HIRSCH & ADLER MODERN

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Exhibition: Pierre et Gilles
December 6, 1990 - January 8, 1991

On Thursday, December 6, 1990, Hirsch and Adler Modern will open the first exhibition in the United States of Pierre et Gilles.

The two artists, born and living in France, collaborate on their "devotional" portraits, large painted photographs. The subjects of the 25 pieces in this exhibition range from close friends to well-known, popular personalities each placed in an idyllic, dream-like setting, filled with metaphors. Once photographed, the surface is hand-painted.

In his introduction to the catalogue for this exhibition, Simon Watney writes:

Throughout the 1980's the French artists Pierre et Gilles have developed a representational strategy that is perhaps best described as essentially devotional. Their work is overwhelmingly concerned with devotions - to popular culture, to movie-stars, to the Body Beautiful, to the Saints. It is also devotedly committed to the art of ~~glamour~~ ~~glamour~~, by which their work is always instantly recognizable. All their images result from the scrupulous construction of studio environments in which they are able to control and calibrate every last nuance of detail - from their choice of models, to sets, costumes, make-up and lighting. Furthermore, their images are unique in as far as they also work on the surface of their photographs by hand. In this manner the sanctity of the individual image is ritualistically established, and their presence as artists is registered in a manner that is both internal and external to the finished photograph.

The current exhibition will remain on view through January 8, 1991. For further information, catalogue and/or photographs, please telephone the gallery at 212 744-4700.

Next Exhibition: George McNeil/Recent Paintings January 10 - February 2, 1991.
