

PATERNALISM

DEFINITION

Paternalism is the practice or attitude where individuals, organizations, or governments make decisions on behalf of others, purportedly for their best interests, often without their input or against their will. It implies that those in power believe they know what is best for those under their care or jurisdiction.

EXAMPLES

- Mandatory Seatbelt Laws: Governments require vehicle occupants to wear seatbelts for their safety, even if they'd prefer not to.
- Psychiatric Holds: Medical professionals may confine individuals believed to be a danger to themselves or others, even if the individual disagrees.

Redundancy and Paternalist Capitalism Roderick Martin, R. H. Fryer, 1973 UK Case study based on occupational sociology methods of redundancy in a large industrial enterprise to illustrate the social implications for workers and for the community analyses employees attitudes as revealed in interviews covers such issues as job satisfaction effects of redundancy on the older worker job searching labour mobility etc summarizes the research methodology and includes social policy recommendations Bibliography pp 261 to 268 references and statistical tables Manpower Planning and Utilization United States Civil Service Commission. Library, 1975 Includes material received through Dec 1974 The Dynamics of Labour Market Segmentation Frank Wilkinson, 2013-10-24 The Dynamics of Labour Market Segmentation is a collection of different papers about the importance of differentiation between groups of workers and the development of employer strategies for controlling the labor process in the market The book is divided into five parts Part I discusses the nature of segmentation duality the internal labor market internationalization and discrimination Part II tackles the industrial transformation and the evolution of dual labor markets and the paternalism and labor market segmentation theory and Part III deals with topics such as entrepreneurial strategies of adjustment and internal labor markets artisan production and economic growth and outwork and segmented labor markets Part IV covers the construction of women as second class workers and the social reproduction and the basic structure of the labor market Part V explores the labor market segmentation and the business cycle and the relationship between employment and output The text is recommended for entrepreneurs who wish to understand the labor market as well as social scientists who would like to know the implications of the labor market segmentation not only for the marketplace but also for society as a whole Culture, Class, Distinction Tony Bennett, Mike Savage, Elizabeth Bortolaia Silva, Alan Warde, Modesto Gayo-Cal, David Wright, 2009-01-21 Drawing on the first systematic study of cultural capital in contemporary Britain Culture Class Distinction examines the role played by culture in the relationships between class gender and ethnicity Its findings promise a major revaluation of the legacy of Pierre Bourdieu's account of the relationships between class and culture Political Powerlessness Renée Danziger, 1988 Theories of labour market segmentation Ray Loveridge, A.L. Mok, 2012-12-06 The objectives of this book are to review and develop a framework of key analytical concepts in the field of labour market segmentation to develop and test these concepts against available data to indicate weaknesses in the data in the light of the analysis to offer a critique of manpower policies in some European countries in the light of the foregoing analysis and to indicate areas of further research The authors hope that this survey of the literature and the comments that accompany it will prove useful to policy makers and students alike The authors would like to acknowledge the role of the Directorate General for Social Affairs of the European Community Brussels in initiating and supporting the production of this volume of criticism and discussion We have especially appreciated the role of David White on whose advice we came to rely in directing our critique upon the application of segmental theory to matters of labour market policy Others whose help and advice we have relied on are John Morley also of the European Community Peta Small who typed the several drafts and our respective wives and families whose encouragement and discreet silences enabled us to get past the nth draft
