The Secret Life of Aphra Behn Janet Todd,1997 Collective Understanding, Radicalism, and Literary History, 1645-1742 Melissa Mowry,2021-10-21 Political literary and cultural historians of the early modern Anglophone world have long characterized the crucial century between 1642 and 1742 as the period when absolutist theories of sovereignty yielded their dominance to shared models of governance and a burgeoning doctrine of unalienable individual rights Yet even the most cursory glance at the cultural record reveals that individualism was largely a footnote to a conflict over the production of political and cultural authority that erupted around the middle of the seventeenth century between sovereignty and collectivity Collective Understanding Radicalism and Literary History reaches back to the English civil wars 1642 46 1648 when a distinctive and anti authoritarian hermeneutic emerged from the dissident community known as the Levellers Active between 1645 and 1653 the Levellers argued that a more just political order required that knowledge previously structured by the epistemology of singularity upon which sovereignty had built its authority be reorganized around the interpretive principles and practices of affiliation and collectivity Collective Understanding contends that late Stuart and eighteenth century literature played a central role in marginalizing the non elite methods of interpretation and knowledge production that had emerged in the 1640s While pamphlets and other readily available texts ridiculed members of the commonalty it was the longer narrative arcs of drama and fiction that were uniquely able to foreground the collaborative methods civil war dissidents and the Levellers in particular had used to advance their opposition to sovereignty s epistemological paradigm Writers such as William Davenant Aphra Behn Edward Sexby Algernon Sidney and Daniel Defoe repeatedly exposed these dissident methods as a profound and potentially catastrophic challenge to the political privileges of the ancien r gime as well as its ancestral monopoly on the production of new knowledge The Secret World Christopher M. Andrew, 2018-01-01 The first ever detailed comprehensive history of intelligence from Moses and Sun Tzu to the present day The history of espionage is far older than any of today s intelligence agencies yet the long history of intelligence operations has been largely forgotten The codebreakers at Bletchley Park the most successful World War II intelligence agency were completely unaware that their predecessors in earlier moments of national crisis had broken the codes of Napoleon during the Napoleonic wars and those of Spain before the Spanish Armada Those who do not understand past mistakes are likely to repeat them Intelligence is a prime example At the outbreak of World War I the grasp of intelligence shown by U S President Woodrow Wilson and British Prime Minister Herbert Asquith was not in the same class as that of George Washington during the Revolutionary War and leading eighteenth century British statesmen In this book the first global history of espionage ever written distinguished historian Christopher Andrew recovers much of the lost intelligence history of the past three millennia and shows us its relevance Quantitative Literary Analysis of the Works of Aphra Behn Laura L. Runge, 2023-05-09 Aphra Behn 1640 1689 prolific and popular playwright poet novelist translator has a fascinating and extensive corpus of literature that plays a key role in literary history Quantitative Literary Analysis of the Works of Aphra Behn Words of Passion offers what no book has done to date an analysis of all Behn's literary output It examines the author's use of words in terms of frequencies and distributions and stacks the words in context to read Behn's word usage synchronically Using this experimental method the book brings digital humanities into literary criticism to enhance our understanding and appreciation of literature beyond what is possible in diachronic reading and scholarship less supported by digital means The empirical approach works in collaboration with existing scholarship to understand Behn's distinct language of love and extreme passions across her genres Aphra Behn's 'Emperor of the Moon' and its French Source 'Arlequin, Empereur dans la lune' Judy A. Hayden, Daniel J. Worden, 2019-05-31 Aphra Behn s spectacular farce Emperor of the Moon 1687 so engaged audiences that it was restaged well into the eighteenth century Her play was largely adapted from Anne Mauduit de Fatouville s Arlequin Empereur dans la lune 1684 a commedia dell arte production by the Com die Italienne troupe a performance which also proved immensely popular with Parisian audiences Within its witty and amusing three acts

Gevirtz, 2014-03-06 This book shows how early women novelists from Aphra Behn to Mary Davys drew on debates about the self generated by the scientific revolution to establish the novel as a genre Fascinated by the problematic idea of a unified self underpinning modes of thinking female novelists innovated narrative structures to interrogate this idea Oroonoko Susan B. Iwanisziw, 2017-11-30 With the aim of examining the postcolonial applications of Aphra Behn's rejentry into the literary canon the editor presents this edition as a collection representing the nexus of very specific articulations of literary cultural and political tropes produced by various writers and adapters from 1695 through 1999 The volume begins with a general introduction It then presents seven 18th century versions of the play and one poem ending with Biyi Bandele's late 20th century drama All texts are supplemented by original paratextual commentary if that is known and prefaced by a brief editorial commentary setting out pertinent biographical bibliographical theatrical and historical context not covered in the general introduction The tradition of stage adaptations of Oroonoko most of them keyed to Southerne's drama rather than to Behn's initial novella clearly shows the responsiveness of this series to studies of authorship gender genre and theatricality class race and especially the British response to the Atlantic slave trade and thus to the enduring relevance of these plays in modern literary and historical scholarship Colonial Women Heidi Hutner, 2001 Colonial Women is the first comprehensive study to explore the interpenetrating discourses of gender and race in Stuart drama Analyzing the plays of Shakespeare Fletcher Davenant Dryden Behn and other playwrights Heidi Hutner argues that in drama as in historical accounts the symbol of the native woman is used to justify and promote the success of the English appropriation commodification and exploitation of the New World and its native inhabitants Katherine M. Quinsey, 2012-04-25 For women in early modern Europe the Reformation and the Enlightenment entailed both new freedom and new restrictions In response to an ideology that immured the female mind and spirit inside the body women found in religion a hope for individual freedom a sense of self identity and a justification for gender equality Under the Veil Feminism and Spirituality in Post Reformation Europe invokes the veil's dual significance as the marker of the religious woman and as the metaphoric veil separating female interior life from its public construction This collection of nine essays focuses specifically on the direct links between emergent feminism and religious faith as experienced through wide cultural geographic and confessional differences united by themes of female subjectivity selfhood autonomy and community The essays range in topic and scope from the early seventeenth to the early nineteenth centuries across Europe Britain and North America through a wide range of experiences and written accounts its subjects are Philadelphian visionaries and Quaker missionaries Iroquois leaders and early Canadian nuns Islamic societies and European female travellers French mystics and educators and British writers and intellectuals These accounts reveal how women across a wide spectrum of formal beliefs and cultural backgrounds found in religion a way to negotiate the restrictions of their outward lives and a radical source of personal and collective independence and value Female Playwrights and Eighteenth-Century Comedy M. Anderson, 2002-02-22 Aphra Behn Susannah Centlivre Hannah Cowley and Elizabeth Inchbald were the only four female playwrights in England with multiple comic successes from 1670 1800 Behn's interest in the body Centlivre's fascination with written contracts Cowley's nationalism and Inchbald's discussion of divorce emerge in the comic events that are animated by the psychological mechanisms of humor Attending to the dialogue between these comic events and the plays more predictable comic endings illuminates the philosophical political and legal arguments about women and marriage that fascinated both female playwrights and the theatergoing public The Fringes of Belief Sarah Ellenzweig, 2008-09-25 The Fringes of Belief is the first literary study of freethinking and religious skepticism in the English Enlightenment Ellenzweig aims to redress this scholarly lacuna arguing that a literature of English freethinking has been overlooked because it unexpectedly supported aspects of institutional religion Analyzing works by John Wilmot Earl of Rochester Aphra Behn Jonathan Swift and Alexander Pope she foregrounds a strand of the English freethinking tradition that was suspicious of revealed religion yet often strongly opposed to the open denigration of Anglican Christianity and its laws By exposing the contradictory and volatile status of categories like belief and doubt this book participates in the larger argument in Enlightenment studies as well as in current scholarship on the condition of modernity more generally that religion is not so simply left behind in the shift from the pre modern to the modern world Staging Gender in Behn and Centlivre Nancy Copeland, 2019-09-26 Staging Gender in Behn and Centlivre studies the representation of gender in four of the most important plays by the leading professional women playwrights of the late Stuart period Behn s The Rover 1677 and The Luckey Chance 1686 and Centlivre's The Busie Body 1709 and The Wonder A Woman Keeps a Secret 1714 are first placed in their original theatrical and cultural contexts and then studied through subsequent productions and adaptations extending from the eighteenth century to the twentieth The detailed analysis of these plays is framed by a discussion of the cultural position of the playwrights and the kind of comedy they wrote The survival of these plays in the repertoire offers an unusual opportunity to examine the theatrical double life of works by early women playwrights The lengthy production histories of these comedies placed them in dialogue with radically different ideas of appropriate and permissible behavior for both women and men The resulting productions alterations and adaptations included both feminist reinterpretations and recuperations of the plays challenges to dominant meanings of gender This book will be of interest to scholars and students of dramatic literature theatre and women s studies Treading the bawds Gilli Bush-Bailey, 2013-07-19 Drawing on feminist cultural materialist theories and historiographies Treading the bawds analyses the collaboration between actresses Elizabeth Barry and Anne Bracegirdle and women playwrights such as Aphra Behn and Mary Pix and traces a line of influence from the time of the first theatres royal to the rebellion that resulted in the creation of a player s co operative Bush Bailey offers a fresh approach to the history of women seeing their neglected plays in the context of performance By combining detailed analysis of selected plays within the broader context of a playhouse managed by its leading actresses Bush Bailey challenges the received historical and literary canons including a radical solution to the mysterious identity of the anonymous playwright Ariadne It is a story of female collaboration and influence with the spotlight focused on the very public world of women in the commercial business of theatre
