The Power Paradox Dacher Keltner, 2017-05-16 A revolutionary and timely reconsideration of everything we know about power Celebrated UC Berkeley psychologist Dr Dacher Keltner argues that compassion and selflessness enable us to have the most influence over others and the result is power as a force for good in the world Power is ubiquitous but totally misunderstood Turning conventional wisdom on its head Dr Dacher Keltner presents the very idea of power in a whole new light demonstrating not just how it is a force for good in the world but how via compassion and selflessness it is attainable for each and every one of us It is taken for granted that power corrupts This is reinforced culturally by everything from Machiavelli to contemporary politics But how do we get power And how does it change our behavior So often in spite of our best intentions we lose our hard won power Enduring power comes from empathy and giving Above all power is given to us by other people This is what we all too often forget and it is the crux of the power paradox by misunderstanding the behaviors that helped us to gain power in the first place we set ourselves up to fall from power We abuse and lose our power at work in our family life with our friends because we've never understood it correctly until now Power isn't the capacity to act in cruel and uncaring ways it is the ability to do good for others expressed in daily life and in and of itself a good thing Dr Keltner lays out exactly in twenty original Power Principles how to retain power why power can be a demonstrably good thing when we are likely to abuse power and the terrible consequences of letting those around us languish in powerlessness
