Poverty, Inequality and Development Alain De Janvry, S. M. Ravi Kanbur, 2005

Poverty, Inequality and Rural Development David Greenaway, Tim Lloyd, Oliver Morrissey, 1994-09-12

Poverty alleviation is a major objective of development More than a fifth of the world's population lives in absolute poverty and the majority of the poor live in rural areas This volume studies what can be done for alleviating rural poverty Four chapters address the measurement of poverty and inequality including the use of household expenditure surveys and intra household income distribution Evidence is presented for India Mauritania Cte d Ivoire and China Other chapters present case studies on strategies for rural development provision of rural credit in Bangladesh and India technical change in Philippine agriculture contract farming in Thailand and banana growers in the Windwards The contributions introduce the problems of rural development and show that effective rural development is assisted by investment in education and secure access to credit that equity is important for incentives but not directly related to poverty and that technical and institutional reform are essential but require careful design and implementation

Growth, Inequality, and Poverty Anthony Shorrocks, Rolph van der Hoeven, 2004-03-04 This is a collection of papers examining the pressing issue of increasing inequality in the distribution of income in developing countries While economic growth is a prerequisite for a sustained reduction in poverty policies aimed at raising growth rates are often associated with a range of adverse short term effects including rising unemployment greater economic insecurity environmental degradation and the weakening of traditional social safety nets Pro poor growth strategies attempt to address these short term problems But the ideal mix of policies and their impact on the prospects for poverty reduction in the longer run remain controversial topics Growth Inequality and Poverty comprises many of the most important contributions to the current debate

Poverty, Inequality, and Human Capital Development in Latin America, 1950-2025 Juan Luis Londoño de la Cuesta, 1996 Presents and analyzes data on extent of and trends in poverty from 1950 94 Uses these trends to project poverty to 2025 Concludes that rapid decreases in poverty will occur only if region devotes significantly more resources to education Handbook of Latin American Studies v 57

The End of Poverty Peter Edward, Andy Sumner, 2019-05-06 In this book Edward and Sumner argue that to better understand the impact of global growth on poverty it is necessary to consider what happens across a wide range of poverty lines Starting with the same datasets used to produce official estimates of global poverty they create a model of global consumption that spans the entire world s population They go on to demonstrate how their model can be utilised to understand how different poverty lines imply very different visions of how the global economy needs to work in order for poverty to be eradicated

The Short Guide to International Development Nick Sage, 2022-07-19 International development is a vibrant interdisciplinary area of the social sciences This Short Guide offers a uniquely succinct and balanced account of this politically charged subject It distils both the classic and newer debates together in a clear framework and illustrates them with contemporary examples Designed to introduce a wide readership to international development the book considers how far the field has been reconfigured over time and to what extent it is likely to change in the future reviews contemporary topics including tourism migration and digital technologies includes distinctive international case studies and examples By providing a succinct evaluation of competing approaches to and perspectives on the idea and practice of international development this book offers students across the social sciences a distinct and invaluable introduction to the field

Poverty, Inequality and Development in Dual Economies with Urban Informal Sectors Ira N. Gang, Arindam Das-Gupta, 1985

Poverty, Inequality, and Evaluation Ray C. Rist, Frederic P. Martin, Ana María Fernández, 2015-10-15 The basic premise of this book is that the conversation on the future of development needs to shift from a focus on poverty to that of inequality The poverty emphasis is in an intellectual and political cul de sac It does not address the fundamental question of why people are poor nor what can be done structurally and institutionally to reduce and eliminate it The various chapters illustrate in the context of various countries and sectors around the world the significant contributions that evaluators can make in terms of improvement of the analytical framework analysis of the performance and results of specific programs and projects as well as assessing and designing better public management systems in terms of poverty and inequality reduction Beyond the specific contributions presented three characteristics characterize those evaluations to be relevant for poverty and inequality analysis a global local approach Global to move beyond disciplinary boundaries and consider cross cutting issues local to account for the diversity of countries sectors institutions and cultures considered a problem solving orientation

The issue evaluated is the core focus and determines the choice of evaluation methods to analyze this issue from a variety of angles an evolutionary approach Chapters presented are from iconoclasts who do not have any pre established theory or school of thought to defend This is the result of openness of mind and ability to adapt the analytical framework the evaluation methods and the interpretation of results in a constant interaction with the stakeholders Such characteristics make evaluation a domain that can help understand better complex issues like poverty inequality vulnerability and their interactions as well as propose a relevant and useful theory of change for public policies and projects to improve the plight of a large part of the world population in industrialized and developing countries alike Poverty, Inequality and Development Achsah Carrier, Maev O'Collins, 1987 Poverty, Inequality, and the Measurement of Development Performance Gary S. Fields, 1977
