Second To None History Of No2 Squadron:

Second to None Julian Paget, 2000-09-11 Familiar to tourists at Buckingham Palace the Coldstream Guards are also a fully operational combat unit The regiment played a key role at Blenheim and Waterloo fought at Monmouth in the American Revolution served in both World Wars and is frequently deployed on short notice to the world's trouble spots even today This lavishly illustrated volume has been produced to mark the regiment's 350th anniversary Contributors include numerous distinguished British historians and past members of the regiment Full details are given for both the Coldstream Guards ceremonial duties and their participation in some of the key events in European history Swift Justice Nigel

Walpole, 2004-01-16 The Supermarine Swift was rushed into service with the RAF during 1954 to become Britain's first second generation jet fighter In this role it was not deemed a success and has been burdened with a bad reputation since that time It was eventually replaced by the famous Hawker Hunter that had been extensively delayed because of teething troubles This book covers the development and operational history of a vital aircraft that is a part of aviation legend Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals, 1997 Catalogue of the Library of the Royal United Service

Institution Royal United Service Institution (Great Britain). Library, 1908 Gunfire! Stig H. Moberg, 2017-03-30 This book provides an insight into how artillery resources were established developed and employed during the Second World War using the British Royal Artillery as an example Beginning with an overview of the nature and state of readiness of the Royal Artillery on the outbreak of war the book analyses in great detail the weapons available to the Royal Artillery their technical functionality and their performance capabilities With this knowledge the author then examines the organization methods procedures and tactics employed by the Royal Artillery To complete this fascinating study Stig Moberg looks at a number of key battles from the war to see how the artillery was used and the effectiveness of its support to the British and Allied infantry in campaigns in North Africa Burma and Europe British Artillery of the Second World War is profusely illustrated throughout with photographs maps plans graphs charts and diagrams to demonstrate precisely how the British Artillery was used on the battlefields around the world Although I am an infantryman and proud of it I have many times said that the Royal Regiment of Artillery in my opinion did more to win the last war more than any other Arm of the Service Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery

From Sapper to Spitfire Spy Sally-Anne Greville Heygate, 2015-08-31 David Greville Heygate was one of the few men who served in both the army and the Royal Air Force during the Second World War but it was in the sky that he really earned his stripes Stalking the skies flying photo reconnaissance missions with No 16 Squadron over Northern France he was to win the illustrious and highly coveted Distinguished Flying Cross DFC Another highlight saw him in action in the skies above the French coastline in preparation for the D Day landings taking photographs that would provide the allies with essential intelligence upon which to base their plans Based in Holland in December 1944 David flew armed reconnes with No 168 Squadron then transferred to No 2 Squadron where he reported on troop movements behind German lines

During the course of a dynamic and eventful career he flew a wide variety of iconic wartime aircraft including Lysanders Mustangs Typhoons and Spitfires in England the Netherlands and Germany Although there have been many stories about the Battle of Britain there has been less published about the life of a photo reconnaissance pilot during this time David's thrilling exploits in the sky and the part he played within the context of the wider war are enlivened here to great effect by his daughter Sally Anne Greville Heygate herself a professional photographer Using snippets from diary entries letters logbooks squadron records and other documents she has managed to construct an engaging history of a talented photo reconnaissance pilot and the war in which he fought

Motorboating - ND ,1948 Eastern Fortress Kwong Chi Man,Tsoi Yiu Lun,2014-07-01 Celebrated as a trading port Hong Kong was also Britain's eastern fortress Likened by many to Gibraltar and Malta the colony was a vital but vulnerable link in imperial strategy exposed to a succession of enemies in a turbulent age and a troubled region This book examines Hong Kong's developing role in the Victorian imperial defence system the emerging challenges from Russia France the United States Germany Japan and other powers and preparations in the years leading up to the Second World War A detailed chapter offers new interpretations of the Battle of Hong Kong of 1941 when the colony succumbed to the Japanese invasion The remaining chapters discuss Hong Kong's changing strategic role during the Cold War and the winding down of the military presence The book not only focuses on policies and events but also explores the social life of the garrison in Hong Kong the struggles between military and civil authorities and relations between the armed forces and civilians in Hong Kong Drawing on original research in archives around the world including English Japanese and Chinese sources this is the first full length study of the defence of Hong Kong from the beginning of the colonial period to the end of British military interests East of Suez in 1970 Illustrated with images and detailed maps Eastern Fortress will be of interest to both students of history and general readers Kwong Chi Man is an assistant professor in the History Department of Hong Kong Baptist University Tsoi Yiu Lun teaches history and liberal studies at Mu Kuang English School Hong Kong Armed with a range of declassified archives many of them unpublished Kwong and Tsoi expertly weave together military political social and economic history to show how Hong Kong played a strategic role in East Asia and the British Empire from the early 1840s to the 1970s Eastern Fortress is a must read for anyone interested in Hong Kong and its history John Carroll author of A Concise History of Hong Kong and Edge of Empires Chinese Elites and British Colonials in Hong Kong This careful and well written study does a difficult balancing act very well indeed It connects the military history of Hong Kong to both the general Hong Kong experience and the wider military history of the region and beyond Weaving its way with confidence from archive to library from grand strategy to battlefield this volume provides what we have long needed Hong Kong's experience was unique but at the same time it was integrally connected to the wider circles of empire region and Asia Nothing brings that trajectory out more strongly than the military dimension and by ranging from the Opium War to the Cold War with a critical eye this volume does that story justice It is the capstone that brings together a generation

Lambert, 2024-02-15 Winner of the 2024 Samuel Eliot Morison Award for Naval Literature The Neptune Factor is the biography of an idea the concept of Sea Power a term first coined by Capt A T Mahan and the core thread of his life's work His central argument was that the outcome of rivalries on the seas have decisively shaped the course of modern history Although Mahan's scholarship has long been seen as foundational to all systematic study of naval power Neptune Factor is the first attempt to explain how Mahan's definition of sea power shifted over time Far from presenting sea power in terms of combat as often thought Mahan conceptualized it in terms of economics Proceeding from the conviction that international trade carried across the world's oceans was the single greatest driver of national wealth and thus power in history Mahan explained sea power in terms of regulating access to the common and influencing the flows of trans-oceanic trade A nation possessing sea power could not only safeguard its own trade and that of its allies but might also endeavor to deny access to the common to its enemies and competitors A pioneering student of what is now referred to as the first era of globalization lasting from the late nineteenth century until the First World War Mahan also identified the growing dependence of national economies upon uninterrupted access to an interconnected global trading system Put simply access to the common was essential to the economic and political stability of advanced societies This growing dependence Mahan thought increased rather than decreased the potency of sea power Understanding the critical relationship between navies and international economics is not the only reason why Mahan's ideas remain or rather have once again become so important He wrote in and of a multi-polar world when the reigning hegemon faced new challenges and confusion and uncertainty reigned as the result of rapid technological change and profound social upheaval Mahan believed that the U S Navy owed the American people a compelling explanation of why it deserved their support and their money His extensive deeply informed and highly sophisticated body of work on sea power constituted his attempt to supply such an explanation Mahan remains as relevant and needed today as he was more than a century ago

The Waterloo Companion Mark Adkin, 2001 There have been many books about Waterloo but never one to rival this in scale or authority The text based upon extensive research describes both the battle and the campaign that preceded it in detail drawing upon the first hand accounts of participants on all sides in order to give the reader a vivid feeling for the experiences of those who fought upon this most celebrated of all battlefields The many full color maps all specially commissioned for the book and the numerous diagrams and photographs the majority in color as well as sixteen pages of original paintings make the book a feast for the eyes and a collector's dream

Target Hong Kong Steven K. Bailey, 2024-02-01 Brought to life by the personal accounts of six Navy pilots and one British POW this is the history of the U S Navy airstrikes on Japanese held Hong Kong Commander John Lamade started the war in 1941 a nervous pilot of an antiquated biplane Just over three years later he was in the cockpit of a cutting edge Hellcat about to lead a strike force of 80 aircraft through the turbulent skies above the South China Sea His target Hong Kong As a storm of anti aircraft fire darkened the sky watching from below was POW Ray Jones For three long years he and his fellow prisoners had endured near starvation conditions in a Japanese internment camp Did these American aircraft herald freedom Trawling through historic records Steven K Bailey discovered that the story of the U S Navy airstrikes on Japanese held Hong Kong during the final year of World War II had never been told Operation Gratitude involved nearly 100 U S Navy warships and close to a thousand planes Target Hong Kong brings this massive operation down to a human scale by recounting the air raids through the experiences of seven men whose lives intersected at Hong Kong in January 1945 Commander John D Lamade five of his fellow U S Navy pilots and the POW Ray Jones Drawing upon oral histories diary transcripts and U S Navy documents this book expertly narrates the intertwined experiences of these servicemen to bring the history to life

Dreadful Lady over the Mekong Delta Bob Howe,2023-04-19 Dreadful Lady over the Mekong Delta looks at the men of No 2 Squadron and the operations they flew in the Vietnam War in their Canberra bombers From April 1967 the squadron spent four years attacking enemy targets many of them in the Mekong Delta region and contending with the politics weather and fog of war The riverine operations supported by No 2 Squadron were but a small part of an allied effort to disrupt the enemy s movement of troops and supplies to locations in South Vietnam It was according to one commentator a kind of guerrilla warfare conducted in a navy environment Bob Howe arrived in Vietnam in 1969 as a youthful Canberra navigator bomb aimer but much of his time was spent as a specialist in bombing operations His time there provided him with the firsthand experience and detailed information to write this book This book in its original format was first published in 2016 by the RAAF s Air Power Development Centre filling a gap in the recording of the RAAF s operations in Vietnam It also describes how crews overcame the difficulties of operating in an intense Asian war in an aircraft that was designed for a completely different environment This new edition is intended to bring the experiences and exploits of Bob Howe No 2 Squadron and its Canberra bomber aircraft to life for a new generation of reader Flight and Aircraft Engineer ,1958
