Shadow Makers:

Shadow-Makers Stephen Kite, 2017-10-19 The making of shadows is an act as old as architecture itself From the gloom of the medieval hearth through to the masterworks of modernism shadows have been an essential yet neglected presence in architectural history Shadow Makers tells for the first time the history of shadows in architecture It weaves together a rich narrative combining close readings of significant buildings both ancient and modern with architectural theory and art history to reveal the key places and moments where shadows shaped architecture in distinctive and dynamic ways It shows how shadows are used as an architectural instrument of form composition and visual effect while also exploring the deeper cultural context tracing differing conceptions of their meaning and symbolism whether as places of refuge devotion terror occult practice sublime experience or as metaphors of the unconscious Within a chronological framework encompassing medieval baroque enlightenment sublime picturesque and modernist movements a wide range of topics are explored from Hawksmoor's London churches Japanese temple complexes and the shade patterns of Islamic cities to Ruskin in Venice and Aldo Rossi and Louis Kahn in the 20th century This beautifully illustrated study seeks to understand the work of these shadow makers through their drawings their writings and through the masterpieces they built Eternal Shadows or Shadow Makers Fr. Steve Peterson OSJ, 2012-07 Everything in our solar system casts a shadow The Earth the moon and the planets cast a shadow The only thing that does not cast a shadow is the sun The sun shines its light on one half of the planets while the other half is in the shade of its own shadow All living and non living things expose only half of themselves to the light of the sun Their other half remains in its shadow Plants and animals are born with a shadow live with a shadow and must die with a shadow Man is born with a shadow however he does not have to live and die with a shadow like the rest of the living creatures He can choose to stay confined within the shadows of earthly things or go beyond the shadows to become something like the sun But this quest takes a little something extra than most ordinary men seem to look for or even believe is possible to achieve Early on in childhood Fr Peterson wanted to fly Little did he know that his innocent desire to fly was an extraordinary shadowless thing called prayer A real and very extraordinary ear heard his plea So God's heart the only one in nature who produces no shadow was moved to help show him how to go beyond the shadows of worldly things frightful things and even deadly things The Word, 1916 The Word Harold W. interdisciplinary reading of cinematographic practice which develops useful implications for spatial composition in art and architectural design The way a film is set up directed composed framed and technically constructed can provide parallels analogies and metaphors for the spatial organisation of cities landscapes and buildings Likewise the way a built setting is conceived and devised can inform approaches to framing and spatial organisation in cinematography The book begins on a personal note with a series of recollected atmospheric experiences leading to an investigation of ambiguity and consilient discrepancy as circumstantial conditions necessary for the production of atmosphere The mood of melancholia is explored to show the pivotal role that ambiguity discrepancy and irresolution play in its distinctive ambiance Atmosphere is then defined as an emergent condition arising between an ambient affective circumstance and a mooded human being The book then moves to analyse the inherent conditions in the setup of filmic and architectural settings that render them atmospheric Reference is made to the cinema of Bresson Resnais Lynch Tarr Malik and Campion and to Romanesque tympanae the architectonic scenography of Franz Kafka s novel The Castle and the work of Spanish architects Flores Prats The concluding section Anatomy of Atmosphere is a lexicon of concepts themes and tactics around atmosphere that might usefully inform creative practice

Indoor Games For Awkward Moments Ruth Blakely,2016-12-21 The object of this volume is to try and lessen the number of dreadful pauses which so many hostesses have experienced with their guests when no one had courage enough to propose a new game or had foresight enough to come prepared with a mental list of games that have a right good swing to them This collection will suffice as a background for working purposes and while many of them may be familiar at the same time one does not always think of them readily and will welcome these as a friend in need The games under the heading Competitions need preparing in advance as they cannot be rushed at the last minute It is as well to decide before sending out the invitations what is to be the principal game of the evening and then write it on the invitation card An Evening with Kate will arouse the curiosity of those who do not know the games and make them all the more anxious to come and find out
