Close, 2007-09-01 Opposing the Crusader State Alternatives to Global Interventionism edited by Robert Higgs and Carl Close examines the history of American noninterventionism and its relevance in today s world For more than a century U S foreign policy whether conducted by Democrats or Republicans liberals or conservatives has been based on the assumption that Americans interests are served best by intervening abroad to secure open markets for U S exports fight potential enemies far from American shores or engage in democratic nation building Before the twentieth century however a foreign policy of nonintervention was widely considered more desirable and Washington s and Jefferson s advice that the republic avoid foreign entanglements was largely heeded Arguing that interventionism is not an appropriate default setting for U S foreign policy the book s contributors clarify widespread misunderstandings about noninterventionism question the wisdom of nation building debate the validity of democratic peace theory and make the case for pursuing a peace strategy based on private property rights and free trade Readers will come away from this book with a richer understanding of the noninterventionist movements in U S history write Higgs and Close in the book s introduction Most important perhaps they will have a firmer understanding of why many classical liberals embrace the strengthening of commercial ties between all countries as a means of avoiding war

Author - Title Catalog University of California, Berkeley. Library,1963 United States Army Combat Forces Journal ,1953 The Costs of War John Denson,2017-07-05 The greatest accomplishment of Western civilization is arguably the achievement of individual liberty through limits on the power of the state In the war torn twentieth century we rarely hear that one of the main costs of armed conflict is long term loss of liberty to winners and losers alike Beyond the obvious and direct costs of dead and wounded soldiers there is the lifetime struggle of veterans to live with their nightmares and their injuries the hidden economic costs of inflation debts and taxes and more generally the damages caused to our culture our morality and to civilization at large The new edition is now available in paperback with a number of new essays It represents a large scale collective effort to pierce the veils of myth and propaganda to reveal the true costs of war above all the cost to liberty Central to this volume are the views of Ludwig von Mises on war and foreign policy Mises argued that war along with colonialism and imperialism is the greatest enemy of freedom and prosperity and that peace throughout the world cannot be achieved until the central governments of the major nations become limited in scope and power In the spirit of these theorems by Mises the contributors to this volume consider the costs of war generally and assess specific corrosive effects of major American wars since the Revolution The first section includes chapters on the theoretical and institutional dimensions of the relationship between war and society including conscription infringements on freedom the military as an engine of social change war and literature and the right of citizens to bear arms The second group includes reconsiderations of Lincoln and Churchill an analysis of the anti interventionist idea in American politics a discussion of the meaning of the just war an assessment of how World War I changed the course of Western civilization and finally two eyewitness accounts of the true horrors of actual combat by Dictionary Catalog of the Department Library United States. unthinkability so as to speculate through concept creation on unthought educational trajectories Specifically the book is oriented towards the creation of pedagogical concepts that work to problematize and resituate questions of educational futurity in relation to the planetary realities raised by today's pressing extinction events It is from this experimentation that a weird pedagogy emerges that is an experimental pedagogical anti model a speculative program for the unprogrammable that seeks to counter actualize potentials of and for unthinking pedagogy at the so called end of the world
