THE PROCESS OF HUMAN JUDGMENT Human judgment is a process through which an individual uses social information to make decisions The social information is obtained from an individual's environment and is interpreted through the individual's cognitive image of the environment The cognitive image provides a representation of the environment based on past experiences and training and essentially predisposes the person to respond to social information in predictable ways An individual's policies or beliefs about the environment represent these patterns Human judgments are based then upon one's interpretation of available information They are probability statements about one's environment and how one reacts to it This condition leads to the human judgment process being inherently limited It is fundamentally a covert process It is seldom possible for an individual to accurately describe his or her judgment process accurately Rutter's Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Anita Thapar, Daniel S. Pine, James F. Leckman, Stephen Scott, Margaret J. Snowling, Eric A. Taylor, 2017-12-26

I strongly recommend this book to every child psychiatrist who wants a reliable up to date comprehensive, informative, and very useful textbook. To my mind, this is the best book of its kind available today. Journal of Child Psychology and Psychiatry. Picking up the Pieces Mustafa Chowdhury, 2015-07-07. Chowdhury describes the journeys to Canada of the first contingent of 15 war babies that were embraced by their adoptive parents when they reached their new homes in Canada in July 1972, breaking the racial boundaries and re-defining what a family could be. Products of one of the most outrageous crimes, these babies were conceived by Bangladeshi women, victims of sexual crimes committed by the Pakistani military personnel in Occupied Bangladesh. Since it was a case of enforced pregnancy through penile penetration against the will of the victims, the undesirable newborns were seen as disposable or throw away babies by both the birth mothers and the Bangladeshi society. Through sharp analysis, Chowdhury has illustrated, with poignant vignettes, an important fact of life: that human beings desire and need close relationships. Using archival records, International Social Service, International Planned Parenthood Federation Library and Archives, Canada, Department of External Affairs and Manpower and Immigration in Canada, and the Department of Labour and Welfare of the Government of Bangladesh, Missionaries of Charity, and the Families For Children, Chowdhury examined the well-being of the war babies and their parents through the years, with anecdotes of their rearing, nurturing, and becoming adults in Canada, the country they call home. Working with Adoptive Parents Virginia M.
