Saharan Boy:

Young People's Daily Mobilities in Sub-Saharan Africa Gina Porter, Kate Hampshire, Albert Abane, Alister Munthali, Elsbeth Robson, Mac Mashiri, 2016-11-26 This book explores the daily mobilities and immobilities of children and young people in sub-Saharan Africa. The authors draw on findings from rural and urban field research extending over many years culminating in a 24 site study across three African countries: Ghana, Malawi and South Africa. Wider reflections on gender relationality, the politics of mobility and field methodology frame the study. By bringing together diverse strands of a complex daily mobilities picture from journeys for education, work, play, leisure and health to associated experiences of different transport modes, road safety and the virtual mobility now afforded by mobile phones, the book helps fill a knowledge gap with crucial significance for development policy and practice.

Sahara Unveiled William Langewiesche, 2011-04-20 It is as vast as the United States and so arid that most bacteria cannot survive there. Its loneliness is so extreme it is said that migratory birds will land beside travelers just for the company. William Langewiesche came to the Sahara to see it as its inhabitants do: riding its public transport, braving its natural and human dangers, depending on its sparse sustenance and suspect hospitality. From his journey which took him across the desert's hyperarid core from Algiers to Dakar, he has crafted a contemporary classic of travel writing. In a narrative studded with gemlike discourses on subjects that range from the physics of sand dunes to the history of the Tuareg nomads, Langewiesche introduces us to the Sahara's merchants, smugglers, fixers and expatriates. Eloquent and precise, Sahara Unveiled blends history and reportage, anthropology and anecdote into an unforgettable portrait of the world's most romanticized yet most forbidding desert.

Kazamias, 2009-08-22 A big project like this Handbook means that you incur debts and not only to your authors and your publisher As editors we along with our colleague Elaine Unterhalter who edited the section on postcolonialism would like to thank most warmly those authors who delivered on time and who did not fuss but just got on and did a r rate job We would also like to thank all authors who did deliver which was almost everyone we asked We know that some of our authors worked in very dif cult private circumstances as they were nishing their chapters and we hope the publication of the Volumes will later be for them a happy reminder of dif culties and disasters overcome The only sad theme is that some very close colleagues with whom we were wo ing and for whom we had the greatest respect and liking became very ill and died while the volumes were being prepared We decided to ask for copyright permissions to publish something of theirs These permissions were graciously given by two major journals and with the agreement also of our publishers Springer Rolland Paulston and Terry McLaughlin have examples of their writing in this Handbook

Intransitive Predication Leon Stassen, 2003 This book investigates cross linguistic variation in one of the core domains of all natural languages Leon Stassen views this domain as a cognitive space the topography of which is the same for all languages It is assumed to consist of four subdomains which correspond to a four way distinction between the semantic classes of event predicates property predicates class predicates and locational predicates The book offers a typology of the structural manifestations of this domain in terms of the nature and number of the formal strategies used in its encoding The author disusses a number of abstract principles which can be employed in explaining the cross linguistic variation emodied by the typology In the final chapter he brings together the research results in a universally applicable model which can be read as a flow chart for the encoding of intransitive predications in different language types
