Life Gave Me Lemons, and I Made Champagne! Aisha Z. Shael, 2016-05-10 What was behind the door I kept seeing the image of a barn door behind which I suspected there was incredible pain and staggering truth. By March 1992 I could no longer deny what was behind the door. I had survived satanic ritual abuse. You hold in your hands an unabashed and courageous account of a survivor's journey from trauma to transformation. Suffering from physical pain and increasing emotional anguish Aisha was determined to reach the crux of both and heal her life. As she relentlessly delved into her own mind for answers the pursuit of truth brought her face to face with multifarious memories, multiple personalities and mystical experiences. With candor she has willingly revealed the sequence of events that resulted in a collapse of life as she had known it. Like a phoenix rising from its own ashes she made a miraculous comeback. Join her and walk through this amazing life altering journey. Notice how she transmuted incredibly painful experiences and discovered that there is always hidden wisdom within them. Find your own courage. Be inspired to transform your own life.

Currere and Legacy in the Context of Family Business Samuel Chen, 2023-03-28 This book presents a new conceptualization of the idea of legacy in a family business setting as an educational experience of teaching and learning between generations. Using the lived experience of the author it combines autoethnography with a discussion on the influence of Chinese culture on family business and expectations placed on the eldest son as well as Bill Pinar's model of Currere to investigate the processes around intergenerational learning. The author argues that legacy is the process of journeying to full personhood and the results of connected and collective aspirations shifting the focus from succession that is often marked by silence and power control. The author's approach to business as a field has transformed its strong instrumental approach into an existential orientation with self discovery and self creation as an ongoing process. Providing the new and innovative beginnings of a theoretical curriculum that could foster legacy processes and taking a unique and interdisciplinary approach to looking at family business and legacy this book will be relevant to scholars and researchers of Airman, 1981 Agent of Change Huda Mukbil, 2023-05-01 In Agent of Change Huda Mukbil takes us behind the curtain of a leading spy agency during a fraught time recounting her experiences as an intelligence officer for the Canadian Security Intelligence Service Mukbil was the first Black Arab Canadian Muslim woman to join CSIS and was at the forefront of the fight against terrorism after 9/11 Mukbil's mastery of four languages quickly made her a counterterrorism expert and a uniquely valuable asset to the organization But as she worked with colleagues to confront new international threats she also struggled for acceptance and recognition at the agency Following the American led invasion of Iraq in 2003 and the rise of homegrown extremism Mukbil was framed as an inside threat Determined to prove her loyalty while equally concerned about the surveillance and profiling of Muslims and revelations of Western agencies torture and torture by proxy Mukbil started to question CSIS's fluctuating ethical stance in relation to its mandate. Her stellar work on a secondment to MI5, the British Security Service, earned commendation that shielded her but only temporarily from the hostile workplace culture at CSIS. Ultimately, Mukbil and a group of colleagues went public about the pervasive institutional discrimination undermining CSIS and national security from within. Mukbil's expertise in international security and her commitment to workplace transparency drove important changes at CSIS. Dazzlingly written, her account is an eye opener for anyone wanting to understand how racism, misogyny, and Islamophobia undermine not only individuals but institutions and the national interest, and how addressing this openly can tackle populism and misinformation.
