Charles Dickens in Cyberspace Jay Clayton, 2003-08-07 Charles Dickens in Cyberspace opens a window on a startling set of literary and scientific links between contemporary American culture and the nineteenth century heritage it often repudiates Surveying a wide range of novelists scientists filmmakers and theorists from the past two centuries Jay Clayton traces the concealed circuits that connect the telegraph with the Internet Charles Babbage s Difference Engine with the digital computer Frankenstein s monster with cyborgs and clones and Dickens life and fiction with all manner of contemporary popular culture from comic books and advertising to recent novels and films In the process Clayton argues for two important principles that postmodernism has a hidden or repressed connection with the nineteenth century and that revealing those connections can aid in the development of a historical cultural studies In Charles Dickens in Cyberspace nineteenth century figures Jane Austen Charles Darwin Charles Dickens Thomas Hardy Henry James Ada Lovelace Joseph Paxton Mary Shelley and Mary Somerville meet a lively group of counterparts from today Andrea Barrett Greg Bear Peter Carey H l ne Cixous Alfonso Cuar n William Gibson Donna Haraway David Lean Richard Powers Salman Rushdie Ridley Scott Susan Sontag Neal Stephenson Bruce Sterling and Tom Stoppard The juxtaposition of such a diverse cast of characters leads to a new way of understanding the undisciplined culture the two eras share an understanding that can suggest ways to heal the gap that has long separated literature from science Combining storytelling and scholarship this engaging study demonstrates in its own practice the value of a self reflective stance toward cultural history Its personal voice narrative strategies multiple points of view recursive loops and irony emphasize the improvisational nature of the methods it employs Yet its argument is serious and urgent that the afterlife of the nineteenth century continues to shape the present in diverse and sometimes conflicting ways

Lai-Ming Ho, 2019-02-04 This Pivot examines a body of contemporary neo Victorian novels whose uneasy relationship with the past can be theorised in terms of aggressive eating including cannibalism Not only is the imagery of eating repeatedly used by critics to comprehend neo Victorian literature the theme of cannibalism itself also appears overtly or implicitly in a number of the novels and their Victorian prototypes thereby mirroring the cannibalistic relationship between the contemporary and the Victorian Tammy Lai Ming Ho argues that aggressive eating or cannibalism can be seen as a pathological and defining characteristic of neo Victorian fiction demonstrating how cannibalism provides a framework for understanding the genre's origin its conflicted ambivalent and violent relationship with its Victorian predecessors and the grotesque and gothic effects that it generates in its fiction Literature, Science, and Public Policy Jay Clayton, 2023-08-17

Criticism about the neo Victorian novel a genre of historical fiction that re imagines aspects of the Victorian world from present day perspectives has expanded rapidly in the last fifteen years but given little attention to the engagement between science and religion Of great interest to Victorians this subject often appears in neo Victorian novels including those by such well known authors as John Fowles A S Byatt Graham Swift and Mathew Kneale This book discusses novels in which nineteenth century science including geology paleontology and evolutionary theory interacts with religion through accommodations conflicts and crises of faith In general these texts abandon conventional religion but retain the ethical connectedness and celebration of life associated with spirituality at its best Registering the growth of nineteenth century secularism and drawing on aspects of the romantic tradition and ecological thinking they honor the natural world without imagining that it exists for humans or functions in reference to human values In particular they enact a form of wonderment the capacity of the mind to make sense of creatively adapt and enjoy the world out of which it has evolved in short to endow it with meaning Protagonists who come to experience reality in this expansive way release themselves from self anxiety and alienation In this book Glendening shows how by intermixing past and present fact and fiction neo Victorian narratives with a few instructive exceptions manifest this pattern EVOLUTION Michael Ruse, Joseph Travis, 2009-01-01

Ben Bradley, 2020-09-11 Darwin has long been hailed as forefather to behavioural science especially nowadays with the growing popularity of evolutionary psychologies Yet until now his contribution to the field of psychology has been somewhat understated This is the first book ever to examine the riches of what Darwin himself wrote about psychological matters It unearths a Darwin new to contemporary science whose first concern is the agency of organisms from which he derives both his psychology and his theory of evolution A deep reading of Darwin s writings on climbing plants and babies blushing and bower birds worms and facial movements shows that for Darwin evolution does not explain everything about human action Group life and culture are also keys whether we discuss the dynamics of conscience or the dramas of desire Thus his treatment of facial actions sets out from the anatomy and physiology of human facial movements and shows how these gain meanings through their recognition by others A discussion of blushing extends his theory to the way reading others expressions rebounds on ourselves I care about how I think you read me This dynamic proves central to how Darwin understands sexual desire the production of conscience and of social standards through group dynamics and the role of culture in human agency Presenting a new Darwin to science and showing how widely Darwin s understanding of evolution and agency has been misunderstood and misrepresented in biology and the social sciences this important new book lights a new way forward for those who want to build psychology on the foundation of evolutionary biology Apollo's Fire Michael Sims, 2008-11-25 It s the oldest story on Earth You relive it every day So much of our shared daily experience in the world is shaped by the sometimes dramatic sometimes subtle effects of the Earth s spin its tilt on its axis the alternation of light and darkness the waxing and waning of the moon the seemingly capricious growth of clouds The ancient rhythm of the day and night was shaping life on Earth before there were even human beings to appreciate it It rules our bodies and weather and calendars and sets the tempo for our work and play Each of us awakens each day to relive this primordial narrative With his signature blend of science and poetry history and mythology Michael Sims serves as tour guide on an unforgettable journey through the wonders of an ordinary day from dawn to nighttime Long before we had the tools of knowledge to explain what we observed in the skies overhead we built mythologies and folklore around these occurrences immortalized them in poetry and art created special places for them in our collective imagination and even our language In Apollo s Fire Sims explores the celestial events that form our days fusing lively explanations of these phenomena with a richly layered history of what they meant to us before we knew how they worked He explains the colors of sunrise the characteristics of shadow the mysteries of twilight Characters in this vital drama include Galileo watching sunrise on the moon Eratosthenes measuring the Earth with a noontime shadow and Edgar Allan Poe figuring out why the night sky is dark instead of glowing with the light of a million suns Our story ranges from the movie High Noon to Darwin s plant experiments from The Time Machine to the afternoon rise in air pollution In the witty and elegant style that has earned him the designation science raconteur Sims weaves a dazzling array of strands into a single tapestry of daily experience and makes the oldest story on Earth new again One Hot
