New Migration In Europe Social Constructions And Social Realities:

The New Migration in Europe Khalid Koser, Helma Lutz, 1998-06-12 Recent migration in Europe has a whole range of characteristics which are said to distinguish it from earlier migration and the description new migration is often used Based on a wide range of empirical case studies of the new migration this book asks three critical questions To what extent is the description new conceptually valid How is the new migration defined and by whom How is the new migration experienced by migrants themselves

Migration and Religion in Europe Ester Gallo, 2016-04-22 Religious practices and their transformation are crucial elements of migrants identities and are increasingly politicized by national governments in the light of perceived threats to national identity As new immigrant flows shape religious pluralism in Europe longstanding relations between the State and Church are challenged together with majority faith traditions and societies ways of representing and perceiving themselves With attention to variations according to national setting this volume explores the process of reformulating religious identities and practices amongst South Asian communities in European contexts Presenting a wide range of ethnographies including studies of Hinduism Sikhism Jainism and Islam amongst migrant communities in contexts as diverse as Norway Italy the UK France and Portugal Migration and Religion in Europe sheds light on the meaning of religious practices to diasporic communities It examines the manner in which such practices can be used by migrants and local societies to produce distance or proximity as well as their political significance in various host nations Offering insights into the affirmation of national identities and cultures and the implications of this for governance and political discourse within Europe this book will appeal to scholars with interests in anthropology religion and society migration transnationalism and gender

Controlling a New Migration World Virginie Guiraudon, Christian Joppke, 2003-09-02 Controlling a New Migration World explores the factors that drive recent migration control policies and in turn sheds light on the unintended consequences of policies for the new character of migration This book asks how we can account for the immigration policies of liberal states Is the recent linkage between migration and security a rhetorical invention of elites or a reflection of changing migrant profiles Are states control policies effectively containing or only redirecting unwanted migration flows This increasingly relevant issue will be of great use to anyone working in comparative politics sociology and studying ethnicity or international migration as well as professionals working in the migrant asylum and public law fields

Ukrainian Migration to the European Union Olena Fedyuk, Marta Kindler, 2016-11-02 This book brings together research findings from a variety of disciplines in this integrated study of the migration of Ukrainian nationals to the EU It contextualizes and historicizes this migration against the background of the series of crises experienced by Ukraine and the wider region over the last thirty or so years from the dissolution of the USSR through EU border changes to the failed economic reforms of independent Ukraine The book reviews major publications in a variety of disciplines and in several languages including Russian Ukrainian and English It provides a critical analysis of these authoritative sources

Gender and International Migration in Europe Eleonore Kofman, Annie Phizacklea, Parvati Raghuram, Rosemary Sales, 2005-06-20 Gender and International Migration in Europe is a unique work which introduces a gender dimension into theories of contemporary migrations As the European Union seeks to extend equal opportunities increasingly restrictionist immigration policies and the persistence of racism deny autonomy and choice to migrant women This work demonstrates how processes of globalisation and change in state policies on employment and welfare have maintained a demand for diverse forms of gendered immigration The authors examine state and European Union policies of immigration control family reunion refugees and the management of immigrant and ethnic minority communities Most importantly this work considers the opportunities created for political activity by migrant women and the extent to which they are able to influence and participate in mainstream policy making This volume will be essential reading for anyone involved in or interested in modern European immigration policy

Asylum - A Right Denied Helen O'Nions, 2016-04-15 In recent decades asylum has emerged as a highly politicized European issue The term asylum seeker has suffered a negative perception and has been associated with notions of illegality and criminality in mainstream media These misconceptions have been supported by politicians as a distraction from economic and political uncertainties with the result that asylum seekers have been deprived of significant rights This book examines the effect of recent attempts of harmonization on the identification and protection of refugees It considers the extent of obligations on the state to admit and protect refugees and examines the 1951 Refugee Convention The motivations of European legislators and legislation concerning asylum procedures and reception conditions are also analysed Proposals and initiatives for refugee movements and determinations are examined and assessed The author makes suggestions for better protection of refugees while responding to the security concerns of States and questions whether European law and policy is doing enough to uphold the fundamental right to seek and enjoy asylum as set out in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights This book takes a bold look at a controversial issue and generates discussion for those involved in the fields of human rights migrational and transnational studies law and society and international law

European societies Steffen Mau, Roland Verwiebe, 2010-10-08 This comprehensive textbook provides a thorough analysis of the nature of European societies across the expanded EU member states Using a wealth of data the authors compare the different dimensions of the territorial and social order of Europe and address a range of issues relating to Europeanisation and key topics such as inequality migration poverty population and family the labour market and education Presented in a student friendly way this book also helps unravel people's attitudes towards Europe European integration and citizens of other European countries It will be an essential read for under and post graduate students and academics of sociology European studies social stratification social policy and political sciences Transforming Glasgow Rebecca

Madgin, Keith Kintrea, 2019-12-18 Some 30 years after Glasgow turned towards regeneration indicators of its built environment its health its economic performance and its quality of life remain below UK averages This interdisciplinary study examines the ongoing transformation of Glasgow as it transitioned from a de industrial to a post industrial city during the 20th and 21st centuries Looking at the diverse issues of urban policy regeneration and economic and social change it considers the evolving lived experiences of Glaswegians Contributors explore the actions required to secure the gains of regeneration and create an economically competitive socially just and sustainable city establishing a theory that moves beyond post industrialism and serves as a model for similar cities globally On the Shoulders of Grandmothers Cinzia Solari, 2017-08-03 On the Shoulders of Grandmothers is a global ethnography of Ukrainian transnational migration Gendered migrant subjectivities are a key site for understanding the production of neoliberal capitalism and Ukrainian nation state building a fraught process that places Ukraine precariously between Europe and Russia with dramatic implications for the political economy of the region However processes of gender and migration that undergird transnational nation state building require further attention Solari compares two patterns of Ukrainian migration the forced exile of middle aged women most grandmothers to Italy and the voluntary exodus of families led by the same cohort of middle aged women to the United States In both receiving sites these migrants are caregivers to the elderly Using in depth interviews and ethnographic data collected in three countries Solari shows that Ukrainian nation state building occurs transnationally She examines the collective practices of migrants who are building the new Ukraine from the outside in and shaping both Italy and the United States as well The Ukrainian state in order to fulfil its First World aspirations of joining Europe and distancing itself from all things Soviet is pursuing a gendered reorganization of family and work structures to achieve a transition from socialism to capitalism This has created a labor force of migrant grandmothers who carry the new Ukraine on their shoulders Solari shows that this post Soviet economic transformation requires a change in the moral order as migrant women struggle to understand how to be good mothers and grandmothers and men join women in attempts to teach their children to be successful and honorable people now that the social rules have drastically changed Looking at individual migrant women and men and their families in Ukraine allows us to see the production of neoliberal capitalism and new nationalism from the ground up and the outside in for a region that promises to be a flashpoint in our century An Ethnic History of Europe since 1945 Panikos Panayi, 2018-10-08 The first history of Europe since 1945 which examines the continent from a mainly ethnic perspective Panikos Panayi has drawn on years of research to produce this comparative and exploratory account of the experience of ethnic minorities in post war Europe The coverage encompasses all categories of minorities including immigrants and refugees localised ethnic groupings and dispersed peoples Geographically the scope of the book ranges from the Atlantic to the Urals and the Mediterranean to the Arctic looking in particular at the Soviet Union Britain France Germany Romania Cyprus and the former Yugoslavia Blood and Oranges Christopher Lawrence, 2011-03 A compelling account of the intersection of globalization and neo racism in a rural Greek community this book describes the contradictory political and economic development of the Greek countryside since its incorporation into the European Union where increased prosperity and social liberalization have been accompanied by the creation of a vulnerable and marginalized class of immigrant laborers The author analyzes the paradoxical resurgence of ethnic nationalism and neo racism that has grown in the wake of European unification and addresses key issues of racism neoliberalism and nationalism in contemporary anthropology

Migrant Women Transforming Citizenship Umut Erel,2016-04-22 Migrant Women Transforming Citizenship develops essential insights concerning the notion of transnational citizenship by means of the life stories of skilled and educated migrant women from Turkey in Germany and Britain It interweaves and develops theories of citizenship identity and culture with the lived experiences of an immigrant group that has so far received insufficient attention By focusing on the British and German contexts it introduces a much needed European and comparative perspective whilst exploring the ways in which diverging concepts and policies of citizenship allow for a differentiated examination of ethnicity gender multiculturalism and citizenship in Europe Presenting a significant and welcome contribution to our understanding of the complexities of multiculturalism it challenges Orientalist images of women as backward and oppressed Through engagement with the changing realities of education work intimacy family and social activism this volume provides a situated account of how the concepts of citizenship transnationality and culture play out in actual social relations With its rich empirical material the book explores how migrant women create new practices and meanings of belonging across boundaries Critiquing dominant multiculturalist and anti multiculturalist accounts this book suggests how citizenship debates can be reframed to be inclusive of migrant women as actors As such it will appeal to those working across a range of social sciences including sociology and the sociology of work race and ethnicity citizenship cultural and gender studies as well as anthropology and social and public policy
