Perils of Plenty Jonathan N. Markowitz, 2020-04-02 Climate change is rapidly melting Arctic ice unlocking natural resources in contestable areas This disruption has led to warnings of a return of the Great Game in which states scramble to project power to the ends of the earth to engage in militarized resource competition Which states will have the strongest interest in securing control over these resources and will they pursue these interests by projecting military force In Perils of Plenty Jonathan N Markowitz answers this question and sheds light on the prospects for the future of resource competition in the Arctic and beyond from the deserts of the Middle East to the tropic of the South China Sea The Nuclear North Susan Colbourn, Timothy Andrews Sayle, 2020-10-01 Since the first atomic weapon was detonated in 1945 Canadians have debated not only the role of nuclear power in their uranium rich land but also their country's role in a nuclear world The Nuclear North investigates critical questions in these ongoing debates Should Canada belong to international alliances that depend on the threat of using nuclear weapons for their own security Should Canadian produced nuclear technologies be exported to potential proliferators Does the country's championing of arms control and disarmament on the global stage matter What about the domestic costs of nuclear technologies and atomic research including their impact on local communities and the environment The contributors to this important collection consider how the atomic age has shaped Canadian policies at home and abroad Their incisive assessment of the country's nuclear history engages with much larger debates about national identity Canadian foreign policy contradictions during the Cold War and Canada's place in the international order

Diplomacy and its Discontents James Eayrs, 1971-01-01 James Eayrs is a keen and articulate observer of international politics His incisive critiques of the moral turpitude and inefficiency of the diplomatic profession in Right and Wrong in Foreign Policy and Fate and Will in Foreign Policy provoked unflattering attention and attempts at rebuttal by the statesmen and politicians who shape our foreign policy This volume makes these two controversial studies available once more bringing them up to date with discussions of the October crisis in Quebec and other recent events and incorporating the author's selection of his recent writings on the irrelevance or deliquescence of modern diplomacy All three parts of the book hold to a single theme the decay of diplomatic method In the incisive prose characteristic of all Eayrs writing these discourses present a convincing view of the tragic comedy of foreign affairs The general reader and the student of politics and international affairs will find this a perceptive analysis of statecraft full of insights into the workings of government

Cold War Fighters Randall Wakelam, 2011-11-03 The cancellation of the CF 105 Arrow in 1959 holds such a grip on the imagination of Canadians that earlier developments in defence procurement remain in the shadows Randall Wakelam corrects this oversight and offers fresh insight into the AVRO saga and contemporary procurement issues by detailing the complexities Canada's air force faced in buying fighter aircraft and by showing how the RCAF grew by leaps and bounds Wakelam shows that cabinet members chiefs of staff and air marshals were forced to negotiate competing pressures to arm the air force please allies and save money Their decisions resulted in the CF 100 Canuck and the F 86 Sabre Canada's front line defensive aircraft in the coldest years of the Cold War Although historians assume that the Arrow arrived on the heels of these successes Wakelam reveals that neither the air force nor the government believed AVRO could manufacture even the CF 100 on budget
