When discussing issues of bioethics, religion often plays a major role. In this volume, the role of genetic manipulation and neurotechnology in shaping human identity is examined from multiple religious perspectives. This can help us to understand how religion might affect the impact of the initiatives such as the UNESCO Declaration in Bioethics and Human Rights. The book features bioethics experts from six major religions: Buddhism, Confucianism, Christianity, Islam, Hinduism, and Judaism. It includes a number of distinct religious and cultural views on the anthropological, ethical, and social challenges of emerging technologies in the light of human rights and in the context of global bioethics. The contributors work together to explore issues such as cultural attitudes to gene editing, neuroactive drugs, the interaction between genes and behaviours, the relationship between the soul, the mind, and DNA, and how clinical applications of these technologies benefit the developing world. This is a significant collection demonstrating how religion and modern technologies relate to one another. It will therefore be of great interest to academics working in bioethics, religion, and the body, interreligious dialogue, and religion and science, technology, and neuroscience.

Pagan Mysticism Michael York, 2018-12-10 As a non-dogmatic religion, paganism is a spirituality that is variously interpreted in terms of nature worship, this-worldliness, the valuing of the physical, and multiple understandings of the sacred. Like most religions, pagan spirituality also entertains the experience of mystical ecstasy as an intense state of psycho-spiritual consciousness that radically diverges from ordinary waking awareness. This volume addresses two fundamental questions: namely, how do the world's religions understand the mystical and its pursuit, and how and why does paganism offer something different? Proverbially, the mystical quest is an ultimate human endeavour. The re-emergence of pagan thought in contemporary times challenges the obsolete and unlocks both innovation and available forms of transpersonal emancipation.
