Longman Project Where Does Laughter Begin Longman Project:

Longman's Magazine Charles James Longman,1905 Longman's Magazine ,1901 Where Does Laughter Begin? ,2000 Designed to fit the National Curriculum this is part of the Longman Book Project The project aims to enable teachers throughout the primary school to teach language fiction and non fiction A Clash of Paradigms: Response and Development in the South Pacific Suan Maiava,2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2001 This study indicates that researchers have far to go in understanding and assessing how development projects work The author shows that often the perception of failure is not shared by those whom were intended to benefit She uses a case study of Samoan villagers introduced to cattle farming to examine the wider development process and challenge the conventional theories By drawing on people centred perspectives that give much greater weight to the role of culture in development the volume does not simply criticize development project management but suggests practical and positive ways forward encouraging spontaneous indigenous development which should be supported by projects where appropriate The Experiment Must Continue Melissa Graboyes,2015-11-09 The Experiment Must Continue is a beautifully articulated ethnographic history of medical experimentation in East Africa from 1940 through 2014 In it Melissa Graboyes combines her training in public health and in history to treat her subject with the dual sensitivities of a medical ethicist and a fine historian She breathes life into the fascinating histories of research on human subjects elucidating the hopes of the interventionists and the experiences of the putative beneficiaries Historical case studies highlight failed attempts to eliminate tropical diseases while modern examples delve into ongoing malaria and HIV AIDS research Collectively these show how East Africans have perceived research differently than researchers do and that the active participation of subjects led to the creation of a hybrid ethical form By writing an ethnography of the past and a history of the present Graboyes casts medical experimentation in a new light and makes the resounding case that we must readjust our dominant ideas of consent participation and exploitation With global implications this lively book is as relevant for scholars as it is for anyone invested in the place of medicine in society

Children in Opera Andrew Sutherland, 2020-12-03 This book provides a musicological investigation into operas that include children Just over 100 works have been selected here for an in depth discussion of the composer the children and the productions and around 250 relevant works from around the world are also referenced Four composers to have most significantly proliferated the medium are discussed in even greater detail Cui Benjamin Britten Gian Carlo Menotti and Peter Maxwell Davies Since opera began it has been inextricably linked to society by reflecting and shaping our culture through music and narrative and as a result children have been involved Despite the contribution they played for several centuries their importance was overlooked By tracing the development of children's participation in opera this book uncovers the changing attitudes of composers towards them and how this was reflected in the wider society From the early productions of the seventeenth century to those of the twenty first century the operatic children's role has undergone a fundamental change It almost seems that contemporary composers of operas view the inclusion of children in some way as ubiquitous The rise of the children's opera chorus and the explosion of children's only productions attest to the changing view of the value they can bring to the art Some of the children to have characterised these roles are discussed in this book in order to redress the disproportionate lack of acknowledgement they often received for their performances
