literature in what Philip Gaines calls advocacy advice texts manuals handbooks and other how to guides written by lawyers for lawyers both practicing and aspiring to help them be as effective as possible in trial advocacy In these texts advice authors share principles strategies and techniques for persuading juries and winning cases Some manuals even form the basis for required advocacy courses in law schools Unlike training manuals in other professional domains sales leadership management fundraising coaching etc advocacy advice texts offer guidance for effectiveness in a realm of activity where the stakes may be the very highest for the parties and where society has an abiding interest in the truth being discovered and justice being done Helping advocates learn how to win cases may be the ultimate purpose of advice texts but to what extent are ideas about the values of truth and justice what Gaines calls metavalues incorporated into discussions about winning tactics and techniques To explore this question Gaines takes the reader through a discursive history of the relation between technique and metavalues as presented in advocacy advice beginning with a thematic analysis of the first texts published in the Anglo American tradition in the early 17th century through treatises written during seasons of radical change in the profession in the 18th and 19th centuries and up to the present day with a look at the more than 200 trial manuals currently in print This diacronic study reveals dramatic changes in the place authors give to the metavalues of truth and justice when lawyers advise other lawyers about how to be effective in the courtroom

Reimagining Advocacy Elizabeth C.

Britt,2018-05-17 Domestic violence accounts for approximately one fifth of all violent crime in the United States and is among the most difficult issues confronting professionals in the legal and criminal justice systems In this volume Elizabeth Britt argues that learning embodied advocacy a practice that results from an expanded understanding of expertise based on lived experience and adopting it in legal settings can directly and tangibly help victims of abuse Focusing on clinical legal education at the Domestic Violence Institute at the Northeastern University School of Law Britt takes a case study approach to illuminate how challenging the context aims and forms of advocacy traditionally embraced in the U S legal system produces better support for victims of domestic violence She analyzes a wide range of materials and practices including the pedagogy of law school training programs interviews with advocates and narratives written by students in the emergency department and looks closely at the forms of rhetorical education through which students assimilate advocacy practices By examining how students learn to listen actively to clients and to recognize that clients have the right and ability to make decisions for themselves Britt shows that rhetorical education can succeed in producing legal professionals with the inclination and capacity to engage others whose values and experiences diverge from their own By investigating the deep relationship between legal education and rhetorical education Reimagining Advocacy calls for conversations and action that will improve advocacy for others especially for victims of domestic violence seeking assistance from legal professionals

Modern Trial Advocacy Steven Lubet,2004

Modern Trial Advocacy Steven Lubet,2015 NITA s best selling text

Modern Trial Advocacy Analysis and Practice has set the standard for trial advocacy texts since 1993. It is widely used in prominent law schools throughout the U.S. and in many of NITA's own trial advocacy programs. Steven Lubet guides the beginning advocate from developing a winning case theory through all phases of trial. He explains how to present a case as a story and how to tell the story to the jury powerfully and persuasively. Modern Trial Advocacy presents a realistic and contemporary approach to learning and developing trial advocacy skills. This book offers a sophisticated theory-driven approach to advocacy training that distinguishes it from other books in the field. This edition includes an expanded section on the uses of theory, theme, and story frame; an expanded discussion of witness preparation; a new section on the persuasive value of inferences and cognitive theory; an expanded discussion of witness credibility variables explaining how to bolster or undermine testimony. It also has been revised to reflect the latest language of the restyled Federal Rules of Evidence.

Brigham Young University Education and Law Journal, 2003

Interrogating Ethnography Steven Lubet, 2018. In this comprehensive review of urban ethnography, Steven Lubet encountered a field that relies heavily on anonymous sources, often as reported by a single investigator whose underlying data remain unseen. Upon digging into the details, he discovered too many ethnographic assertions that were dubious, exaggerated, tendentious, or just plain wrong. Employing the tools and techniques of a trial lawyer, Lubet uses original sources and contemporaneous documentation to explore the stories behind ethnographic narratives. Many turn out to be accurate, but others are revealed to be based on rumors, folklore, and unreliable hearsay. Interrogating Ethnography explains how qualitative social science would benefit from greater attention to the quality of evidence and provides recommendations for bringing the field more closely in line with other fact-based disciplines such as law and journalism.

Modern Trial Advocacy Steven Lubet, Cynthia Tape, 2019-07-28. Now in its fourth edition, Modern Trial Advocacy Canada is the first and last word in Canadian trial practice. This classic handbook, published by the National Institute for Trial Advocacy, gives practitioners a detailed road map for conducting a trial. Expanding on the original text written by Steven Lubet for an American audience, experienced Toronto trial lawyers Cynthia Tape and Julie Rosenthal guide the beginning advocate in developing a winning case theory through all phases of trial. They explain how to present a case as a story and powerfully and persuasively tell that story to the jury. Modern Trial Advocacy Canada provides not only Canadian case law and statutes but also valuable insight into the specific elements of Canadian litigation practice as it presents a realistic and contemporary approach to learning and developing trial advocacy skills. This book offers a sophisticated theory-driven approach to advocacy training that distinguishes it from other books in the field. The fourth edition has been updated with current citations to case law, statutes, and rules, and the latest best practices for using technology in the courtroom.

Introduction to Classical Legal Rhetoric Michael H. Frost, 2017-03-02. Lawyers, law students, and their teachers all too frequently overlook the most comprehensive, adaptable, and practical analysis of legal discourse ever devised: the classical art of rhetoric. Classical analysis of legal reasoning methods and strategy is the foundation and source for most modern theories on the topic Beginning with Aristotle's Rhetoric and culminating with Cicero's De Oratore and Quintilian's Institutio Oratoria Greek and Roman rhetoricians created a clear experience based theoretical framework for analyzing legal discourse This book is the first to systematically examine the connections between classical rhetoric and modern legal discourse It traces the history of legal rhetoric from the classical period to the present day and shows how modern theorists have unknowingly benefited from the classical works It also applies classical rhetorical principles to modern appellate briefs and judicial opinions to demonstrate how a greater familiarity with the classical sources can deepen our understanding of legal reasoning
