Creating Heritage Thomas Carter, David Harvey, Roy Jones, Iain Robertson, 2019-11-15 This book investigates the selection process of heritagisation to understand what specific pasts are being selected or rejected for representation who is selecting them how and to whom they are being represented and why they are being presented or dismissed in the ways that they are Some aspects of our pasts are venerated and memorialised for a variety of reasons while others are forgotten or even hidden This volume thus provides examples from across a spectrum Some phenomena are well suited to heritagisation such as animals memorialised for their bravery long past agricultural techniques and implements and impressive landscapes However this book also deals with products e g tobacco historical periods e g the Third Reich and scientific techniques e g genetic modification with negative connotations that extend beyond their heritage attributes This volume considers how the actors in the heritage industry admit valorise prioritise and rationalise historic resources as heritage products These findings provide practical examples of how heritage institutions privilege frame and or exclude a wide range of heritage items They also contrast the invocations of sectional local national or class based and more cosmopolitan heritages and consider the extent to which innovation and change are or can be acknowledged within the heritage discourse
