Observations On The Zodiacal Light:

Observations on the Zodiacal Light George Jones, 1856 Observing Comets, Asteroids, Meteors, and the Zodiacal Light Stephen J. Edberg, David H. Levy, 1994-10-06 When can you see fireballs and who should you contact if you spot one When is it best to hunt for comets and meteors and whereabouts How do you gauge the size of the coma in the head of a comet and estimate its degree of condensation Clear and easy to use this guide shows you how to make successful and valuable observations and records of comets asteroids meteors and the zodiacal light For each topic the historical background and current scientific understanding support a wealth of observational techniques Comet observers are shown techniques for search and discovery They can learn how to make visual estimates of brightness and size and how to make photographic studies of cometary heads and tails Asteroid hunters will find a life list of quarry and guidelines on how to search for these objects and then how to photograph or electronically image them Fruitful photographic and electronic methods for studying meteors and meteor showers are provided Visual and photographic techniques show you how to examine the often elusive zodiacal light The more adventurous are provided with advanced techniques on how to make successful astrometric spectroscopic and electronic observations This is rounded off with an invaluable list of centres world wide to contact with your details of unusual sightings

International Astronomical Union: Reports on Astronomy C. de Jager, 2012-12-06 This volume contains the fifteenth tri annual reports of the Presidents of the forty Commissions of the International Astronomical Union it refers to the progress in our discipline during the three years 1970 1971 and 1972 As compared to earlier volumes a gradual change in character is unmistakable The ever increasing flow of publications combined with the obvious necessity to keep the Reports at a reasonable size and price level has gradually forced the Commission Presidents to be more selective than before in drafting their Reports I have certainly stimulated them into that direction in order that Reports like these be valuable and lasting it seems imperative that the individual contributions have the character of a critical overall review where a fairly complete summary is given of the major developments and discoveries of the past three years and in which the broad developments and new trends be clearly outlined while at the same time essential problems for future research are identified With respect to the latter item I have suggested the Commission Presidents to add to their reports a brief section on scientific priorities for future research in the field of their Commissions In order to save space I have suggested to Commission Presidents that references to published papers are given on the basis of their number in the published issues of Astronomy and Astrophysics Abstracts For instance the indication 06 078 019 or AAA 06 078 The American Journal of Science Mrs. Gambold, 1872
