We Europeans? Tony Kushner,2017-03-02 We Europeans is the first book length study of the original mass observation project It is also the first detailed historical study of the formation of ordinary people s racial attitudes in Britain Drawing upon historical literary cultural and anthropological approaches this book examines the sources of cultural identity in Britain in the twentieth century and how these were shaped through the influences of family education and everyday high and low culture The examination focuses on the archives of the British social anthropological organization Mass Observation and is the first detailed history of it to be published. Founded in the 1930s by poets, psychoanalysts, surrealists and sociologists among others, the purpose of the organization was to create an anthropology of the British people by the natives themselves through the use of diaries, directives and special surveys. The organization was active from 1937 to 1951, then revived in the 1980s when a new group of Mass Observers were recruited to keep diaries and respond to directives. Both the historical archive of Mass Observation and the more recent material provide fascinating insight into the everyday lives and formation of identities of ordinary people in Britain. Kushner places the material from these archives in the context of other contemporary writings through them he explores grassroots identities in Britain in relation to the outside world, especially Europe, but also the former Empire and the USA. This study will be of interest to scholars of sociology, cultural studies, literary studies and history who are particularly interested in race, race relations, immigration and cultural difference. London in Cinema Charlotte Brunsdon, 2019-07-25 Charlotte Brunsdon's illuminating study explores the variety of cinematic Londons that appear in films made since 1945. Brunsdon traces the familiar ways that film makers establish that a film is set in London by use of recognisable landmarks and the city's shorthand iconography of red buses and black taxis, as well as the ways in which these icons are avoided. She looks at London weather, fog and rain and everyday locations like the pub and the housing estate while also examining the recurring patterns of representation associated with films set in the East and West Ends of London. From Spring in Park Lane 1948 to Mona Lisa 1986 and from Night and the City 1950 to From Hell 2001, Brunsdon provides a detailed analysis of a selection of films exploring their contribution to the cinematic geography of London and showing the ways in which feature films have responded to and created changing views of the city. She traces London's transformation from imperial capital to global city through the different ways in which the local is imagined in films ranging from Ealing comedies to Pressure 1974, as well as through the shifting imagery of the River Thames and the Docks. She addresses the role of cinematic genres such as horror and film noir in the constitution of the cinematic city as well as the recurrence of figures such as the cockney, the gangster and the housewife. Challenging the view that London is not a particularly cinematic city, Brunsdon demonstrates that many London set films offer their own meditation on the complex relationships between the cinema and the city. A Text-book of medicine for students and practitioners v. 1 Adolf von Strümpell, 1911

The Future of Cultural Analysis Murat Aydemir, Noa Roei, Aylin Kuryel, 2025-10-01 Across the humanities and the social sciences, cultural analysis is a vibrant research practice. Since its introduction in the 1990s, its main principles have remained largely the same: interdisciplinarity, political urgency, a heuristic use of concepts, the detailed analysis of objects of culture, and an awareness of the scholar's situatedness in the present. But is the practice still suited to the spiraling of social political and environmental crises that mark our time Drawing on experiences in research teaching activism and the creative arts contributors explore what cultural analysis was back then what it is now and what it may be by 2034 In a shifting conjuncture contributors strike notes of discomfort defiance and irony as well as a renewed sense of urgency and care

Gaming Democracy Adrienne L. Massanari, 2024-10-29 How play and gaming culture have mainstreamed far right ideology through social media platforms From Gamergate to the ongoing Big Lie the far right has gone mainstream In Gaming Democracy Adrienne Massanari tracks the flames of toxicity found in the far right and alt right movements as they increasingly take up oxygen in American and global society In this pathbreaking contribution to the fields of internet studies game studies and gender studies Massanari argues that Silicon Valley's emphasis on meritocracy and free speech absolutism has driven this rightward slide These ideologies have been coded into social media spaces that implicitly silence marginalized communities and subject them to rampant abuse by groups that have learned to game the ecology of platforms algorithms and attention economies While populist movements are not new phenomena such as QAnon parental rights activism and COVID denialism are uniquely of the internet with supporters demonstrating both technical acumen and an ability to use memes and play as a way of both building community and fomenting dissent Massanari explores the ways that the far right uses memetic humor and geek masculinity as tools both to create a sense of community within these leaderless groups and to obfuscate their intentions Using the lens of play and game studies as well as the concept of metagaming Gaming Democracy is a novel contribution to our understanding of online platforms and far right political activism
