Boehme,2016-02-17 Artists and filmmakers in the early twentieth century reshaped our vision of the American West In particular the Taos Society of Artists and the California based artist Maynard Dixon departed from the legendary depiction of the Wild West and fostered new images or brands for western art This volume illustrated with more than 150 images examines select paintings and films to demonstrate how these artists both enhanced and contradicted earlier representations of the West Prior to this period American art tended to portray the West as a wild frontier with untamed lands and peoples. Renowned artists such as Henry Farny and Frederic Remington set their work in the past invoking an environment immersed in conflict and violence. This trademark perspective began to change however when artists enamored with the Southwest stamped a new imprint on their paintings. The contributors to this volume illuminate the complex ways in which early twentieth century artists as well as filmmakers evoked a southwestern environment not just suspended in time but also permanent rather than transient. Yet as the authors also reveal these artists were not entirely immune to the siren call of the vanishing West and their portrayal of peaceful yet exotic Native Americans was an expansion rather than a dismissal of earlier tropes. Both brands cast a romantic spell on the West and both have been seared into public consciousness. Branding the American West is published in association with the Brigham Young University Museum of Art Provo Utah and the Stark Museum of Art Orange Texas.

American Cowboy, 2002-05. You Don't Need a Passport to Move to New Mexico Debora L. Carr, 2009-05. You Don't Need a Passport to Move to New Mexico. By Debora L. Carr. When an east coast Jersey girl moves west to her new home on the range in Albuquerque it does not take long to figure out that they do things differently in New Mexico. She finds she has moved from a state that has perpetually been the butt of comedian's jokes to a state that is generally not even recognized as such by a large portion of the US population. A compilation of firmly tongue in cheek vignettes regarding life in New Mexico as viewed through the eyes of an oftentimes bewildered transplanted Easterner the reader is invited on a rollicking ride through a state filled with weird wonders from moss rocks to the mummy truck and populated with a cast of colorful characters such as Tat2 Tammy the Masked Man of Central Avenue and Jesus on a Harley to name but a few. Born out of the humorous newsletters Debora wrote and sent to friends and family members back east the book relates tales of crazy drivers odd customs and strange roadway sights amid a landscape straight out of a Roadrunner cartoon. All are part of the Land of Enchantment that is known as New Mexico. About the Author: Debora Carr was born and raised in the central New Jersey area graduating from Rutgers University with a BA in Art Education in 1980 and became a successful professional graphic artist and packaging designer. She chose to accompany her parents when they decided to relocate to and retire in Albuquerque New Mexico in 2003 where she continued her chosen profession of graphic artist working as a one person art department for a small print shop She continued to keep in touch with friends and family members back east by means of periodic humorous newsletters which she called her Albu Quirky Journals in which she detailed her perspective on life in New Mexico These collected essays were developed from those early newsletters and are written in a tongue in cheek style emulating those written by two of her favorite authors James Thurber and Mark Twain She has a penchant for collecting stories and photos of all things weird odd and unusual and is delighted to find that her new home state of New Mexico is overflowing with them ZANE GREY
