The Making of a Refugee Tasoulla Hadjiyanni, 2002-03-30 Through an examination of interviews provided by 100 children of refugees in Cyprus born after their family's displacement Hadjiyanni illustrates the formation of a refugee consciousness an identity adopted by many children who never experienced the actual displacement of their family Focusing on the process by which a child born into a refugee family develops a refugee identity the book identifies nine dimensions that inform this consciousness Establishing the family as the primary transmitter of the refugee identity and the child as its constructor the author points to the power of homeplace in forming and supporting such an identity The book challenges the notion that refugee consciousness is a separate identity and a crisis by reinterpreting it as a resistance to adversity Shedding new light on what it means to be a refugee this work is a welcome addition to the field Beginning with a discussion of the meaning of the term refugee and how it has been adopted by the children of some refugees in Cyprus the author moves to an examination of the meaning of past and present to the formation of a refugee consciousness She then looks to the causes of such identity formation focusing on the transference of identity from parent to child and the effects of past loss on children who have not actually experienced displacement Housing issues are also examined as a contributing factor as refugee housing is typically distinct and constrained compared to housing for native citizens of a community The author concludes her work with a discussion of the implications of the Cyprus example for both the future and for general refugee studies selections that are spread over about ten sections The sections deals with such topics as historical and epistemological factors cognitive and intellectual perspectives and clinical and mental health NATO - Past, Present And Future Edmond Nawrotzky-Török,2002-01-31 Inhaltsangabe Abstract When talking about integration one must think first of all about the problems such an integration means Many Romanians nowadays look at the integration into the European and Euro Atlantic structures only as a means of better living standards But very few Romanians might be willing to pay the price for the integration Nobody in Romania seems to know exactly the direction we are heading to But there must certainly be changes of the people s mentality if we want to achieve something at all Yet this problem does not concern Romanians alone The West generally regards Romania as a source of crime and at least for the moment does not even want to talk to Romania about our integration into the European Union although the negotiations have been started with all potential candidates at the same time Recently when about 500 gypsies created problems in Austria the country asked Hungary and the Czech Republic to introduce the visa system for Romanian citizens They obviously wanted the Romanians to be even more humiliated than they already were lining up also at Hungary s and the Czech Republic s embassies in order to be able to travel to those countries Mister Andrei Plesu the Romanian Foreign Affairs Minister said If 500 gypsies are able to destabilise Austria they are either first hand merchandise or Austria is a little bit frail On the other hand one cannot deny that Romanian citizens keep causing trouble to western European countries But the problem is that dubious people manage somehow to get visas while honest people are denied the basic right of travelling to foreign countries only because a few of their fellow citizens are being considered troublemakers If no visas were required only a small negligible margin of the Romanian citizens travelling abroad would be denied the permission to travel to western European countries again Then there is the problem of culture If you ask a Romanian citizen about the capital of a western European state it is less possible that he will not know it than if you asked a western European about Romania s capital For instance many Frenchmen are convinced that Budapest is Romania s capital A French band performing in Bucharest was warmly welcome and acclaimed until its members shouted I love you Budapest Of course the fact that western Europeans do not know eastern European capitals does not mean that people in western Europe are not civilised Romania The Status of Palestinian Refugees in International Law Alex Takkenberg,1998 7 Scope of the study An Outline of International Law Dominique De Stoop,2019-04-01 Written by Dr Dominique De Stoop former Senior Assistant Secretary of the International and General Legal Branch of the Australian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade An Outline of International Law offers a clear comprehensive explanation of the multifaceted realm of international law Dr De Stoop provides background information on the sources of international laws their scope and their effectiveness Each chapter covers a specific area of law including the following Treaty negotiations State sovereignty Human rights and refugee rights Criminal offences and terrorism The law of the sea and international shipping law Environmental law and conservation International and domestic armed conflicts Disarmament and arms control
