New Regional Development Paradigms: Globalization and the new regional development Asfaw Kumssa, T. G. McGee, 2001 The era of globalization is creating profound changes in global relationships changes that are manifest at international regional national and sub national levels making traditional regional development policy obsolete and irrelevant Traditional policy needs to be redefined and reconstructed so it can capture and articulate emerging regional trends and issues The first of four volumes based mainly on Global Forum on Regional Development Policy organized by the United Nations Centre for Regional Development in Nagoya Japan this book presents a broad theoretical and trend analysis of globalization and its effects on the theory and practice of regional development The book lays out the major components that merit consideration if there is to be new regional planning in this millennium While contributors to the volume do not agree on the effects of globalization on economic growth there is a consensus in the volume that globalization presents a challenge to conventional development theories The challenge for regional planners is to examine the impact and implications of recent structural changes on regional development planning and come up with viable and pragmatic regional development strategies This volume begins to meet that challenge by laying out the major components that merit consideration The following volumes will present detailed case studies of current regional planning practices focusing largely on developing countries

Regional Development and Spatial Planning in an Enlarged European Union Neil Adams, 2016-04-01 The expansion of the European Union in 2004 has had significant consequences for both existing and new members of the Union New member states are assimilating into a new institutional and policy framework while the changing geography of Europe provides a different context for policy development in pre 2004 member states One of the more important fields in which these changes are impacting is regional development The admission of the new countries changes patterns of economic and social disparities across the territory of the European Union which in turn demands that existing approaches to regional development are reconsidered An approach which has proved to be one of the most innovative is spatial planning This book brings together a team of academics and policy makers from across the new Europe involved in regional development and spatial planning Providing insights into different approaches it offers a valuable opportunity to compare experiences across European borders

Trends in Urbanisation and Urban Policies in OECD Countries What Lessons for China? OECD, China Development Research Foundation, 2010-08-27 This report presents an overview of trends in urban policies in OECD countries with the objective to identify successes and failure that could inform national Chinese policy makers in their preparation of an Urbanisation Strategy Development Centre Studies A New Rural Development Paradigm for the 21st Century A Toolkit for Developing Countries OECD, 2016-04-01 Three billion people live in rural areas in developing countries Conditions for them are worse than for their urban counterparts when measured by almost any development indicator from extreme poverty to child mortality and access to electricity and sanitation The Modern/Colonial/Capitalist World-System in the Twentieth Century Ramón Grosfoguel, Ana Margarita Cervantes-Rodríguez, 2002-07-30 An important building block for further advancing world system theory this book considers the theory from the perspectives of global processes and antisystemic movements feminist theory and the aftermath of the colonial system The volume addresses three myths tied to Eurocentric forms of thinking objectivist and universalist knowledges the decolonization of the modern world and developmentalism All three myths the authors argue conceal the continued hierarchical and unequal relations of domination and exploitation between European and Euro American centers and non European peripheral regions In this volume world system scholars address these and related aspects of the modern colonial capitalist world system Addressing the myth of universalist knowledge the volume reminds us that our knowledge is situated in the gender class racial and sexual hierarchies of a specific region in the world system while the coloniality of power additionally situates our knowledge The volume further argues that the postcolonial era retains the hierarchy of colonialism and the possibility of national development without global structural changes is one of the greatest 20th century myths Taking these perspectives into consideration the contributors examine and help to refine classic world system theory Albania towards a sustainable regional development Xhindi, Nevila, 2014-02-18 As Albania is accelerating its preparations towards candidate country status in the European Union EU numerous areas of public policy and practices are undergoing intensive development Regional development policy is a very new area of public policy in Albania and needs research and development This study examines the process of sustainable development in Albania by analysing and comparing the regional development of the regions Tirana Shkodra and Kukes With regards to methodology the study relies on a review of literature as well as an analytical review of and a comparative approach to the three case regions ensuring adequate quality through interviews and quantitative relevance through data collection The research is organised in five chapters The first chapter provides an overview over the research The second chapter outlines the theories and scientific framework underlying the sustainable development to regional development process and its links to geography The third chapter presents the overall picture of the regional development efforts in Albania analysing disparities and regional development in the light of EU requirements and NUTS division Chapter 4 continues this discourse by highlighting the regional development of the three regions Tirana driver for change Shkodra the North in development and Kukes the shrinking region Conclusions and recommendations are presented in chapter 5 This research comes to the conclusions that if growth in Albania is to be increased and sustained a regional development policy needs to be established

Iraq's Burdens Abbas Alnasrawi, 2002-11-30 Oil revenue has been an economic curse for Iraq In the second half of the 20th century the international oil sector shaped Iraq's economy forcing it to rely too heavily on revenue brought in by oil production and exports Iraq's failure to use copious oil rents to diversify the economy has proven disastrous for its people and economy Its over reliance on oil revenues coupled with the consequences of its war with Iran the Gulf War and the ensuing economic sanctions have led the country to economic destruction sanctions and enormous debt Iraq is a major oil producing country a founding member of OPEC and possesses the world's second highest amount of oil reserves Yet few studies exist on Iraq's oil industry and its impact on the economic and political fortunes of the country Alnasrawi remedies this by helping us understand this important Arab Middle Eastern oil exporting country that has been a constant focus of U.S. foreign policy since 1990 Alnasrawi concludes that the availability of capital is an insufficient condition for economic development and may in fact retard it as it did in this now reviled and wrecked country

Complexity Approach To Sustainability, A: Theory And Application (Second Edition) Angela Espinosa, Jon Walker, 2017-03-23 Business sustainability and sustainable development are of great importance in modern day socio economic study Despite this the impact of recent contributions from systems and complexity sciences in addressing these issues has not yet filtered down into effective practice This book argues that there is a need for urgency in the application of analytical tools which embody the principles of complexity management in sustainability research in particular in the context of the global climate change The approach presented is based on the concept of clusters of whole systems coming together through collaboration in order to create larger wholes capable of dealing with the issues facing our socio economic environmental systems In this updated second edition the authors further clarify the viability and sustainability V.S. approach and the criteria and framework needed for sustainable governance It includes a more detailed perspective on the implications of the V.S. approach to businesses and networks towards changes in structure strategy and processes inspired by specific case studies Key additions include a criteria for designing more viable and sustainable self governed organizations the methodologies and tools to design and implement self transformations towards sustainability and how these tools support sustainability management individually and globally for businesses and society Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning Bruce Stiftel, Vanessa Watson, Henri Acselrad, 2006-10-19 Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning offers a new selection of the best urban planning scholarship from each of the world's planning school associations. The award-winning papers presented illustrate the concerns and the discourse of planning scholarship communities and provide a glimpse into planning theory and practice by planning academics around the world. All those with an interest in urban and regional planning will find this collection valuable in opening new avenues for research and debate. This book is published in association with the Global Planning Education Association Network GPEAN and the nine planning school associations it represents who have selected these papers based on regional competitions Territorial Policy and Governance Iain Deas, Stephen Hincks, 2017-02-24 In response to both policy and conceptual debates, alternative narratives have begun to emerge about territorial governance and policymaking. As local and regional policy actors strive to respond to the geographically uneven effects of the economic crises of the early twenty-first century, a crucial question emerges: what are the opportunities and challenges presented by alternative forms of territorially based governance and policy? The aim of this edited volume therefore is critically to explore the opportunities and challenges presented by different forms of territorial policy and governance. Drawing on conceptual debates and empirical research from the United Kingdom and other international contexts, the contributors engage with issues around the politics and governance of territorial development, economic development, planning and regeneration, and the environment. Territorial Policy and Governance addresses the question of how alternative forms of territorial governance and policy can help to shape patterns of urban and regional development, highlighting the related opportunities, constraints, and challenges that confront their operationalisation. This book will be essential reading for international audiences with an interest in territorial development, governance, politics, human geography, and planning and regeneration Transnational Dynamics in Southeast Asia Nathalie Fau, Sirivanh Khonthapane, Christian Taillard, 2014 Since the 1990s, regional organizations of the United Nations and international financial institutions have adopted a new dynamic of transnational integration within the framework of the regionalization process of globalization. In place of the growth triangles of the 1970s, a strategy based on transnational economic corridors has changed the scale of regionalization.
