New Object Lessons for Children of All Ages Sheryl Bruinsma, 1980 Object Lessons Sarah Anne Carter, 2018-07-12

Object Lessons How Nineteenth Century Americans Learned to Make Sense of the Material World examines the ways material things objects and pictures were used to reason about issues of morality race citizenship and capitalism as well as reality and representation in the nineteenth century United States For modern scholars an object lesson is simply a timeworn metaphor used to describe any sort of reasoning from concrete to abstract But in the 1860s object lessons were classroom exercises popular across the country Object lessons helped children to learn about the world through their senses touching and seeing rather than memorizing and repeating leading to new modes of classifying and comprehending material evidence drawn from the close study of objects pictures and even people In this book Sarah Carter argues that object lessons taught Americans how to find and comprehend the information in things from a type metal fragment to a whalebone sample Featuring over fifty images and a full color insert this book offers the object lesson as a new tool for contemporary scholars to interpret the meanings of nineteenth century material cultural and intellectual life Object Lessons and Early Learning Sharon Shaffer, 2018-07-11 The twenty first century is a time of change for early learning in museums due in part to society's evolving view of childhood from an age of innocence to understanding the robust learning that defines the first years of life This perspective is a catalyst for international conversation and continues to raise attention and interest across society Object Lessons and Early Learning leverages what is known about the cognitive development of young children to examine the power of learning through objects in museum and heritage settings Exploring the history and modern day practice of object based learning Shaffer outlines the rationale for endorsing this approach in both formal and informal learning spaces She argues that museums as collecting institutions are learning spaces uniquely positioned to allow children to make meaning about their world through personal connections to cultural artifacts natural specimens and works of art A range of descriptive object lessons inspired by objects in museums as well as from the everyday world are presented throughout the text as examples of ways in which children can be encouraged to engage with museum collections Object Lessons and Early Learning offers insights into strategies for engaging young children as learners in museum settings and in their everyday world and as such will be essential reading for museum professionals classroom educators and students It should also be of great interest to academics and researchers engaged in the study of museums and education The Technologist. Ed. by P.L. Simmonds Peter Lund Simmonds, 1861 The Technologist, 1861 Nature Sir Norman Lockyer, 1900 The School World, 1904 Playful Visions Meredith A. Bak, 2020-03-17 The kaleidoscope the stereoscope and other nineteenth century optical toys analyzed as new media of their era provoking anxieties similar to our own about children and screens In the nineteenth century the kaleidoscope the thaumatrope the zoetrope the stereoscope and other optical toys were standard accessories of a middle class childhood used both at home and at school In Playful Visions Meredith Bak argues that the optical toys of the nineteenth century were the new media of their era teaching children to be discerning consumers of media and also provoking anxieties similar to contemporary worries about children's screen time Bak shows that optical toys which produced visual effects ranging from a moving image to the illusion of depth established and reinforced a new understanding of vision as an interpretive process At the same time the expansion of the middle class as well as education and labor reforms contributed to a new notion of childhood as a time of innocence and play Modern media culture and the emergence of modern Western childhood are thus deeply interconnected Drawing on extensive archival research Bak discusses among other things the circulation of optical toys and the wide visibility gained by their appearance as printed templates and textual descriptions in periodicals expanding conceptions of literacy which came to include visual acuity and how optical play allowed children to exercise a sense of visual mastery She examines optical toys alongside related visual technologies including chromolithography which inspired both chromatic delight and chromophobia Finally considering the contemporary use of optical toys in advertising education and art Bak analyzes the endurance of nineteenth century visual paradigms

Primary Object Lessons for a Graduated Course of Development Norman Allison Calkins, 1861 The Homiletic Review, 1906 52 Ways to Teach Memory Verses Nancy Williamson, 2000 Every book in this series is packed with easy to lead activities on a variety of important subjects for children who are learning about the Christian life Teachers will want all eight titles for their resource libraries Metropolitan Pulpit and Homiletic Monthly, 1906 THE JOURNAL OF EDUCATION, 1881 Routledge Library Editions: Education 1800-1926 Various Authors, 2022-07-30 This set of 14 volumes originally published between 1932 and 1995 amalgamates several topics on the history of education between the years 1800 and 1926 including women and education education and the working class and the history of universities in the United Kingdom This set also includes titles that focus on key figures in education such as Samuel Wilderspin Georg Kerschensteiner and Edward Thring This collection of books from some of the leading scholars in the field provides a comprehensive overview of the subject and will be of particular interest to students of history education and those undertaking teaching qualifications Children's Object Lesson Sermons Jim Morentz, Doris Morentz, 1984 Bulletin of the Salem Public Library Salem Public Library, 1907 The Institute Tie, 1909 Friends Intelligencer, 1900 Friends' Intelligencer and Journal, 1900 Morning light [afterw.] The New-Church weekly, 1879
