Steeped in Blood

Frances J. Latchford, 2019-08-15 What personal truths reside in biological ties that are absent in adoptive ties And why do we think adoptive and biological ties are essentially different when it comes to understanding who we are At a time when interest in DNA and ancestry is exploding Frances Latchford questions the idea that knowing one s bio genealogy is integral to personal identity or a sense of family and belonging Upending our established values and beliefs about what makes a family Steeped in Blood examines the social and political devaluation of adoptive ties It takes readers on an intellectual journey through accepted wisdom about adoption twins kinship and incest and challenges our naturalistic and individualistic assumptions about identity and the biological ties that bind us sometimes violently to our families Latchford exposes how our desire for bio genealogical knowledge understood as it is by family and adoption experts pathologizes adoptees by posing the biological tie as a necessary condition for normal identity formation Rejecting the idea that a love of the self same is fundamental to family bonds her book is a reaction to the wounds families suffer whenever they dare to revel in their difference A rejoinder to rhetoric that defines adoptees adoptive kin and their family intimacies as inferior and inauthentic

Steeped in Blood's view through the lens of critical adoption studies decentres our cultural obsession with the biological family imaginary and makes real the possibility of being family in the absence of blood

Barnett,2017-11-01 This original and ambitious work looks anew at a series of intellectual debates about the meaning of democracy Clive Barnett engages with key thinkers in various traditions of democratic theory and demonstrates the importance of a geographical imagination in interpreting contemporary political change Debates about radical democracy Barnett argues have become trapped around a set of oppositions between deliberative and agonistic theories contrasting thinkers who promote the possibility of rational agreement and those who seek to unmask the role of power or violence or difference in shaping human affairs While these debates are often framed in terms of consensus versus contestation Barnett unpacks the assumptions about space and time that underlie different understandings of the sources of political conflict and shows how these differences reflect deeper philosophical commitments to theories of creative action or revived ontologies of the political Rather than developing ideal theories of democracy or models of proper politics he argues that attention should turn toward the practices of claims making through which political movements express experiences of injustice and make demands for recognition redress and repair By rethinking the spatial grammar of discussions of public space democratic inclusion and globalization Barnett develops a conceptual framework for analyzing the crucial roles played by geographical processes in generating and processing contentious politics The Canadian experience Sarla Achuthan,1993

Understanding the Atonement for the Mission of the Church John Driver,2005-07-06 At the very center of the Christian faith is Jesus a crucified Messiah All the wisdom and the power of God have been revealed in him Apart from such wisdom and power no genuine Christian experience is possible Unfortunately Western Christianity has been so conditioned by Constantinian presuppositions that it has failed to take into account the centrality of the crucified Messiah It has been far more preoccupied with worldly wisdom and worldly power than with faithfulness to the gospel of the kingdom It has concentrated on the salvation of the individual soul but has frequently disregarded God's purpose to create a new humanity marked by sacrificial love and justice for the poor In the classical theories on the atonement the work of Christ was unrelated to God's intention to create a new humanity Driver here demonstrates that the covenanted community of God's people is the essential context for understanding the atonement The reconciling work of Christ creates a reconciling community where all the barriers that divide humankind break down Driver's book is an invitation to look at the cross not merely as the source of individual salvation but as the place wherein begins the renewal of the creation the new heavens and the new earth that God has promised and that the messianic community anticipates May many readers heed its message C Rene Padilla Buenos Aires you a climate denier or climate believer The subject of energy and climate have become so mainstream and intertwined with politics that today's discussion has been split into these two antagonistic buckets leaving no middle ground You're boxed from the beginning The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC is the United Nations body responsible for assessing the science related to climate change and in their harshest scenario they point to temperatures raising by an average of 6 degrees Celsius by the end of the century At the same time the goal to limit global warming below 2 degrees Celsius was picked as a consensus figure among the scientific community The reality is that we do not know the exact impact of exceeding this target and we can only estimate and predict what could happen to the planet based on our interpretation of how systems respond In this scenario what do we do Do we destroy the entire energy system as we know it Do we ignore the potential problem Or do we apply a business perspective and find solutions that allow us to maintain our lifestyles without the risk of making this planet uninhabitable This book is about trying to bring the denier and believer sides together to analyze the energy problem from a systems and business perspective by introducing key aspects of the energy debate defining the problem and presenting possible solutions In essence more profits less carbon
