Reflexive Ethnography Charlotte Aull Davies,2012 Reflexive Ethnography is a unique guide to ethnographic research for students of anthropology and related disciplines It provides practical and comprehensive guidance to ethnographic research methods but also encourages students to develop a critical understanding of the philosophical basis of ethnographic authority Davies examines why reflexivity at both personal and broader cultural levels should be integrated into ethnographic research and discusses how this can be accomplished for a variety of research methods This revised and updated second edition includes a new chapter on internet based research and interethnography chapters on selection of topics and methods data collection and analysis and ethics and politics of research practical advice on writing up ethnographic study new and updated research examples Postmodernist relativism can lead to an over emphasis on reflexivity that denies the possibility of social research Reflexive Ethnography utilises postmodernist insights incorporation of different standpoints exposure of the intellectual tyranny of meta narratives but proposes that reflexive ethnographic research be undertaken from a realist perspective Reflexive Ethnography will help students to use and understand ethnographic research practices that fully incorporate reflexivity without abandoning claims to develop valid knowledge of social reality

Learning in Work Raymond Smith,2018-04-11 This book explores and progresses the concept of negotiation as a means of describing and explaining individuals learning in work It challenges the undertheorised and generic use of the concept in contemporary work learning research where the concept of negotiation is most often deployed as a taken for granted synonym for interaction co participation and collaboration and hence used to unproblematically account for workers learning as engagement in social activity Through a focus on workers personal practice and based on extensive longitudinal empirical research the book advances a conceptual framework The Three Dimensions of Negotiation to propose a more rigorous and work learning specific understanding of the concept of negotiation This framework enables workers personal work practices and their contributions to the personal organisational and occupational changes that evidence learning to be viewed as negotiations enacted and managed within contexts that are in turn sets of premeditate and concurrent negotiations that frame the transformations on and from which on going negotiations of learning and practice ensue The book does not seek to supplant understandings of the rich and valuable concept of negotiation Rather it seeks to develop and promote a more explicit use of the concept as a socio personal learning concept at the same time as it opens alternative perspectives on its deployment as a metaphor for individual s learning in work
