Professional Journal of the United States Army, 1981 Military Review, 1981 Quarterly Review of Military Literature, 1981 The Galleon Peter Kirsch, 1990 Small United States and United Nations Warships in the Korean War Paul M. Edwards, 2015-01-28 From rubber landing boats to picket boats to minesweepers smaller support vessels did much of the work of the Korean War and endured many of the dangers and hardships Rarely mentioned in histories of the war they served functions essential to keeping the United States Navy and the United Nations partners in active duty This volume delivers an overview of the various kinds of vessels involved the difficulties of mobilizing the aging American fleet at a time when a significant downsizing had been expected and the design and specification considerations of the support vessels needed for the new war effort It lists the individual support vessels and details the degree of their involvement often providing photographs as well as comments from men who served aboard the ships On the Ocean Sir Barry Cunliffe, 2017-12-15 For humans the sea is and always has been an alien environment Ever moving and ever changing in mood it is a place without time in contrast to the land which is fixed and scarred by human activity giving it a visible history While the land is familiar even reassuring the sea is unknown and threatening By taking to the sea humans put themselves at its mercy It has often been perceived to be an alien power teasing and cajoling The sea may give but it takes Why then did humans become seafarers Part of the answer is that we are conditioned by our genetics to be acquisitive animals we like to acquire rare materials and we are eager for esoteric knowledge and society rewards us well for both Looking out to sea most will be curious as to what is out there a mysterious island perhaps but what lies beyond Our innate inquisitiveness drives us to explore Barry Cunliffe looks at the development of seafaring on the Mediterranean and the Atlantic two contrasting seas the Mediterranean without a significant tide enclosed and soon to become familiar the Atlantic with its frightening tidal ranges an ocean without end We begin with the Middle Palaeolithic hunter gatherers in the eastern Mediterranean building simple vessels to make their remarkable crossing to Crete and we end in the early years of the sixteenth century with sailors from Spain Portugal and England establishing the limits of the ocean from Labrador to Patagonia The message is that the contest between humans and the sea has been a driving force perhaps the driving force in human history On the Ocean Barry W. Cunliffe, 2017 The story of the contest between humans and the sea played out in the Mediterranean and the Atlantic from early prehistory until AD 1500 Tenth Census of the United States, 1880: Newspapers, periodicals.
