Reflections In The Mirror Of Religion Ninian Smart:

Reflections in the Mirror of Religion Ninian Smart, 1997 The essays selected for this volume represent Professor Ninian Smart's most contemporary reflections on major issues in the field of religious studies. Beginning with investigations into the possibility of a science of religion, Professor Smart then goes on to consider how a sociology of religious knowledge can be developed, focusing in particular on Asian cultures and traditions. Finally, he analyses the growth of religious studies as an academic field, a field his own work has helped to shape in a definitive way. Ninian Smart on World Religions: Traditions and the challenges of modernity. I. Individual traditions. Buddhism. 'Mysticism and scripture in Theravāda Buddhism' Ninian Smart, 2009 Ninian Smart came to public prominence as the founding Professor of the first British university Department of Religious Studies in the late 1960s. His pioneering views on education in religion proved hugely influential at all levels, from primary schools to academic teaching and research. An unending string of publications, many of them accessible to the general public, sustained a reputation that became worldwide. Here for the first time a selection of Ninian Smart's wide-ranging writings is organised systematically under a set of categories which both comprehend and also illuminate his varied output over a career spanning half a century. The editor, John Shepherd, was Principal Lecturer in Religion and Philosophy at the University of Cumbria. He first met Smart as a postgraduate student and recently helped establish the Ninian Smart Archive at the University of Lancaster. Ninian Smart on World Religions John J. Maya Christians and Their Churches in Sixteenth-Century Belize Elizabeth Graham, 2020-03-17 It is widely held that Christianity came to Belize as an extension of the conquest of Yucatan and that adherence to Christian belief and practice was abandoned in the absence of enduring Spanish authority. An alternative view comes from the excavations of Maya churches at Tipu and Lamanai which show that the dead were buried in Christian churchyards long after the churches themselves fell into disuse and pre-Columbian ritual objects were cached in Christian sacred spaces both during and after Spanish occupation. Excavations also reveal that the architectural style of these early churches is Franciscan in inspiration but nonetheless the product of continuing community efforts at construction and repair. A conclusion difficult to ignore is that the Maya of Tipu and Lamanai considered themselves Christians with or without Spanish presence. Viewing historical and archaeological data through the lens of her personal experience of Roman Catholicism and informed by feminist approaches, Elizabeth Graham assesses the concept of religion, the significance of doctrine, the empowerment of the individual and the process of conversion by examining the meanings attributed to ideas, objects and images by the Maya, by Iberian Christians and by archaeologists. Graham's provocative study also makes the case that the impact of Christianity in Belize was a phenomenon that uniquely shaped the development of the modern nation. A volume in the series Maya Studies edited by Diane Z. Chase and Arlen F. Chase.

Rudolf Otto and the Foundation of the History of Religions Yoshitsugu Sawai, 2022-02-10 This book provides an up-to-date treatment of Rudolf Otto and his work, placing him in the context of comparative religion, theology and the philosophy of religion. Yoshitsugu Sawai shows how Otto has three faces: the Lutheran Theologian, the Philosopher of Religion and the Comparative Religionist. The book also shows how Otto saw himself primarily as a Lutheran Theologian and provides an account of Otto's engagement with India and the centrality that Hindu theology had on his thinking. In Otto's theory of religion, his well-known concepts including the wholly other and the numinous constitute a multiple structure of meaning. For example, his concept of the wholly other, das ganz Andere, no doubt has the meaning of God in his Christian theological studies. At the same time, however, from the perspective of comparative religion or the phenomenology of religion, this same term semantically implies the ultimate reality of other religious traditions: Brahman and God, Isvara in Hindu religious tradition as well as God in Christianity.
