Easy Peasy Lesley Glaister, 2014-12-30 A WWII vet's suicide drives his daughter to uncover his troubled past in this absorbing poignant novel from the award winning author of Partial Eclipse Publishers Weekly Zelda Dawkins knows her older lover Foxy is going to leave her As Zelda prays for something anything to prevent the inevitable she receives a call from her mother Zelda's father a World War II prisoner of war has hanged himself It's not what Zelda wanted It's also not unexpected Zelda comes from a family of unspoken things Foxy is hers But for Zelda her father's suicide is more than a wellspring for her grief rage and guilt It was his final escape from the screaming nightmares that kept her awake when she was young and the closely guarded secret he took to bed with him It's also stirring in Zelda memories and unanswered questions of her childhood Why did her father seem to reject her in favor of a damaged neighborhood boy named Vassil Why was he so taken with the boy's mother a prostitute How did Vassil come to be so disfigured And what happened to her father those five years in a Japanese prison camp It's time for Zelda to confront the past its legacy of cruelty and to unearth the secrets her father's and her own that have cast a shadow over her life A writer of addictive emotional thrillers as if Ruth Rendell had got hold of an A.S. Percepts, Concepts and Categories B. Burns,1992-10-09 The most important distinction derived from the computational view of thought is between structures and processes So proclaimed Farah and Kosslyn in 1982 arguing that structures and processes cannot be examined in isolation and concluding that converging operations are required to isolate the structure process pair that can explain a particular finding The distinction between structure and process within the study of percepts concepts and categories is considered in depth in this volume with penetrating commentaries by fellow authors concluding each chapter This interesting format achieves a broad coverage of the various aspects and implications of the structure process distinction It affords a salient indication of the diversity of positions as to the description and utility of distinguishing structures and processors At the same time it reveals that researchers specializing in areas of study ranging from simple structure and process involved in perceptual organization and texture to complex structure and process associated with reading graphs and chess expertise do utilize such a distinction in similar ways The analysis is organized into four major parts within the book Early Visual Representation and Processing Percepts Concepts Categories and Development Categories Concepts and Learning and Higher Order Representation and Processing Modest Nonconceptualism Eva Schmidt,2015-07-06 The author defends nonconceptualism the claim that perceptual experience is nonconceptual and has nonconceptual content Continuing the heated and complex debate surrounding this topic over the past two decades she offers a sustained defense of a novel version of the view Modest Nonconceptualism and provides a systematic overview of some of the central controversies in the debate An explication of the notion of nonconceptual content and a distinction between nonconceptualist views of different strengths starts off the volume then the author goes on to defend participants in the debate over nonconceptual content against the allegation that their failure to distinguish between a state view and a content view of non conceptualism leads to fatal problems for their views Next she makes a case for nonconceptualism by refining some of the central arguments for the view such as the arguments from fineness of grain from contradictory contents from animal and infant perception and from concept acquisition Then two central objections against nonconceptualism are rebutted in a novel way the epistemological objection and the objection from objectivity Modest Nonconceptualism allows for perceptual experiences to involve some conceptual elements It emphasizes the relevance of concept employment for an understanding of conceptual and nonconceptual mental states and identifies the nonconceptual content of experience with scenario content It insists on the possibility of genuine content bearing perceptual experience without concept possession and is thus in line with the Autonomy Thesis Finally it includes an account of perceptual justification that relies on the external contents of experience and belief yet is compatible with epistemological internalism
