New Ideas Better Government:

Reinventing Government David Osborne, Ted Gaebler, 1993-02-01 A landmark in the debate on the future of public policy The Washington Post Reinventing Government United States. Congress. Joint Economic Committee, 1993 Handbook of Comparative and Development Public Administration Ali Farazmand, 2019-02-21 With contributions from nearly 80 international experts this comprehensive resource covers diverse issues aspects and features of public administration and policy around the world It focuses on bureaucracy and bureaucratic politics in developing and industrialized countries and emphasizing administrative performance and policy implementation as well as political system maintenance and regime enhancement The book covers the history of public administration and bureaucracy in Persia Greece Rome and Byzantium and among the Aztecs Incas and Mayas public administration in small island states Eastern Europe and ethics and other contemporary issues in public administration The Centrelink Experiment John Halligan, Jules Wills, 2008-12-01 Centrelink was established in 1997 as part of the Howard government's bold experiment in re framing social policy and re shaping service delivery Centrelink was the embodiment of a key tenet of the Howard vision for public service a specialised service delivery provider agency separated from the policy functions of the purchaser Carved out of a monolithic Department of Social Security Centrelink was established along business lines operating 320 service centres and delivering payments to 10 million Australians Although enjoying monopoly provider status the organisation was required to deliver services to many different clients on behalf of its purchasing departments up to 25 in total under the terms of quasi contractual service agreements It was meant to demonstrate a greater level of both transparency and accountability for the administration of payments amounting to over 60 billion of Commonwealth expenditure For many years there was a real buzz around the Centrelink experiment and staff and clients were generally enthusiastic about the transformation However after around eight years the experiment was reined in and Centrelink was placed under closer ministerial direction and under a new managing department The experiment continues but its trajectory reflects the different pressures impacting on such dedicated services delivery agencies John Halligan Professor of Government at the University of Canberra is a foremost Australian expert on public sector governance and has published extensively on the evolution form and behaviour of the public sectors in Australia and overseas This volume is the culmination of an exhaustive empirical study of the origins and experience of the Centrelink Experiment I commend this book to researchers policy practitioners and students with an interest in policy innovation change management and the realpolitik of public sector reform Enterprising States Mark Considine, 2001-05-02 This book first published in 2001 is an examination of the changes underway in Western bureaucracies Public Sector Reform B. Nolan, 2001-04-10 In these times of dramatic social economic and political change governments around the world are questioning their roles and responsibilities in the public sector There is a trend away from traditional public sector model and that of market ideology but there does not yet exist a universally accepted alternative Brendan Nolan offers a comparative analysis of public administration in several OECD countries the UK USA Australia and Scandinavia and explores possible future directions Handbook of Globalization, Governance, and Public Administration Ali Farazmand, Jack

Pinkowski, 2006-07-25 Globalization transcends borders and cultures as it develops both from the natural flow of information and communication technologies and as a directed and driven quest for global hegemony by self serving corporations and world political heavyweights It bears a multifaceted web of influence that manifests in inequalities in growth prosperity and

Managing Public Expenditure in Australia John Wanna, Joanne Kelly, John Forster, 2020-07-28 How do Australian governments budget How well do they spend and manage our money Governments seem to be locked in a constant struggle with the problems of budgeting Cabinet never has enough resources to go around and while some agencies guard public expenditure others find endless ways to make new claims on budgets Managing Public Expenditure in Australia provides the first systematic analysis of government budgeting and the politics of the budgetary process Drawing on extensive original sources the authors examine debates and reforms in public finance from Whitlam and Fraser to Hawke Keating and Howard and assess their impacts on policy development In tracking the way governments actually spend money Managing Public Expenditure in Australia provides an alternate and complementary political history of federal government over the past forty years This book also includes accessible discussions on topics such as budget theory financial management in government and debt and deficit reduction An explanation of new resource management techniques and initiatives help to illuminate the ongoing changes to budget and expenditure management practices This is an essential purchase for students teachers and practitioners of public finance and for anyone involved in the continuing debate over the nature and role of the public sector

Making Things Better , 1993-05 Considers ways to promote the restoration of American leadership in manufacturing technology which is now considered a national security issue Includes strategies to improve U S manufacturing technology financing long term investments human resources links between firms and industries technology transfer and diffusion and public policy and technology Graphs Municipal Journal and Public Works , 1900 Good government Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Public Administration Select Committee, 2009-06-18 Incorporating HC 983 i iv session 2007 08 Diffusion of Good Government Natasha Borges Sugiyama, 2012-12-15 One of the most fundamental questions for social scientists involves diffusion events simply put how do ideas spread and why do people embrace them In Diffusion of Good Government Social Sector Reforms in Brazil Natasha Borges Sugiyama examines why innovations spread across political territories and what motivates politicians to adopt them Sugiyama does so from the vantage point of Brazilian politics a home to innovative social sector reforms intended to provide the poor with access to state resources Since the late 1980s the country has undergone major policy transformations as local governments have gained political fiscal and administrative autonomy For the poor and other vulnerable groups local politics holds special importance municipal authorities provide essential basic services necessary for their survival including social assistance education and health care Brazil with over 5

000 municipalities with a wide variety of political cultures and degrees of poverty thus provides ample opportunities to examine the spread of innovative programs to assist such groups Sugiyama delves into the politics of social sector reforms by examining the motivations for emulating well regarded programs To uncover the mechanisms of diffusion her analysis contrasts three paradigmatic models for how individuals choose to allocate resources by advancing political self interest to gain electoral victories by pursuing their ideological commitments for social justice or by seeking to demonstrate adherence to the professional norms of their fields Drawing on a mixed method approach that includes extensive field research and statistical analysis on the spread of model programs in education especially Bolsa Escola a school grant program and health Programa Sa de da Fam lia a family health program she concludes that ideological convictions and professional norms were the main reasons why mayors adopted these programs with electoral incentives playing a negligible role

Governance and the Democratic Deficit Victor Bekkers,Geske Dijkstra,Menno Fenger,2016-04-22 It is widely acknowledged that we are witnessing a major transformation of public policy making a transformation which has been labelled as a change from government to governance Governance is used to describe policy making and implementation without a central authority in a non hierarchical network like structure through negotiation and cooperation between public and private actors at one or across different political levels This comprehensive volume combines empirical analysis and normative assessment of governance practices providing a systematic approach based on a framework for assessing democratic legitimacy It addresses different modes of governance at the local regional national European and international levels The volume assesses the alleged democratic deficit of these new governance practices and as such is ideally suited to courses on public administration

Holistic Government Perri 6,1997 Drawing on a number of reforms and innovations taking place in governments around the world and in large organizations more generally shows how the reforms of reinventing government can be taken into a new era in ways that will deliver greater effectiveness within stable budgets

Public Governance and Leadership Rainer Koch,John Dixon,2007-11-03 In this book internationally renowned scholars and practitioners elaborate on political as well as managerial questions e g how to make overriding Public Governance changes the guiding model for a now needed stronger strategic approach More specifically their focus is on how moves towards a re positioning as an enabling authority are to be made drivers for adapting management systems across all levels In accordance with present developments the authors explain how changes in the overall governance structure have to be used to adapt leadership practices in a more output oriented or even entrepreneurial fashion Overall the underlying idea is to provide some further basics for a public sector type of a design oriented management science
