Refugee Manipulation War Politics And The Abuse Of Human Suffering:

Refugee Manipulation Stephen John Stedman, Dr. Fred Tanner, 2004-05-13 Since World War II refugee organizations have faced a recurrent challenge the manipulation of refugees by warring parties to further their own aims Some armies in civil wars facing military defeat use refugees as assets to establish the international legitimacy of their cause treat refugee camps as sanctuaries and recruitment pools and limit access to refugees to ensure that they will not repatriate Focusing on the geopolitical security environment surrounding militarized camps and the response of humanitarian agencies the contributors to this volume examine the ways armed groups manipulate refugees and how and why international actors assist their manipulation They then offer suggestions for reducing the ability of such groups to use the suffering of refugees to their own advantage The contributors examine three cases Cambodian refugees along the Thai border in the 1970s and 1980s Afghan refugees in Pakistan in the 1980s and 1990s and Rwandan refugees in Eastern Zaire from 1994-96 They argue that refugee manipulation occurs because warring parties gain resources in their fight for power and other actors often the host government and regional and major powers encourage and support it Manipulation is allowed to occur because the international refugee regime and major states have not identified a consistent approach to stopping it In the post Cold War era the United Nations and its members have chosen to treat the issue as a humanitarian problem instead of a security problem As the contributors make clear however manipulation of refugees has important ramifications for international security turning some civil wars into larger protracted regional wars They argue that the geopolitics of refugee manipulation leads to sanguine conclusions about stopping it Solutions must change the moral political and strategic calculations of states that are implicated in the manipulation As long as the problem is not deemed a security threat

Anti-Refugee Violence and African Politics

Ato Kwamena Onoma, 2013-10-07 Using comparative cases from Guinea Uganda and the Democratic Republic of Congo this study explains why some refugee hosting communities launch large scale attacks on civilian refugees whereas others refrain from such attacks even when encouraged to do so by state officials Ato Kwamena Onoma argues that such outbreaks only happen when states instigate them because of links between a few refugees and opposition groups Locals embrace these attacks when refugees are settled in areas that privilege residence over indigeneity in the distribution of rights ensuring that they live autonomously of local elites The resulting opacity of their lives leads locals to buy into their demonization by the state Locals do not buy into state denunciation of refugees in areas that privilege indigeneity over residence in the distribution of rights because refugees in such areas are subjugated to locals who come to know them very well Onoma reorients the study of refugees back to a focus on the disempowered civilian refugees that constitute the majority of refugees even in cases of severe refugee militarization

The Oxford Handbook of Refugee and Forced Migration Studies

Elena Fiddian-Qasbiyeh, Gil Loescher, Katy Long, Nando Sigona, 2014-06-12 Refugee and Forced Migration Studies has grown from being a concern of a relatively small number of scholars and policy researchers in the 1980s to a global field of interest with thousands of students worldwide studying displacement either from traditional disciplinary perspectives or as a core component of newer programmes across the Humanities and Social and Political Sciences Today the field encompasses both rigorous academic research which may or may not ultimately inform policy and practice as well as action research focused on advocating in favour of refugees needs and rights This authoritative Handbook critically evaluates the birth and development of Refugee and Forced Migration Studies and analyses the key contemporary and future challenges faced by academics and practitioners working with and for forcibly displaced populations around the world The 52 state of the art chapters written by leading academics practitioners and policymakers working in universities research centres think tanks NGOs and international organizations provide a comprehensive and cutting edge overview of the key intellectual political social and institutional challenges arising from mass displacement in the world today The chapters vividly illustrate the vibrant and engaging debates that characterize this rapidly expanding field of research and practice

Biopolitics, Necropolitics, Cosmopolitics C.L. Quinan, Kathrin Thiele, 2021-03-25 The concepts of biopolitics and necropolitics have increasingly gained scholarly attention particularly in light of today's urgent and troubling issues that mark some lives as more or less worthy than others including the migration crisis rise of populism on a global scale homonationalist practices and state sanctioned targeting of gender sexual racial and ethnic others This book aims to nuance this conversation by emphasising feminist and queer investments and interventions and by adding the analytical lens of cosmopolitics to ongoing debates around life living and death dying in the current political climate In this way we move forward toward envisioning feminist and queer futures that rethink categories such as human and subjectivity based on classical modern premises Informed by feminist queer studies postcolonial theory cultural analysis and critical posthumanism Biopolitics Necropolitics Cosmopolitics engages with longstanding questions of biopolitics and necropolitics in an era of neoliberalism and late capitalism but does so by urging for a more inclusive and less violent cosmopolitical framework Taking account of these global dynamics that are shaped by asymmetrical power relations this fruitful posthumanist and post decolonial approach allows for visions of transformation of the matrix of inclusion/exclusion into feminist queer futures that work towards planetary social justice This book is a significant new contribution to feminist and queer philosophy and politics and will be of interest to academics researchers and advanced students of gender studies postcolonial studies sociology philosophy politics and law The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Gender Studies

The Oxford Handbook of Late Colonial Insurgencies and Counter-Insurgencies Martin Thomas, Gareth Curless, 2023-10-10 The lethality of conflicts between insurgent groups and counter insurgent security forces has risen markedly since the Second World War just as those of conventional or inter state wars have declined For several decades conflicts within states rather than between them have been the prevalent form of organised political violence worldwide Recent conflicts in Afghanistan Iraq and Syria have fired interest in colonial experiences of rebellion while current western interventions in sub Saharan Africa have prompted accusations of militarist humanitarianism Yet despite mounting interest in counter insurgency and empire comparative investigation of colonial responses to insurrection and civil disorder is sparse Some scholars have written of a golden age of counter insurgency which began with Britain s declaration of a Malayan Emergency in 1948 and ended with the withdrawal of US ground troops from Vietnam in 1973 It is with this period if not with any presumed golden age that this volume is concerned This Handbook connects ideas about contested decolonization and the insurgencies that inspired it with an analysis of patterns and singularities in the conflicts that precipitated the collapse of overseas empires It attempts a systematic study of the global effects of organized anti colonial violence in Asia and Africa The objective is to reconceptualize late colonial violence in the European overseas empires by exploring its distinctive character and the globalizing processes underpinning it

Handbook of Research on the Regulation of the Modern Global Migration and Economic Crisis Alaverdov, Emilia,Bari, Muhammad Waseem,2023-02-17 Migration is not a new phenomenon it has a centuries long history since the world s population has been characterized by the desire to relocate not only from one country to another but from one continent to another as well However there is a significant difference between the migrations of the past and the current one Today s migration is complicated by the strong emotional reaction and hostile attitude from society The study of migration processes needs interdisciplinary approaches The Handbook of Research on the Regulation of the Modern Global Migration and Economic Crisis presents emerging research and case studies on global migration in the modern world Through interdisciplinary approaches it further showcases the current challenges and approaches in regulation Covering topics such as forced migration human trafficking and national identity this major reference work is an excellent resource for migration specialists government officials politicians sociologists economists students and educators of higher education researchers and academicians

Social Networks and Migration in Wartime Afghanistan K. Harpviken,2009-05-14 Drawing on fieldwork in the Herat area Afghanistan this book addresses migration patterns throughout three decades of war It launches a framework for understanding the role of social networks for people s responses to war and disaster as well as mobilizing or maintaining material resources for security and gathering information

Refugees in International Relations Alexander Betts,Gil Loescher,2011 Drawing together the work and ideas of a combination of the world s leading and emerging International Relations scholars Refugees in International Relations provides a comprehensive and challenging overview of the international politics of forced migration

Global Politics of Health Sara Davies,2010-02 International responses to the outbreak of SARS the spread of HIV AIDS and the promotion of health as a human right all demonstrate how global politics have a profound effect on the way we think about and respond to major health challenges Despite a growing interest in the relationship between health and international relations there has yet to be a systematic study of the links between them Global Politics of Health aims to fill this gap ultimately showing how world politics can be good or bad for your health This book calls for a more nuanced understanding of the nature of the current global health crisis and the political dilemmas faced by those responsible for the development and implementation of responses to it By charting these debates and showing how they shape the way actors think about key issues relating to health such as people movement infectious disease the business of health and the consequences of war this volume provides an innovative and comprehensive introduction to health and international relations for students of global politics health studies and related disciplines

Asymmetrical Neighbors

Enze Han, 2019 Is the process of state building a unilateral national venture or is it something more collaborative taking place in the interstices between adjoining countries To answer this question Asymmetrical Neighbors takes a comparative look at the state building process along China Myanmar and Thailand's common borderland area It shows that the variations in state building among these neighboring countries are the result of an interactive process that occurs across national boundaries Departing from existing approaches that look at such processes from the angle of singular bounded territorial states the book argues that a more fruitful method is to examine how state and nation building in one country can influence and be influenced by the same processes across borders It argues that the success or failure of one country's state building is a process that extends beyond domestic factors such as war preparation political institutions and geographic and demographic variables Rather it shows that we should conceptualize state building as an interactive process heavily influenced by a neighborhood effect Furthermore the book moves beyond the academic boundaries that divide arbitrarily China studies and Southeast Asian studies by providing an analysis that ties the state and nation building processes in China with those of Southeast Asia

Extreme Politics Charles King, 2010-01-14 In this wide ranging set of essays Charles King examines the conceptual intersection of nationalist ideology social violence and the political transformation of Europe and Eurasia over the last two decades Extreme Politics charts the end of Eastern Europe as a place and chronicles the ongoing revolution in the scholarly study of Russia the Balkans and the wider postcommunist world The UNHCR and the Afghan Crisis Giulia Scalettaris,2023-11-10 Today the UNHCR is present in more than 130 countries and takes care of some 90 million people This book looks at how it is deployed and who its agents are By taking the reader through the offices in charge of the Afghan refugee crisis during the 2000s in Geneva and in Kabul the book shows the internal functioning of this international organization It provides analysis of Afghan refugee policies from an original position with the author being both agency official and anthropologist and articulates multiple levels of analysis the micropolitics of practices as much as the institution and the multi scalar power relations that shape its environment What is a Refugee? William Maley,2016 Refugee is a commonplace term that obscures myriad personal stories many contradictions and a more complex history than most people imagine as William Maley demonstrates Mobilising the Diaspora Alexander Betts,Will Jones,2016-11-17 This book shows how diasporas are mobilised to challenge authoritarian governments by whom for what purposes and with what consequences Ethnic Politics after Communism Zoltan Barany,Robert G. Moser,2018-07-05 The Soviet Union encompassed dozens of nationalities and ethnicities and in the wake of its collapse the politics of ethnicity within its former borders and throughout Eastern Europe have undergone tremendous changes In this book Zoltan Barany and Robert G Moser bring together eminent scholars whose theoretically diverse and empirically rich research examines various facets of ethnicity in postcommunist Europe and Eurasia ethnic identity and culture mobilization parties and voting conflict and ethnic migration The contributors consider how ethnic forces have influenced political outcomes that range from voting to violence and protest mobilization to language acquisition Conversely each chapter demonstrates that political behavior itself has an impact on the forms and strength of ethnic identity Thus ethnicity is deemed to be a contested malleable and constructed force rather than a static characteristic inherent in the attributes of groups and individuals with a common religion race or national origin Legitimising Rejection Sara Ellen Davies,2008 This book examines Southeast Asia s rejection of international refugee law through extensive archival analysis and argues that this rejection was shaped by the region s response to its largest refugee crisis in the post 1945 era the Indochinese refugee crisis from 1975 1996 The Dynamics of Violence in Central Africa René Lemarchand,2009-11-19 This collection of essays explores the contemporary crises in Rwanda Burundi and the Congo Kinshasa offering important new insights into the cycle of genocidal violence ethnic strife and civil war that has made the Great Lakes region of Central Africa the most violent on the continent Refugees United States.
