Salvation And The Savage:

Salvation and the Savage Robert F. Berkhofer Jr.,2014-07-07 The great pre Civil War attempt of Protestant missionaries to Christianize Native Americans is found by Robert F Berkofer Jr to be a significant point of contact with enduring lessons for American thought The irony displayed by this relationship he says did not really lie in the disparity between Anglo Saxon ideals and the actual treatment of first peoples but in the failure of all including the missions to see that both sides had ultimately behaved according to their cultural values Using the records of missions to sixteen tribes in various regions of the United States Berkofer has carefully followed the hopeful efforts of sixty five years The ultimate outcome when the Civil War brought most of the missions to an end was only a nominal conversion of Native Americans despite the unflagging optimism of missionaries struggling against cultural barriers Salvation and the Savage Robert F. Berkhofer (Jr.),1965 Salvation and the savage ,1972 Salvation and the Savage Robert F. Berkhofer,2014-01 Using Protestant mission activity as the vanguard for acculturation Berkhofer studies Indian white relations from the founding of the United States until the Civil War Salvation and the Savage Robert F. Starna,2009-07-01 Gideon s People is the story of an American Indian community in the Housatonic Valley of northwestern Connecticut It is based on some three decades of nearly uninterrupted German language diaries and allied records kept by the Moravian missionaries who had joined the Indians at a place called Pachgatgoch later Schaghticoke It is supplemented by colonial records and regional political social and religious histories and ethnographies As such it represents the only comprehensive thoroughly contextualized description of a Native people in southern New England and adjacent eastern New York for the mid eighteenth century The Moravians diaries report on the day to day activities in the community including house building the production of material goods hunting fishing and farming We are told of marriages births deaths disease and the calamity of alcohol abuse The unavoidable interactions with surrounding Indians and close by colonial farmers and townspeople are offered in detail along with the sometimes contentious relations with local and colonial authorities And there is the omnipresence of the missionaries religious message to the Indians frequently accepted and then tested by the inevitable temptations and more than once spurned But we also learn of the struggles of the Moravians to feed and clothe themselves at a distance from their congregation in Bethlehem and their endeavors often marked by conflict and deep personal pain to lead their Native flock to the Lamb

The White Man's Indian Robert F. Berkhofer,1979-02-12 A compelling and definitive history of racist preconceptions in white behavior toward native Americans Leo Marx The New York Times Book Review Columbus called them Indians because his geography was faulty But that name and more important the images it has come to suggest have endured for five centuries not only obscuring the true identity of the original Americans but serving as an ideological weapon in their subjugation Now in this brilliant and deeply disturbing reinterpretation of the American past Robert Berkhofer has written an impressively documented account of the self serving stereotypes Europeans and white Americans have concocted about the Indian Noble Savage or bloodthirsty redskin he was deemed inferior in the light of western Christian civilization and manipulated to its benefit A thought provoking and revelatory study of the absolute seemingly ineradicable pervasiveness of white racism The White Man's Indian is a truly important book which penetrates to the very heart of our understanding of ourselves A splendid inquiry into and analysis of the process whereby white adventurers and the white middle class fabricated the Indian to their own advantage It deserves a wide and thoughtful readership Chronicle of Higher Education

The Evangelical Tradition in America Leonard Sweet,Leonard I. Sweet,1997 The essays collected in The Evangelical Tradition in America range over a vast plain of historical inquiry Yet they are linked by a common purpose and vision of the exploration through ever widening avenues of research into one of the most important movements in American culture and the uncovering of forgotten ill conceived or half perceived features of the Evangelical tradition This volume opens up new territory recharts the old and challenges and corrects several gaps in the historical topography of American Evangelicalism Emerging from the Charles G Finney Historical Conference at Colgate Rochester Divinity School Bexley Hall Crozer Theological Seminary in October 1981 these essays offer exciting interdisciplinary insights into the role of Evangelical religion in American society As major contributions to scholarship in American religion these investigations forge beyond the borders of Evangelicalism's role in issues now being explored by many American historians on the South blacks women urban centers millennialism and organizational structures They also provide directions from which to view Evangelicalism's impact on American history from the perspective of Southern popular religion the psychological aspects of black evangelicalism the stream of intellectual history and the Enlightenment and evangelical roots of millenarian ideology

book seeks to develop a novel approach to literature beyond the conventional divide between realism formalism and history aestheticism It accomplishes this not only through a radical reassessment of the specificity of literature in distinction from one of its others namely philosophy but above all by taking critical issue with the venerable concept of the text and its association with the artisanal techniques of weaving and interlacing This conception of the text as an artisanal fabric is the author holds the unreflected presupposition of both realist or historicist and reflective or deconstructive criticism Gasch argues that the scenes of production within literary works created by their authors yet independent of those authors intentions stage a work s own production in virtual fashion and thus accomplish for those works a certain ideal ontological status that allows for both historical endurance and creative interpretation In Gasch s construction of these scenes in which literary works render visible within their own fabric the invisible conditions of their autonomous existence certain images prevail the fold the star the veil By showing that these literary images are not simply the opposites of concepts he not only puts into question the common opposition between literature and philosophy but shows that literary works perform a way of argumentation that in spite of all its difference from philosophical conceptuality is on a par with it The argument progresses through close readings of literary works by Lautr amont Nerval de l Isle Adam Huysman Flaubert Artaud Blanchot Defoe and Melville
