Our Box Was Full Richard Daly, 2007-10-01 For the Gitksan and Witsuwit'en peoples of northwest British Columbia the land is invested with meaning that goes beyond simple notions of property or sustenance Considered both a food box and a storage box of history and wealth the land plays a central role in their culture survival history and identity In Our Box Was Full Richard Daly explores the centrality of this notion in the determination of Aboriginal rights with particular reference to the landmark Delgamuukw case that occupied the British Columbia courts from 1987 to 1997 Called as an expert witness for the Aboriginal plaintiffs Daly an anthropologist was charged with helping the Gitksan and Witsuwit'en to prove they existed and to make the case for Aboriginal self governance In order to do this Daly spent several years documenting their institutions system of production and exchange dispute settlement and proprietorship before Pax Britannica and colonization His conclusions which were originally rejected by Justice MacEachern were that the plaintiffs continue to live out their rich and complex heritage today albeit under very different conditions from those of either the pre contact or fur trade eras Our

Box Was Full provides fascinating insight into the Delgamuukw case and sheds much needed light on the role of anthropology in Aboriginal rights litigation A rich compassionate and original ethnographic study the book situates the plaintiff peoples within the field of forager studies and emphasizes the kinship and gift exchange features that pervade these societies even today It will find an eager audience among scholars and students of anthropology Native studies law and history

New Faces of the Fur Trade Jo-Anne Fiske,Susan Sleeper-Smith,William Wicken,1998 New Faces of the Fur Trade is a collection of fifteen essays selected from the Seventh North American Fur Trade Conference held in Halifax Nova Scotia in 1995 These articles question the traditional focus of fur trade literature and suggest that there are richer more diverse narratives to be constructed and new ways to look at the fur trade Many focus on subjects and themes that either have been formerly overlooked or have been introduced and then neglected Fur trade studies have been criticized for remaining outside the current mainstream of historiography in particular for paying scant attention to the rich insights to be found in approaches adopted from the fields of social and gender history This volume redresses some of those omissions
