Towards a Holistic Understanding of Language Contact in the Past Nikolaos Lavidas, Ioanna Sitaridou, Igor Yanovich, 2025-10-06 The tendency to view grammar in isolation from multilingual settings is so pervasive that even modern approaches do not often overcome the monolingual paradigm At the same time the effects of language contact very clearly manifest themselves as discussed in the literature on language contact contact induced and shared grammaticalization sometimes resulting in areal patterns particularly relevant for linguistic typology It appears that there continues to be an important gap between the fact of commonly happening grammatical transfer in language contact and our theorizing about such grammars This gap needs to be narrowed and eventually closed for the sake of both theories of grammar and theories of language contact In fact one can take this further and ask the question Do we really need a separate theory of language contact The rather attractive alternative would be to reduce the effects of language contact to theories of language acquisition sociolinguistics external factors as well as more generalised cognitive mechanisms such as copy and analogy which once properly interwoven they can offer holistic explanations The aim of the edited volume is to contribute to this and other related questions

Etymological Dictionary of the Kartvelian Languages Georgij A. Klimov, 2011-04-20 Volumes in the Trends in Linguistics Documentation series focus on the presentation of linguistic data The series addresses the sustained interest in linguistic descriptions dictionaries grammars and editions of under described and hitherto undocumented languages All world regions and time periods are represented

A Theory of Phonological Features San Duanmu, 2016-03-17 This book outlines a system of phonological features that is minimally sufficient to distinguish all consonants and vowels in the languages of the world The extensive evidence is drawn from datasets with a combined total of about 1000 sound inventories The interpretation of phonetic transcriptions from different languages is a long standing problem In this book San Duanmu proposes a solution that relies on the notion of contrast X and Y are different sounds if and only if they contrast in some language He focuses on a simple procedure to interpret empirical data for each phonetic dimension all inventories are searched in order to determine the maximal number of contrasts required In addition every unusual feature or extra degree of contrast is re examined to confirm its validity The resulting feature system is surprisingly simple fewer features are needed than previously proposed and for each feature a two way contrast is sufficient Nevertheless the proposal is reliable in that the notion of contrast is uncontroversial the procedure is explicit and the result is repeatable The book also offers discussion of non contrastive differences between languages sound classes and complex sounds such as affricates consonant glide units consonant liquid units contour tones

Correlatives Cross-Linguistically Anikó Lipták, 2009-06-24

This volume brings together recent work in generative syntax on correlative relative constructions Greatly expanding on the Hindi oriented scope of previous studies it describes and analyzes correlative constructions in a range of languages such as Basque Dutch Hungarian Polish Sanskrit Serbo Croatian and Tibetan in comparison to correlativization in Hindi The articles zoom in on three areas of interest firstly the similarities and differences between correlatives and other wh and relative constructions secondly the derivation of correlative constructions and the position correlative clauses occupy in the host clause and thirdly the matching effects that characterize the pairings between relative phrases and demonstrative phrases The studies presented here will appeal to researchers and students with an interest in syntax in general and relativization strategies in particular

Pidgins and Creoles beyond Africa-Europe Encounters Isabelle Buchstaller, Anders Holmberg, Mohammad

Almoaiy, 2014-01-15 Most of what we know about pidgin and creole languages is the result of research into contact languages that developed as a consequence of European expansion into Africa and the Caribbean The narrow focus on European lexifier and West African substrate languages has resulted in insufficient investigation of other contact varieties Even more perniciously lesser known and often under described contact languages have not been taken into consideration when formulating supposedly general tendencies about the linguistic properties of contact languages This volume aims to give a platform to research on the history genesis and typology of a number of non European language based contact languages A more encompassing and diverse data base will contribute to more accurate and comprehensive inventories of the typological features of contact languages

'COME' and 'GO' off the Beaten Grammaticalization Path Maud

Devos, Jenneke van der Wal, 2014-05-08 This edition brings together some lesser known grammaticalization paths travelled by come and go in familiar and less familiar languages No single book volume has been dedicated to the topic of grammatical targets different from tense and aspect so far This study will increase our insight in grammaticalization processes in general as they force us to rethink certain aspects of grammaticalization

Secondary Predication and Adverbial Modification

Nikolaus P. Himmelmann, Eva F. Schultze-Berndt, 2006-09-28 Depictive secondary predicates such as raw in George ate the fish raw are central to current issues in syntactic and semantic theory in particular predication theory phrase structure theories issues of control and grammatical relations and verbal aspect This is the first book to approach depictive secondary predication from a cross linguistic perspective It describes all the relevant phenomena and brings together critical surveys and new contributions on their morphosyntactic and semantic properties It considers similarities and differences between secondary predicates and other types of adjuncts including adverbials of manner comparison quantity and location The authors are leading scholars with a first hand knowledge of the languages they discuss Their approach is theory neutral and pragmatic they draw on insights and research traditions ranging from the minimalist program to semantic maps methodology The book will interest scholars working on the semantics or syntax of secondary predicates adverbials and the role of agreement and other morphological marking It has been designed for use in advanced syntax and typology classes
