Second Shift Teaching Writing To Working Adults:

Second Shift Kelly Belanger, Mary Rose O'Reilley, Linda Strom, 1999 Second Shift is the first study to combine historical and contemporary perspectives on pedagogical and political issues that affect college level literacy education for working students Resources in Education, 2000-10 Mainstreaming Basic Writers Gerri McNenny, Sallyanne H. Fitzgerald, 2001-06 Explores the many facets of the mainstreaming movement in college level basic writing that are currently being debated Examines the theoretical political pedagogical concerns that arise as pressures push colleges to eliminate basic writing programs What We Hold in Common Janet Zandy, 2001 Restored to print in an expanded edition the pivotal text in working class studies Liberating Voices Karyn L. Hollis, 2004 Hollis provides a thorough ethnography of the Summer School with respect to its place in the social and political history of the 1920s and 1930s and then situates the school's pedagogy within the history of American education and composition instruction Design Discourse David Franke, Alex Reid, 2010-10-06 Design Discourse Composing and Revising Programs in Professional and Technical Writing addresses the complexities of developing professional and technical writing programs The essays in the collection offer reflections on efforts to bridge two cultures what the editors characterize as the art and science of writing often by addressing explicitly the tensions between them Design Discourse offers insights into the high stakes decisions made by program designers as they seek to function at the intersection of the practical and the abstract the human and the technical

Classroom Spaces and Writing Instruction Ed Nagelhout, Carol Rutz, 2004 This work calls attention to the ways that teachers of writing must attend to the idea of the classroom must be conscious of the spaces in which they meet students and must be aware of the physical material conditions that constrain or affect the teaching of writing Schreiben am Arbeitsplatz Eva-Maria Jakobs, Katrin Lehnen, Kirsten Schindler, 2012-12-06 Das Buch gibt einen Überblick zu Fragen Methoden und empirischen Befunden der in Deutschland noch jungen Forschungsdisziplin Schreiben am Arbeitsplatz Anhand von Fallstudien in verschiedenen Berufskontexten und Gruppen werden Strategien und Verfahren des adressaten und mediengerechten Formulierens Rahmenbedingungen des Schreibens im Beruf sowie Fragen der Vermittlung berufsspezifischer Schreibkompetenzen diskutiert Multiple Literacies for the 21st Century Brian A. Huot, Beth Stroble, Charles Bazerman, 2004 This volume makes an important contribution to our understanding of literacy as a multifaceted complexly situated activity Contributing authors represent a wide variety of theoretical and research perspectives Each chapter provides a fresh perspective into a different site for literate behavior and relationships Freeing literacy from a specific site or set of practices allows us to see it as a way to consider the experiences memories and histories of those who use literacy to make meaning in their lives Don't Call it that Sidney I. Dobrin, 2005 This volume addresses the role of the English professor in teaching graduate students in the how to teach writing introductory courses The essays argue that far from a simple introduction about how to teach writing the courses often serve as an introduction to composition theory to research methodologies to pedagogical theory and to the histories of composition studies as a discipline      Working-Class Writing Ben Clarke, Nick Hubble, 2018-11-19 This book updates our understanding of working class fiction by focusing on its continued relevance to the social and intellectual contexts of the age of Trump and Brexit The volume draws together new and established scholars in the field whose intersectional analyses use postcolonial and feminist ideas amongst others to explore key theoretical approaches to working class writing and discuss works by a range of authors including Ethel Carnie Holdsworth Jack Hilton Mulk Raj Anand Simon Blumenfeld Pat Barker Gordon Burn and Zadie Smith A key informing argument is not only that working class writing shows working class to be a diverse and dynamic rather than monolithic category but also that a greater critical attention to class and the working class in particular extends both the methods and objects of literary studies This collection will appeal to students scholars and academics interested in working class writing and the need to diversify the curriculum      Current Contents. Despite the increasingly global implications of conversations about writing and learning U S composition studies has devoted little attention to cross national perspectives on student writing and its roles in wider cultural contexts Caught up in our own concerns about how U S students make the transition as writers from secondary school to postsecondary education we often overlook the fact that students around the world are undergoing the same evolution How do the students in China England France Germany Kenya or South Africa the educational systems represented in this collection write their way into the communities of their chosen disciplines How for instance do students whose mother tongue is not the language of instruction cope with the demands of academic and discipline specific writing And in what ways is U S students development as academic writers similar to or different from that of students in other countries With this collection editors David Foster and David R Russell broaden the discussion about the role of writing in various educational systems and cultures Students development as academic writers raises issues of student authorship and agency as well as larger issues of educational access institutional power relations system goals and students roles in society The contributors to this collection discuss selected writing purposes and forms characteristic of a specific national education system describe students agency as writers and identify contextual factors social economic linguistic cultural that shape institutional responses to writing development In discussions that bookend these studies of different educational structures the editors compare U S postsecondary writing practices and pedagogies with those in other national systems and suggest new perspectives for cross national study of learning writing issues important to all educational systems Given the worldwide increase in students entering higher education and the endless need for effective writing across disciplines and nations the insights offered here and the call for further studies are especially welcome and timely      Striving for Excellence ,1993 Each vol a compilation of ERIC digests      Making the Common Core Writing Standards Accessible Through Universal Design for Learning Sally A.
