This collection draws together the work of authors from Indonesia, Australia, North America, and Europe in the first comprehensive attempt to relate modern Indonesian literature to the insights and approaches of postcolonial theory and literary criticism. The essays in the collection range over the history of modern Indonesian literature from its beginnings in the late nineteenth century to its diversity and growth in the 1990s. Some offer the fresh readings of well-known texts; others draw attention to aspects of the Indonesian literary tradition that have hitherto escaped the notice of scholars and critics. Grounded in detailed analysis of local contexts yet enlivened by comparative and theoretical perspectives, the collection places Indonesian literature at the heart of contemporary cultural concerns. Salmon, Surviving Space. Andrew Briggs, 2018-06-13. Surviving Space is a collection of papers on infant observation and related issues by contemporary experts in the field, commemorating the centenary of Esther Bick and the unique contribution she has made to psychoanalytic theory. Infant observation is crucial to most psychotherapy training, and this work would be of obvious value to those commencing their training as well as valuable insights for all psychotherapists. Do-It-Yourself Space Clearing Kit. Christan Hummel, 2004-06. The CD which comes with the Do It Yourself Space Clearing book is a guided meditation of the clearing processes outlined in the book. Ireland's Magdalen Laundries and the Nation's Architecture of Containment. James M. Smith, 2007-09-01. The Magdalen laundries were workhouses in which many Irish women and girls were effectively imprisoned because they were perceived to be a threat to the moral fiber of society. Mandated by the Irish state beginning in the eighteenth century, they were operated by various orders of the Catholic Church until the last laundry closed in 1996. A few years earlier in 1993 an order of nuns in Dublin sold part of their Magdalen convent to a real estate developer. The remains of 155 inmates buried in unmarked graves on the property were exhumed, cremated and buried elsewhere in a mass grave. This triggered a public scandal in Ireland and since then the Magdalen laundries have become an important issue in Irish culture, especially with the 2002 release of the film The Magdalene Sisters. Focusing on the ten Catholic Magdalen laundries operating between 1922 and 1996, Ireland's Magdalen Laundries and the Nation's Architecture of Containment offers the first history of women entering these institutions in the twentieth century. Because the religious orders have not opened their archival records, Smith argues that Ireland's Magdalen institutions continue to exist in the public mind primarily at the level of story, cultural representation and survivor testimony rather than history, archival history and documentation. Addressed to academic and general readers alike, James M. Smith's book accomplishes three primary objectives. First, it connects what history we have of the Magdalen laundries to Ireland's architecture of containment that made undesirable segments of the female population such as illegitimate children, single mothers and sexually promiscuous women literally invisible. Second, it critically evaluates cultural representations in drama and visual art of the laundries that have over the past fifteen years brought them significant attention in Irish culture. Finally, Smith challenges the nation, church, state and society to acknowledge its complicity in Ireland's Magdalen scandal and to offer redress for victims and survivors alike.

Imagining Motherhood in Contemporary Irish and Caribbean Literature Abigail L. Palko, 2016-07-25. Imagining Motherhood in Contemporary Irish and Caribbean Literature undertakes a comparative transnational reading to develop more expansive literary models of good mothering. Abigail L. Palko argues that Irish and Caribbean literary representations of non-normative mothering practices do not reflect transgressive or dangerous mothering but are rather cultural negotiations of the definition of a good mother. This original book demonstrates the sustained commitment to countering the dominant ideologies of maternal self-sacrifice foundational to both Irish and Caribbean nationalist rhetoric, offering instead the possibility of integrating maternal agency into an effective model of female citizenship.

Ain't I a Woman! Illona Linthwaite, 1993. Spanning the centuries from Sappho's Greece to tenth-century Japan, from nineteenth-century Chile to Zindiswa Mandela's twentieth-century South Africa, the voices of these women poets express themes of love, injustice, motherhood and loss, and the oppressions of race and sex. The sequence of the poems moves from youth to old age and they bear witness to the triumphs as well as the pain and frustration of women in many times and in many places. Among the many poets whose work is included are Anna Akhmatova, Maya Angelou, Judith Kazantzis, Gabriela Mistral, Marge Piercy, Irina Ratushinskaya and Alice Walker. Illona Linthwaite began gathering this collection several years ago initially for a theatrical performance. Here, in this unique exchange between women of many races affirming their differences and what they have in common, are more than 150 poems which assert the black abolitionist Sojourner Truth's challenge, Ain't I a Woman. In addition to the poems, there are biographies of the 91 contributors.

Parks,2011-01-17 A Professional Organizer shares intimate stories of her clients and herself as she pursues her mission of clearing the planet one closet at a time Funny poignant touching and inspiring Writing Bonds Manuela Palacios,Laura Lojo,2009 This book focuses on the emergence of women poets from the 1980s to the present in both Ireland and Galicia Departing from common ground in shared myths and comparable political and social circumstances each contributor to this volume looks into central aspects of Irish and Galician identity issues which range from configurations of the nation nature and feminine paradigms to the poets elaborations on their own literary practice The comparative approach followed shows both that questions raised in one community can find relevant answers in the other and that reciprocal knowledge helps to disseminate the writers work and the criticism of it beyond their respective national borders This collection of essays and interviews also provides both poets and critics with a mutual space in which to voice their concerns thus bringing down the barrier that is often raised artificially between these two literary activities
