers who explore the mystique of the southern writer and the southern climate for literature Douglas s string of new novels took her work forward into civil rights women s roles and questions about the institutions of family and marriage The conversations illuminate this shift from southern tradition to concern over contemporary issues Arranged chronologically the interviews testify to the growth of Douglas s narrative sensibility and to the profound use of allusions in her work As she discusses A Family s Affairs Black Cloud White Cloud Where the Dreams Cross Apostles of Light The Rock Cried Out A Lifetime Burning The Magic Carpet and Other Tales Can t Quit You Baby and Truth her remarks exhibit a consistent concern with technique and craftsmanship for which she is much admired Of these sixteen interviews ten originally appeared in print between 1971 and 1999 Six have never before been published Resurrecting lost material and exploring new insights this collection offers the only comprehensive introduction to Douglas s lasting body of powerful work It also provides the tools for the in depth studies of her art which are sure to follow

The Christ-Haunted Landscape Susan Ketchin,2009-11-12 Here are Susan Ketchin s discerning interviews with twelve southerners living and writing in the South and along with a piece of fiction by each are her penetrating commentaries about the impact of southern religious experience on their work A little more than a generation ago Flannery O Connor made a startling observation about herself and her fellow southerners By and large she said people in the South still conceive of humanity in theological terms While the South is hardly Christ centered it is most certainly Christ haunted The southerner who isn t convinced of it is very much afraid that he may have been formed in the image and likeness of God Guided by O Connor s perceptive commentary about southerners in general Susan Ketchin has created a deeply revealing collection that mirrors the pervasive role of religion in the literature by the recent generation of notable southern writers Ketchin confirms that old time religion remains a potent force in the literature of the contemporary South

Ancient African Christianity David E. Wilhite,2017-07-14 Christianity spread across North Africa early and it remained there as a powerful force much longer than anticipated While this African form of Christianity largely shared the Latin language and Roman culture of the wider empire it also represented a unique tradition that was shaped by its context Ancient African Christianity attempts to tell the story of Christianity in Africa from its inception to its eventual disappearance Well known writers such as Tertullian Cyprian and Augustine are studied in light of their African identity and this tradition is explored in all its various expressions This book is ideal for all students of African Christianity and also a key introduction for anyone wanting to know more about the history religion and philosophy of these early influential Christians whose impact has extended far beyond the African landscape

The Columbia Companion to the Twentieth-Century American Short Story Blanche H. Gelfant,2004-04-21

Esteemed critic Blanche Gelfant's brilliant companion gathers together lucid essays on major writers and themes by some of the best literary critics in the United States. Part 1 is comprised of articles on stories that share a particular theme such as Working Class Stories or Gay and Lesbian Stories. The heart of the book however lies in Part 2 which contains more than one hundred pieces on individual writers and their work including Fitzgerald, Hemingway, Richard Ford, Raymond Carver, Eudora Welty, Andre Debus, Zora Neal Hurston, Anne Beattie, Bharati Mukherjee, J. D. Salinger and Jamaica Kincaid as well as engaging pieces on the promising new writers to come on the scene. Mississippi Quarterly, 1990 Book Review Index - 2009 Cumulation Dana Ferguson, 2009-08.
