The New Role of the Academies of Sciences in the Balkan Countries C. Proukakakis, Nikolaos Katsaros, 2012-12-06 It is well known that the Academies of Sciences in Western Europe have different goals than those of Eastern Europe mainly due to their independent status Although some of the Academies in the West supervise research activities or some institutes their main mission is to stimulate and access scientific developments in their own countries In particular they have a mission to advise their governments and other central bodies on science policy and organization of research The Academies of Central and Eastern Europe supervise numerous research institutes with a relatively large number of research scientists Also many of these institutes carry out basic and applied research isolated from that of universities and industry Industry on a few occasions in the past sought solutions to its problems or the development of new products from the Institutes of the Academies of Sciences The challenges now facing the Academies of Central and Eastern Europe include the lack of adequate financing the loss of status of scientific work the defection of young researchers and the difficulties of recruiting new high level research staff A major problem is the emerging lack of candidates for doctorate studies The organization and financing of research in institutes universities and industries and the role that the Academies of Sciences can play is also one of the subjects to be addressed Public funding is limited and most of the funds available are directed towards applied research

Towards European Science Linda Wedlin, Maria Nedeva, 2015-12-18 Since the European Research Area was launched at the beginning of the century significant efforts have been made to realise the vision of a coherent space for science and research in Europe But how does one define such a space and measure its development This timely book analyses the dynamics of change in the policy and governance of science and research within Europe over the past decade It widens the scope of traditional policy analysis by focusing attention on the interaction between policy rationales new governance mechanisms and the organisational dynamics of the scientific field The contributors build a novel analytical framework to understand the European research space as one shifting from a fragmented space of Science in Europe to one that is labeled European Science The chapters explore the dynamics of this shift through the lenses of political science organisation theory science policy and related analytical traditions Towards European Science is an interdisciplinary book which will attract a wide set of scholars and professionals interested in science policy governance and scientific practice It will also be of use to university leaders and managers as well as policy makers and practitioners working on issues of internationalisation and the Europeanisation of science

Balkan Transnationalism at the Time of Neoliberal Catastrophe Dušan I. Bjelić,2019-03-27 Offering a fresh look at the ways in which neoliberalism has claimed to cure the Balkan region of its ethnic particularities under the pretext of Europeanization this book shows how the reconfiguration of the economic political and cultural landscape of the region has resulted in its functioning as Europe s neocolony The contributors to this volume engage in postcolonial analysis of the Balkans past and present coloniality by way of interrogating race racism trauma film and global capitalism They challenge the idea of a United Europe that rests on the assumption that the European Union's newness represents both a clean slate and the right to shift ownership of its colonial histories to former colonial subjects and their national histories Taken as a whole the volume seeks to transform Europe's colonial amnesia into postcolonial awareness and to speak from within the Balkans as a site of Europe's neocolony As it critically interrogates a neocolonial reconfiguration of the Balkans as a massive social overhaul which includes at once global integration and local social disintegration this book will be of interest to those studying the region as well as postcolonialism in general This book was originally published as a special issue of Interventions Journal of Postcolonial Studies Entangled Histories of the Balkans - Volume Four Roumen Dontchev Daskalov, Diana Mishkova, Tchavdar Marinov, Alexander Vezenkov, 2017-02-06 The present volume is the last in the Entangled Balkans series and marks the end of several years of research guided by the transnational entangled history and histoire croisée approaches The essays in this volume address theoretical and methodological issues of Balkan or Southeast European regional studies not only questions of scholarly concepts definitions and approaches but also the extra scholarly ideological political and geopolitical motivations that underpin them These issues are treated more systematically and by a presentation of their historical evolution in various national traditions and schools Some of the essays deal with the articulation of certain forms of Balkan heritage in relation to the geographical spread and especially the cultural definition of the Balkan area Concepts and definitions of the Balkans are thus complemented by self representations that reflect on their cultural foundations Armenian Mind, 1999 Central and South-Eastern Europe 2004 Europa Publications, 2003 Comprises a general survey of the region country surveys political profiles of the region and information on international and regional organizations and research institutes The Routledge Handbook to Regional Development in Central and Eastern Europe Gábor Lux, Gyula Horváth, 2017-07-06 Twenty five years into transformation Central and Eastern European regions have undergone substantial socio economic restructuring integrating into European and global networks and producing new patterns of regional differentiation and development Yet post socialist modernisation has not been without its contradictions manifesting in increasing social and territorial inequalities Recent studies also suggest there are apparent limits to post socialist growth models accompanying a new set of challenges within an increasingly uncertain world Aiming to deliver a new synthesis of regional development issues at the crossroads between post socialism and post transition this book identifies the main driving forces of spatial restructuring in Central and Eastern Europe and charts the different regional development paths which take shape against the backdrop of post crisis Europe A comparative approach is used to highlight common development challenges and the underlying patterns of socio economic differentiation alike The issues investigated within the Handbook extend to a discussion of the varied economic consequences of transition the social structures and institutional systems which underpin development processes and the broadly understood sustainability of Central and Eastern Europe's current development model This book will be of interest to academics and policymakers working in the fields of regional studies economic geography development studies and policy     Academy; a Weekly Review of Literature, Learning, Science and Art ,1882 The Poetical gazette the official organ of the Poetry society and a review of poetical affairs nos 4 7 issued as supplements to the Academy v 79 Oct 15 Nov 5 Dec 3 and 31 1910     Theorizing Transition John Pickles,Adrian Smith,2005-08-31 Examining transformations using a variety of perspectives Theorizing Transition provides both a rich empirical map of the dimensions of post Communism and raises important theoretical issues about how we interpret these changes     Proceedings of the Royal Society of Canada Royal Society of Canada,1996     Biology Bulletin of the Academy of Sciences of the USSR. Akademii nauk SSSR.,1975     Balkan and South Slavic Enclaves in Italy Thede Kahl,Iliana Krapova,Giuseppina Turano,2018-07-26 This volume is a collection of new writings dealing with some of the Balkan linguistic varieties spoken in north eastern central and southern Italy It brings together twenty two papers some of which investigate the mutual influences between each of these Balkan and South Slavic language varieties and their neighbouring Italian dialects Other contributions study common tendencies which do not just pertain to local contacts but which are of greater significance for the history of linguistic and cultural contacts in Italy All of the chapters here present new empirical findings and reflect the breadth and diversity of current research in the fields of areal linguistics language variation Balkan dialectology language contact types of Balkan convergences types of structure transfers the borrowing of structural patterns and directions of grammaticalisation
