Contemporary Gay American Poets and Playwrights Emmanuel S. Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1953 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1968 The Ladies' Home Journal Edward William Bok, 1921 Voices in the Creation of an Indigenous Trinidad and Tobago Theatre Patrick Brennan, 2025-04-15 This book explores how from the mid 20th century a new form of theatre emerged in Trinidad and Tobago as its playwrights came to mine the Afro Creole Trinidadian folk milieu This book focuses primarily on the period from the 1950s through to the contemporary moment

investigating how Trinidad's theatrical practitioners developed methodologies that formulated an indigenous theatre. It examines how in its creation it would distance itself from Western forms as the stage was decolonized making way for a variety of new forms that mimetically reflect the reality of Trinidad's Afro-Creole folk. This book establishes a premise on which the terms folk and indigenous have been shaped by Trinidad's socio-historical past. It develops an argument that outlines how Trinidad's African cultural retentions form a central basis on which a theatrical tradition was established. This book traces the historical impetus and driving forces that gave rise to a body of writers for whom the vitally important link between the production of drama and the search for identity in the immediacy of the post-colonial period is established. The book develops a structure that forms three lines of discrete research: folk expression, women, their portrayal and their emergence as theatrical practitioners and theatrical developments through the decades. These subject areas are examined through the work of a broad body of playwrights. Exploring their theory and praxis, their work is described in terms that exhibit a variety of genres with tropes that have become indelible resources for theatrical practitioners to draw from. With a theatrical base that extends from popular comedy to avant-garde spiritual works, the theatre is shown to represent a composite entity, one that accommodates a plurality of forms which in their summation express the breadth and depth of Trinidad and Tobago's theatrical journey, one that is still very much underway. Readers that have an interest in theatre, cultural, gender, post-colonial or Caribbean studies will enjoy this book.

Contemporary African American Female Playwrights Dana A. Williams, 1998-06-30. Lorraine Hansberry's A Raisin in the Sun (1959) was a major dramatic success and brought to the world's attention the potential talent of African American women playwrights. But in spite of Hansberry's landmark contribution, both the theater and the literary world have often failed to include contemporary African American female playwrights within the circle of production, publication and criticism. In African American drama anthologies, female playwrights are seldom given the degree of attention that is accorded their male counterparts And because of space constraints anthologies of works by women playwrights are forced to exclude numerous female dramatists including African Americans Meanwhile some scholars have argued that the works of African American female playwrights are seldom produced in the mainstream theater because these plays frequently challenge the views of white America But as A Raisin in the Sun demonstrates plays by African American women dramatists can have a powerful message and are worthy of attention A comprehensive research tool this annotated bibliography sheds light on the often neglected works of contemporary African American female playwrights Included within its scope are those dramatists who have had at least one work published since 1959 the year of Hansberry's monumental achievement The first section provides a listing of anthologies that include one or more plays written by an African American female dramatist The second gives entries for reference works and for scholarly and critical studies of the dramatists and their plays The third presents a listing of published plays by individual dramatists along with a summary of each drama the works of each playwright that are related to drama and secondary sources that treat the dramatists and their plays Entries are accompanied by concise but informative annotations and the volume closes with a list of periodicals that frequently publish criticism of African American female playwrights a section of brief biographical sketches of the dramatists and extensive indexes
